The Cambridge Companion to William Morris Marcus Waithe, 2024-05-23 In his short life William Morris 1834 96 combined the roles of poet author painter designer translator lecturer political activist journalist weaver bookmaker and businessman This volume draws together influential voices from different disciplines who have participated in the recent critical political and curatorial revival of his work with essays exploring the contemporary resonance of his exceptional legacy As a critic of capitalism his thinking has thrived in these years of financial crisis as a theorist of work and craftsmanship his legacy interacts with a more recent ethics of making that questions the values of off shored production and as a protector of landscape and buildings Morris s concern with what is precious strikes a chord in our age of environmental crisis At the same time a careful and scholarly approach observes the particularity of Morris s context in a way that confounds the false friends of hasty historical reception and reveals unexpected connections

Craft Theory and Contemporary Architecture Grant Alford, 2025-05-28 This book offers a comprehensive exploration of craft theory in relation to contemporary architecture Craft is an old and familiar idea but the line between craft and art or craft and mere manufacturing for example is notoriously hard to describe In architecture a similarly blurred line between the design process on one hand and the physical making of buildings on the other lies at the center of various debates about what it means to do architecture The growth and development of craft theory in recent years suggest new insights into these architectural debates but situating the meaning of craft within architecture within today's technological landscape is a complex problem Alford responds to this challenge by collecting various narratives from craft theory and other fields and discerning among them new lenses through which to view contemporary architectural practice Episodes from this expanded view of craft in architecture go beyond predictable accounts of Ruskin and Morris to envision new models of practice new ways of engaging other building professionals and new ways for architects to understand their own labor and the nature of how and what kinds of things they themselves craft Architecture is changing and within the ongoing story of craft explored in this book are new and surprising ways to understand design and construct the built environment Written for students and scholars this book challenges and extends the legacy of craft thinking in architecture

Histories of the Immediate Present Anthony Vidler, 2008-04-18 How the different narratives of four historians of architectural modernism Emil Kaufmann Colin Rowe Reyner Banham and Manfredo Tafuri advanced specific versions of modernism Architecture at least since the beginning of the twentieth century has suspended historical references in favor of universalized abstraction In the decades after the Second World War when architectural historians began to assess the legacy of the avant gardes in order to construct a coherent narrative of modernism's development they were inevitably influenced by contemporary concerns In Histories of the Immediate Present Anthony Vidler examines the work of four historians of architectural modernism and the ways in which their histories were constructed as more or less overt programs for the theory and practice of design in a contemporary context Vidler looks at the historical approaches of Emil Kaufmann Colin Rowe Reyner Banham and Manfredo Tafuri and the specific versions of modernism advanced by their historical narratives Vidler shows that the modernism conceived by Kaufmann was like the late Enlightenment projects he revered one of pure geometrical forms and elemental composition that of Rowe saw mannerist ambiguity and complexity in contemporary design Banham's modernism took its cue from the aspirations of the futurists and the Renaissance modernism of Tafuri found its source in the division between the technical experimentation of Brunelleschi and the cultural nostalgia of Alberti Vidler's investigation demonstrates the inevitable collusion between history and design that pervades all modern architectural discourse and has given rise to some of the most interesting architectural experiments of the postwar period
