Directions: Use what you have learned throughout the course and in your clinical field experiences and provide the following to address each scenario:

- One age-appropriate classroom support strategy you can use with the student with a rationale for its effectiveness.
- One home support strategy that the families can implement with a rationale for its effectiveness.
- Title/Name of a free online application to enhance or support literacy development, including a link.

Grade Level:		Content Area:
Reading Challenge Scenario	Classroom Support Strategies and Rationale	Home Support Strategies and Rationale	Online Application and Link
Scenario 1: You have a student who reads grade level text fluently but cannot recall or correctly answer questions about the explicit details within the text.	Strategy and Rationale: Do questions before, during and after. Questions before should help build background knowledge.	Strategy and Rationale: You can have families watch audio books of things that interest their child on youtube or through their child's epic account.	www.epic.com
Scenario 2: You have a student who is a voracious reader and understands complex content that is far above grade level. The student often complains of being bored by the content and is reluctant to engage with the text.	Strategy and Rationale: To get the student more engaged you can give them a choice of material that is about the same topic but more complex and more	Strategy and Rationale: Give the student task at home to use readtheory.com, since this website adjust to the readers level, it can help them find more complex	www.readingtheory.com
