Environment, Place, and Growth Boris A. Portnov, 2025-07-15 This innovative book explores how the location of a city affects its growth Boris A Portnov discusses how an urban location can be understood as a package of attributes in which several essential components must be present to ensure successful development

Cities, Networks, and Global Environmental Governance Sofie Bouteligier, 2012-12-12 As a result of global dynamics the increasing interconnection of people and places innovations in global environmental governance have altered the role of cities in shaping the future of the planet This book is a timely study of the importance of these social transformations in our increasingly global and increasingly urban world Through analysis of transnational municipal networks such as Metropolis and the C40 Cities Climate Leadership Group Sofie Bouteligier's innovative study examines theories of the network society and global cities from a global ecology perspective Through direct observation and interviews and using two types of city networks that have been treated separately in the literature she discovers the structure and logic pertaining to office networks of environmental non governmental organizations and environmental consultancy firms In doing so she incisively demonstrates the ways in which cities fulfill the role of strategic sites of global environmental governance concentrating knowledge infrastructure and institutions vital to the function of transnational actors

Livable Cities? Peter B. Evans, 2002-02 The cities of the developing world are hubs of economic growth but they are increasingly ecologically unsustainable and unliveable This book explores the issues of livelihood and ecological sustainability in cities of the developing world

People, the Environment and Responsibility: Case Studies from Rural Pakistan F. Amalric, T. Banuri, 1995-10-15 This book documents the findings of a group of case studies on the problems of population growth and environmental degradation in rural areas of Pakistan Each case study reveals a particular aspect of the general processes at work in different ecological zones the agricultural lands of the Indus plains the coastal areas and the mountainous zone The studies focused on collective responses to population and environmental problems and on the breakdown of traditional systems of decision making in rural areas The book introduces the concept of de responsabilization in contrast to economists traditional notions of rational behavior In addition these case studies illuminate the realities of present day Pakistan the state of its population and environment and its record of development

Local Environmental Regulation in Post-Socialism: A Hungarian Case Study Chris G. Pickvance, 2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2003 This text examines Hungarian local environmental regulation in practice rather than what should happen according to national legislation The book is based on interviews with officials regulators firm managers and environmental groups in four localities in Hungary and on a national survey of local government officials Numerous quotations from interviews are included It is shown that the local social and economic context influences the behaviour of both local governments and regional environmental inspectorates Firms responsiveness to regulation is studied and it is shown that while some firms are ready to pay moderate environmental fines others are afraid of even symbolic fines The findings are set within debates in the international literature on environmental regulation. It is shown that there are convergences with patterns reported in developed capitalist societies but that certain legacies from state socialism are compatible with these patterns.

Cases on Smart Learning Environments Darshan Singh, Abtar, Raghunathan, Shriram, Robeck, Edward, Sharma, Bibhya, 2018-12-28 At a time when ICTs are proliferating various facets of society and human interactivity optimizing the use of these tools and technologies not only enhances learning but also transforms learning experiences all together resulting in an increase of effectiveness and quality of education around the globe. As such teachers are being challenged to implement a wide range of tools such as mobile learning and augmented reality to create smarter learning environments inside and outside of the classroom. Cases on Smart Learning Environments explores the potential of SLE tools for enhanced learning outcomes as experienced by educators, learners and administrators from various learning institutions around the world. This publication presents cases on the real world implementation of SLEs in 11 countries that span the continents of Asia, Africa, Europe and North and South America. Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as learner engagement, teacher training and intelligent agent technology, this book is ideally designed for academicians, instructors, instructional designers, librarians, educational stakeholders and curriculum developers.

Case Studies in Environmental Archaeology Elizabeth Reitz, C. Margaret Scarry, Sylvia J. Scudder, 2008 This book highlights studies addressing significant anthropological issues in the Americas from the perspective of environmental archaeology. The book uses case studies to resolve questions related to human behavior in the past rather than to demonstrate the application of methods. Each chapter is an original or revised work by an internationally recognized scientist. This second edition is based on the 1996 book of the same title. The editors have invited back a number of contributors from the first edition to revise and update their chapter. New studies are included in order to cover recent developments in the field or additional pertinent topics.

