Measuring Ego Development Le Xuan Hy, Jane Loevinger, 2014-03-05 The topic of ego development developed when psychoanalysis did not fulfill all the initial hopes during its early period of prominence Clinicians psychiatrists psychologists social workers and counselors realized that they needed to know more than their patients or clients psychopathology or normalcy and their psychosexual behavior and drives The method for scoring sentence completions presented in this manual was originally developed for a study of women and adolescent girls By the time it was first published in 1970 however the method had already come into use in studies of men and boys Since then it has been used with widely varying samples and the test has been translated into several other languages This wide adoption testifies to the need for such a test The present version of the manual incorporates three major improvements it is based on data from and is intended for use with both males and females its format is easier to use and the examples cited reflect current public attitudes The format of the scoring manual for the Sentence Completion Test SCT is radically changed from the original making it easier to find the correct rating for a response The rating scale itself is kept simple and the basic concept of ego development is the same A tutorial is included to assist in calculating the Total Protocol Ratings TPRs ALTERNATIVE BLURB The Washington University Sentence Completion Test which was developed by Jane Loevinger is a free response semi projective instrument for the assessment of ego development The first manual for administering and scoring the test was published in 1970 In addition to its widespread use in the United States it has also been adopted for use in Canada the United Kingdom France Germany Italy the Netherlands Japan India and South Africa The WUSCT has been used for research in the fields of adolescent personality development moral development infancy and parenting family and gender studies multiculturalism religion psychopathology and psychotherapy vocational studies and social and organizational psychology It is most frequently used by researchers and practitioners in psychology counseling social work and education This book represents a revised edition of the WUSCT scoring manual including all items in the 1981 forms which were revised for use with both men and women The content reflects current social attitudes which have changed on some topics since the publication of the original 1970 manual Although there have been minor changes in terminology the conception of ego development is unchanged and the stages of the construct are essentially the same The format of the scoring manual however has been radically changed for ease of use in rating responses The rating scale itself which is the same for all items is kept simple A tutorial is included to assist in calculating the Total Protocol Ratings Technical Foundations for Measuring Ego Development Le Xuan Hy, 1998-02-01 This book describes the evolution of the Washington University Sentence Completion Test SCT a major measure of ego development from an intuitive rating scale to an empirically derived reliable and valid personality test The authors recount the complete history of the SCT which begins with the Family Problems Scale an objective test of mothers attitudes Work with that test led to a concept of ego development testable by the SCT which was elaborated and refined in further work The book discusses uses of the SCT in other languages and other cultures offers suggestions for giving the SCT in translation and presents computer programs for handling SCT responses Data on reliability and validity of the SCT are brought up to date These include evidence of the equivalence of the male and female forms of the current version Form 81 and the equivalence of the two halves of Form 81 each usable as a short form Rules for obtaining total protocol ratings for 18 item as well as 36 item forms are given Frequently used forms of the SCT including a new form for adolescents and children over eight years old are presented

Ego Development for Effective Coaching and Consulting Thomas Binder, 2023-06-12 Both in research and in practice a number of basic competencies are considered necessary for successful process oriented coaching and consulting activities In the present research work the extent to which these necessary competencies are related to vertical personality development was investigated Loevinger's model of ego development a stage theory of development provides the frame of reference for this study This paper fully summarizes the current state of research on the model in order to comprehensively analyze possible relationships with coaching and consulting competencies As a first step the competency requirements of selected coaching and consulting associations were analyzed to determine whether they are related to ego development and whether they express minimum requirements for ego development The analysis revealed that the competency requirements of all associations show clear parallels to aspects of ego development The majority of these requirements point to a fully developed self governed stage E6 of ego development as a prerequisite for process oriented coaching and consulting services In a second step empirical studies were examined to systematically analyze the relationship between ego development and aspects relevant to coaching and consulting The results of the current empirical studies show a clear correlation between these competencies and ego development This means that as ego development increases higher coaching and consulting competencies become more likely Many studies also indicate that a fully developed self governed stage of ego development can be expected as the basis for consistent work at an intermediate level of competence
