Landscapes and Scales A. Finotello, P.R. Durkin, Z. Sylvester, 2024-10-02 Meandering patterns shaped by fluid flows are found over a broad range of landscapes from bedrock channels to rivers and estuaries deep marine environments supraglacial streams and other planets such as Mars and Venus During the last six decades meanders have been widely investigated by researchers from different fields such as fluid mechanics geomorphology ecology civil and petroleum engineering and geology This volume seeks to push the science of meandering forward by bringing together insights gained from field laboratory and numerical investigations of meandering streams found in distinct environmental and geological contexts The authors pay particular attention to the interactions between autogenic and allogenic processes that affect meander kinematics and the resulting morphology sedimentology and stratigraphic architecture The findings presented in this volume contribute to a better understanding of stream meandering in diverse settings with broad implications for stream and wetland restoration land management infrastructure design oil exploration and production carbon sequestration hazard mitigation and planetary palaeoenvironmental reconstructions

Rhoads,2020-05-07 Rivers are important agents of change that shape the Earth s surface and evolve through time in response to fluctuations in climate and other environmental conditions They are fundamental in landscape development and essential for water supply irrigation and transportation This book provides a comprehensive overview of the geomorphological processes that shape rivers and that produce change in the form of rivers It explores how the dynamics of rivers are being affected by anthropogenic change including climate change dam construction and modification of rivers for flood control and land drainage It discusses how concern about environmental degradation of rivers has led to the emergence of management strategies to restore and naturalize these systems and how river management techniques work best when coordinated with the natural dynamics of rivers This textbook provides an excellent resource for students researchers and professionals in fluvial geomorphology hydrology river science and environmental policy

Understanding and being able to predict fluvial processes is one of the biggest challenges for hydraulics and environmental engineers hydrologists and other scientists interested in preserving and restoring the diverse functions of rivers The interactions among flow turbulence vegetation macroinvertebrates and other organisms as well as the transport and retention of particulate matter have important consequences on the ecological health of rivers Managing rivers in an ecologically friendly way is a major component of sustainable engineering design maintenance and restoration of ecological habitats To address these challenges a major focus of River Flow 2016 was to highlight the latest advances in experimental computational and theoretical approaches that can be used to deepen our understanding and capacity to predict flow and the associated fluid driven ecological processes anthropogenic influences sediment transport and morphodynamic processes River Flow 2016 was organized under the auspices of the Committee for Fluvial Hydraulics of the International Association for Hydro Environment Engineering and Research IAHR Since its first edition in 2002 the River Flow conference series has become the main international event focusing on river hydrodynamics sediment transport river engineering and restoration Some of the highlights of the 8th International Conference on Fluvial Hydraulics were to focus on inter disciplinary research involving among others ecological and biological aspects relevant to river flows and processes and to emphasize broader themes dealing with river sustainability River Flow 2016 extended abstract book 854 pages full paper CD ROM 2436 pages

contains the contributions presented during the regular sessions covering the main conference themes and the special sessions focusing on specific hot topics of river flow research and will be of interest to academics interested in hydraulics hydrology and environmental engineering