Environmental Case Judith A. Layzer,Sara R. Rinfret,2023-06-05 Answers to environmental issues are not black and white Debates around policy are often among those with fundamentally different values and the way that problems and solutions are defined plays a central role in shaping how those values are translated into policy. The Environmental Case captures the real world complexity of creating environmental policy and this much anticipated Sixth Edition contains 14 carefully constructed cases including a new study of the Salton Sea crisis. Through her analysis Sara Rinfret continues the work of Judith Layzer and explores the background players contributing factors and outcomes of each case and gives readers insight into some of the most interesting and controversial issues in U S environmental policymaking.

Planning and Place in the City Marichela Sepe, 2013-03-05 Under the influence of globalization the centres of many cities in the industrialised world are losing their place identity the set of cultural markers that define a city's uniqueness and make it instantly recognisable. A key task for planners and residents working together is to preserve that unique sense of place without making the city a parody of itself. In Planning and Place in the City Marichela Sepe explores the preservation reconstruction and enhancement of cultural heritage and place identity. She outlines the history of the concept of placemaking and sets out the range of different methods of analysis and assessment that are used to help pin down the nature of place identity. This book also uses the author's own survey based method called PlaceMaker to detect elements that do not feature in traditional mapping and identifies appropriate planning interventions. Case studies investigate cities in Europe North America and Asia which demonstrate how surveys and interviews can be used to draw up an analytical map of place identity. This investigative work is a crucial step in identifying cultural elements which will influence what planning decisions should be taken in the future. The maps aim to establish a dialogue with local residents and support planners and administrators in making sustainable changes. The case studies are amply illustrated with survey data sheets photos and coloured maps. Innovative and broad based Planning and Place in the City lays out an approach to the identification and preservation of place and cultural heritage suitable for students academics and professionals alike.

Palaeolithic Sites of Crimea 1: KABAZI II: Last Interglacial Occupation, Environment & Subsistence Victor Chabai, Jürgen Richter, Thorsten Uthmeier, Compendium of Summaries of Judicial Decisions in Environment Related Cases United Nations Environment Programme, 2005 Success in tackling environmental degradation relies on the full participation of everyone in society. The judiciary is a crucial partner in promoting environmental governance upholding the rule of law and in ensuring a fair balance between environmental social and developmental considerations through its judgements and declarations. This publication outlines the work done by UNEP in cooperation with several partners in developing and implementing a programme to engage the judiciaries of all countries in the pursuit of the rule of law in the area of environment and sustainable development.

Case Studies in Environmental Statistics Douglas Nychka, Walter W. Piegorsch, Lawrence H. Cox, 2012-12-06 This book offers a set of case studies exemplifying the broad range of statistical science used in environmental studies and application. The case studies can be used for graduate courses in environmental statistics as a resource for courses in statistics using genuine examples to illustrate statistical methodology and theory and for courses in environmental science Not only are these studies valuable for teaching about an essential cross disciplinary activity but they can also be used to spur new research along directions exposed in these examples The studies reported here resulted from a program of research carried on by the National Institute of Statistical Sciences NISS during the years 1992 1996 NISS was created in 1991 as an initiative of the national statistics organizations with the mission to renew and focus efforts of statistical science on important cross disciplinary problems One of NISS first projects was a cooperative research effort with the U S Environmental Protection Agency EPA on problems of great interest to environmental science and regulation surely one of today s most important cross disciplinary activities With the support and encouragement of Gary Foley Director of the then U S EPA Atmospheric Research and Exposure Assessment Laboratory a project and a research team were assembled by NISS that pursued a program which produced a set of results and products from which this book was drawn
