Inequality In Labor Market Areas Joachim Singelmann, 2019-05-20 During the past two decades many attempts have been made to refocus stratification research and the study of inequality The contributors to this volume have a long term concern with the importance of space and locality Many of them belonged to a research project during the early 1980s that had as one of its main aims the analysis of labor force

Making Development Geography Victoria Lawson, 2014-03-18 Making Development Geography is a timely new book which introduces readers to the major themes and debates in development geography It argues cogently that the field is engaged in an ongoing process of reinventing itself as critical development geography and highlights issues such as identity globalization social movements and sexuality Readers are guided through the key concepts and developments of the last 50 years surveying the themes of Keynesianism Marxism and post colonialism At the same time each chapter uses international examples to discuss important contemporary issues so that the real world applications of theory can be understood This enlightening book offers a comprehensive introduction to the fundamental debates for anyone with an interest in development issues

The Migration Myth in Policy and Practice AKM Ahsan Ullah, Md Shahidul Haque, 2020-01-01 This book investigates the long term impact of migration on development engaging in a thorough analysis of the pertinent factors in migration Migration scholars and stakeholders have long placed emphasis on the necessity of migration for development At the heart of this book is the question Has migration made development necessary or is it the other way around While existing literature is predominantly occupied with positive impressions about the migration development nexus this book challenges associated pervasive generalizations about the impact of migration indicating that migration has not impacted all regions equally This volume thus grapples with the different extents to which migration has impacted development by delving into the social costs that migrants often pay in the long run With empirical support this book proffers that some countries are becoming over dependent on migration An excellent resource for both policymakers working on migration policy and scholars in international relations migration and development studies this book presents a range of innovative ideas in relation to the remittance development nexus

Internal Migration of Women in Developing Countries United Nations. Department for Economic and Social Information and Policy Analysis,1993 The following seven parts are devoted to the report and recommendations of the expert meeting an article by Graeme Hugo on migrant women in developing countries data collection and measurement issues characterizations of female migrants a Mexican census view a medium sized Argentinean city view and the female labor force in Bangkok the determinants of migration the consequences and development and policy issues Female internal migration is traced during 1960 80 Articles on the determinants of female migration focus on the role of gender structural determinants a multilevel perspective an example from rural Mali on social appearances and economic realities and the role of wage differences in determination of migration selectivity by sex in Brazil Environment & Planning A. ,1997 People and Education in the Third World W.T.S. Gould,2014-09-25 This text examines education and its role in Third World development Amongst the areas covered are the private and public demand for education global patterns of education the geography of educational provision the school and the community and education and population growth Migration, Urbanization, and Development Richard E. Bilborrow,1998 Internal migration and urbanization are key dimensions of the process of socioeconomic development The unprecedented movement of peoples within the borders of their own countries is one of the greatest transformations witnessed in the 20th century Policy analysts especially those from developing countries where internal migration can be felt at first hand view migration as one of the most important factors affecting the course of development It is within this context that UNFPA convened the Symposium on Internal Migration and Urbanization in Developing Countries in January 1996 in preparation for the United Nations World Conference on Human Settlements in Istanbul in June 1996 The final results of the symposium are found in this book This volume provides a better understanding at global level of internal migration issues of concern to policy analysts Frontiers in Regional Development Y. Gradus,Harvey Lithwick,1996 In fifteen insightful new essays noted scholars in geography economics and public policy provide a comparative examination of the problems and prospects for development in frontier areas Blending theory with case studies the essays challenge the widely held notion that peripheral areas are marginal or backward Bridging Human and Ecological Landscapes Robert E. Rhoades,2001 Presented is the synthesis of the research results of the Sustainable Agriculture and Natural Resource Management project in the Nanegal Parish of the Pichincha Province Ecuador from 1994 through 1997 Land Degradation, Small-Scale Farms' Development, and Migratory Flows in Chiapas Eche, David M.,2013-01-01 This research evaluates the impacts of land degradation on rural development and migration using a comparative analysis platform and quantitative and qualitative approaches based on data from empirical investigations in six rural communities of Tapachula Chiapas The results show that deforestation heavy rains and extreme weather events are the main determinants of land degradation and that land degradation smallholder farms income and outmigration are highly correlated In addition they portray a new migration dynamic from rural areas in the highlands directly to urban centers in the US and demonstrate that the poverty marginalization context contributes substantially to global migration flows Despite the harsh labour conditions and the poor economic basis in the area temporary Guatemalan workers rapidly replace the out migrated local labour force on coffee plantations and small farms giving evidence of their life at the fringe of the globalized economy Joint Acquisitions List of Africana ,1991 Models of Migration Wen Lang Li,1994 Chinese Environment & Development ,1996 Internal Migration in China Kam-Wing Chan,1996 Population Index ,1991 Annotated bibliography covering books journal articles working papers and other material on topics in population and demography Migration and Restructuring in the United States Kavita Pandit,Suzanne Davies Withers,1999 This groundbreaking book examines the links between migration and the United States ongoing economic and demographic revolution Utilizing an explicitly geographic perspective the contributors highlight the crucial role played by scale and spatial context in both immigration and internal migration Internal Migration in Contemporary China D. Davin,1998-10-30 As China moves from a society controlling all aspects of life including population movement to something nearer a market economy migration has become a live issue Tens of millions of rural migrants have entered China s cities meeting discrimination similar to that experienced by economic migrants in the West This book looks to the reasons why people leave certain areas the lives of migrants and government policy towards them It distinguishes different types of migration and looks particularly at marriage migration and the effects of migration on the lives of women
