Go Home! Rowan Hisayo Buchanan, 2018-02-19 An anthology of Asian diasporic writers musing on the notion of home Bold and devastating the very definition of reclamation The International Examiner Asian diasporic writers imagine home in the twenty first century through an array of fiction memoir and poetry Both urgent and meditative this anthology moves beyond the model minority myth and showcases the singular intimacies of individuals figuring out what it means to belong The notion of home has always been elusive But as evidenced in these stories poems and testaments perhaps home is not so much a place but a feeling one embodies I read this book and see my people see us and feel in our collective outsiderhood at home Ocean Vuong New York Times bestselling author of On Earth We're Briefly Gorgeous To be from nowhere is the state of Asian diaspora but there is also a wild humor and imagination that comes from being underestimated rarely counted hardly seen Here we begin to draw the hopeful outlines of a collective history for those so disparate yet often lumped together Jenny Zhang author of My Baby's First Birthday Language allows for many homes and perhaps the writers and readers of the anthology too will succeed in returning home or finding a home through these words NPR.org Effectively dismantling all sorts of stereotypes Buchanan's anthology gives voice to notions of identity belonging and displacement that are much more vast complex and textually rich than mere geography Shelf Awareness Revolutionary for all the iterations of home it shows through fiction poetry and memoir sure to provoke a full range of emotions to swoon and clutch in my chest Literary Hub

The African Wild Dog Scott Creel, Nancy Marusha Creel, 2019-12-31 With only 5 000 surviving the African wild dog Lycaon pictus is one of the world's most endangered large carnivores and one of the most remarkable This comprehensive portrait of wild dogs incorporates previously scattered information with important new findings from a six year study in Tanzania's Selous Game Reserve Africa's largest protected area The book emphasizes ecology concentrating on why wild dogs fare poorly in protected areas that maintain healthy populations of lions hyenas or other top carnivores In addition to conservation issues it covers fascinating aspects of wild dog behavior and social evolution The Creels use demographic behavioral endocrine and genetic approaches to examine how and why nonbreeding pack mates help breeding pairs raise their litters They also present the largest data set ever collected on mammalian predator prey interactions and the evolution of cooperative hunting allowing them to account for wild dogs prowess as hunters By using a large sample size and sophisticated analytical tools the authors step well beyond previous research Their results include some surprises that will cause even specialists to rethink certain propositions such as the idea that wild dogs are unusually vulnerable to infectious disease Several findings apply broadly to the management of other protected areas Of clear appeal to ecologists studying predation and cooperation in any population this book collects and expands a cache of information useful to anyone studying conservation as well as to amateurs intrigued by the once maligned but extraordinary wild dog
