

The background of the cover is a photograph of a night landscape. In the foreground, a person wearing a red jacket and a dark beanie is seen from behind, looking out over a calm lake. The lake reflects the light from the sky. In the background, there are dark, rugged mountains under a starry night sky. Overlaid on the sky is a glowing, white geometric network of lines and dots, resembling a complex web or a neural network. The title 'MINDING THE BRAIN' is written in large, bold, white capital letters across the middle of the image.

Place Of Mind:

The Place of the Mediterranean in Modern Israeli Identity Alexandra Nocke, 2009-03-25 This book offers new perspectives on Israel's evolving Mediterranean identity which centers around the longing to find a natural place in the region. It explores Mediterraneanism as reflected in popular music, literature, architecture, and daily life, and analyzes ways in which the notion comprises cultural identity and political realities.

Metaphors of Mind Brad Pasanek, 2015-07-01 A pathbreaking introduction to eighteenth-century metaphors of the mind that recasts the grand narrative of the Enlightenment in terms of its tropes and figures. An encyclopedic dictionary along the lines of Voltaire's classic Dictionnaire Philosophique, Metaphors of Mind provides an in-depth look at the myriad ways in which Enlightenment writers used figures of speech to characterize the mind. Drawn from Brad Pasanek's massive online archive <http://metaphorized.net>, this volume constitutes a veritable treasury of mental metaphors. Dividing the book into eleven broad metaphorical categories—Animals, Coinage, Court, Empire, Fetters, Impressions, Inhabitants, Metal, Mirror, Rooms, and Writing—Pasanek maps out constellations of metaphors. He frames his collection of literary excerpts in each section with a more descriptive and theoretical discussion of what he calls desultory reading, a form of unsystematic perusal of writing frequently employed by Enlightenment thinkers. By surveying the printed past alongside the digital present, the book treats eighteenth-century writing as its topic while essentially exemplifying its rhetorical approach. More than an exercise in quotation, this intellectual history offers illuminating readings of fragmentary literary works and confrontations with neoclassical and contemporary theories of metaphor. The book's entries complicate received ideas about Locke's blank slate, question M. H. Abrams' claims about mirrors and lamps, and chart changing frequencies of metal metaphors in a moment of industrial revolution. The book also responds to current anxieties about reading and the mass digitization of literature, touching on recent discussions of distant reading, shallow reading, and surface reading. Promoting critical and creative anachronism, Metaphors of Mind redefines the notion of an archive in the age of Amazon and Google Books.

Poetry and Prose from an Appalachian State of Mind Joan Berry, 2008-12-10 Author Joan Berry speaks of her Appalachian roots in her recently released book of poetry and prose. Her poetry has appeared in numerous poetry reviews, literary magazines, anthologies, and newspapers, and now appears as a collected work in Poetry Prose from an Appalachian State of Mind, in which a variety of topics are put to verse. The book cover features Red Start Morning, a painting by Ms. Berry.

Success is a State of Mind: Building a Foundation for Your Future Les Brown, Deepak Chopra, Mark Victor Hansen, 2004 Can contemporary art say anything about spirituality? Answering this question and more, On the Strange Place of Religion in Contemporary Art explores the curious disconnection between spirituality and current art.
