Lauren Gatti, 2016-08-19 This book advances a new framework for learning to teach using in depth case studies to show how learning to teach in any type of program can best be understood as a recursive and dynamic process wherein teachers differentially access programmatic relational experiential disciplinary and dispositional resources In the last twenty years debates in the field of teacher preparation have increasingly become paralyzing and divisive as rhetoric around the failure of university teacher preparation intensifies The author addresses the historical and practical factors that animate these debates arguing that novice teachers and teacher educators must understand the central conflicts in the field however the book also advances a way of approaching learning to teach that accounts for but does not get stuck at the level of programmatic designation Using lively in depth case studies the author shows how novice urban English teachers from two different teacher preparation pathways a university based program and an urban teacher residency learn to teach within a policy context of high stakes testing and college readiness DownBeat - The Great Jazz Interviews

Military Kids Speak Julie Rahm, 2011-02-04 Celebrating the role military families play in the success of America as well as their individual accomplishments Military Kids Speak by former naval physicist and author Julie Rahm is a fascinating and inspired account of what it takes to be a military kid. It's a team effort with a common goal: the mission is to describe what it means to be a part of a military family, what it takes to persevere when it comes to deployments and living abroad. It's also a candid account of the military lifestyle and how special it is to be a child of a hero. In two parts and seventeen chapters with titles like Military Kids Speak about Deployments, Military Kids Speak about Living Abroad, and Military Kids Speak about Making Friends, this engaging conversational book begins with over two dozen essays written by today's military kids. These young authors aged ten to sixteen discuss the rollercoaster ride of military life: its perks and privileges as well as its hardships and heartaches. While the second half comprises twelve in-depth interviews with famous former military kids like Justice Leah Ward Sears, Newt Gingrich, Shaquille O'Neal, and Mark Hamill. Being a military kid is special; a childhood spent with the military is an adventure. This first volume of Military Kids Speak is a narrative of what American kids of servicemen and servicewomen sacrifice for their country day in and day out all over the world and what they have to say about it.
