Amanda Shankland,2024-09-01 In the face of escalating water scarcity effective water management has become a central concern globally The Murray Darling Basin spanning over a million square kilometres across four states and one territory is a lifeline for Australian agriculture and rural communities Cultivating Community How discourse shapes the philosophy practice and policy of water management in the Murray Darling Basin dissects the prevailing environmental discourses shaping water policy in the Murray Darling Basin and assesses their implications for both the environment and for farming communities Drawing on five months of extensive field research among farmers and Murray Darling Basin Authority officials Dr Amanda Shankland presents a nuanced understanding of farmer perspectives within the broader policy discourse By examining the interplay between environmental discourses and farmer knowledge Shankland sheds light on how different ideologies shape policy decisions and subsequently impact water management practices Central to the book s contribution is the identification and analysis of four key environmental discourses prevalent in the Murray Darling Basin administrative rationalism economic rationalism democratic pragmatism and green environmentalism Against the backdrop of looming water scarcity and the declining health of the Murray Darling Basin Cultivating Community challenges these dominant discourses by highlighting a new perspective community centrism which emphasises community based cooperation and engagement in water management By amplifying farmer voices and advocating for a more inclusive approach to policy deliberations Cultivating Community paves the way for alternative futures in water management that prioritise social values alongside economic and environmental considerations Cultivating Community is a timely and indispensable resource for charting a path towards a more resilient and equitable water future in the Murray Darling Basin and beyond

Democracy as Fetish Ralph Cintron, 2019-12-10 Democracy has long been fetishized Consequently how we speak about democracy and what we expect from democratic governance are at odds with practice With unflinching resolve this book probes the theory of democracy and how the left and right are fascinated by it In this innovative multidisciplinary study Ralph Cintron provides sustained analysis of our political discourse He shows not only how the rhetoric of democracy produces strong desires for social order global wealth and justice but also how these desires cannot be satisfied Throughout his discussion Cintron includes ethnographic research from fieldwork conducted over the course of twenty years in the Latino neighborhoods of Chicago where he observes both citizens and the undocumented looking to democracy to fulfill their highest aspirations Politicians hand out favors to the elite developers strong arm aldermen and the disenfranchised have little redress The problem Cintron argues is that the conditions required to put democracy into practice territory a bordered nation state citizens property are constituted by inequality and violence because there is no inclusivity that does not also exclude Drawing on ethnography economics political theory and rhetorical analysis Cintron makes his case with tremendous analytic rigor This challenge to reassess the discourses on democracy and to consider democratic politics as always compromised by oligarchy will be of particular interest to political and rhetorical theorists
