 Blackness in Genre Fictions is an interdisciplinary study of blackness in genre literature of the Americas The fantastical in fantastical blackness is conceived by an unrestrained imagination because it lives despite every attempt at annihilation This blackness amazes because it refuses the limits of anti blackness As put to work in this project fantastical blackness is an ethical praxis that centers black self knowledge as a point of departure rather than as a reaction to threatening or diminishing dominant narratives Mystery romance fantasy mixed genre and science fictions unrestrained imaginings profoundly communicate this quality of blackness specifically here through the work of Barbara Neely Colson Whitehead Nalo Hopkinson and Colin Channer When black writers center this expressive quality they make fantastical blackness available to a broad audience that then uses its imaginable vocabularies to reshape extra literary realities Ultimately popular genres imaginable possibilities offer strategies through which the made up can be made real The Postcolonial Eye Alison Ravenscroft, 2016-03-03 Informed by theories of the visual knowledge and desire The Postcolonial Eye is about the eye and the I in contemporary Australian scenes of race Specifically it is about seeing where vision is taken to be subjective and shaped by desire and about knowing one another across the cultural divide between white and Indigenous Australia Writing against current moves to erase this divide and to obscure difference Alison Ravenscroft stresses that modern Indigenous cultures can be profoundly even bewilderingly strange and at times unknowable within the terms of white cultural forms She argues for a different ethics of looking in particular for aesthetic practices that allow Indigenous cultural products especially in the literary arts to retain their strangeness in the eyes of a white subject The specificity of her subject matter allows Ravenscroft to deal with the broad issues of postcolonial theory and race and ethnicity without generalising This specificity is made visible in for example Ravenscroft's treatment of the figuring of white desire in Aboriginal fiction film and life stories and in her treatment of contemporary Indigenous cultural practices While it is located in Australian Studies Ravenscroft's book in its rigorous interrogation of the dynamics of race and whiteness and engagement with European and American literature and criticism has far reaching implications for understanding the important question of race and vision *The masterpiece library.
