Serfs Peasants And Socialists A Former Serf Village In The Republic Of Guinea:

Serfs, Peasants, and Socialists Professor William Derman, William Derman, Louise Derman, 1973-01-01 Case study of village social structures among the fulbe tribal peoples illustrating the changing role and social status of peasants in Guinea examines the social stratification associated with fulbe traditional culture and the advent of profound social change including the abolition of serfdom forced labour during the colonial and post colonial period and covers the social and cultural anthropology of the village political behaviour subsistence farming patterns etc Bibliography pp 267 to 271 map and references Aerodynamik des Tragflügels (Teil 1), 1967 Serfs, Peasants, and Socialists, A Former Serf Village in the Republic of Guinea, [By] with the Assistance of Louise Derman William Derman, 1973 Serfs, Peasants, and Socialists William Derman, 2023-04-28 This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1973 A Selected Bibliography--Sub-Saharan Africa, 1991

Cold War and Decolonization in Guinea, 1946-1958 Elizabeth Schmidt, 2007-09-25 In September 1958 Guinea claimed its independence rejecting a constitution that would have relegated it to junior partnership in the French Community In all the French empire Guinea was the only territory to vote No Orchestrating the No vote was the Guinean branch of the Rassemblement Démocratique Africain RDA an alliance of political parties with affiliates in French West and Equatorial Africa and the United Nations trusts of Togo and Cameroon Although Guinea's stance vis vis the 1958 constitution has been recognized as unique until now the historical roots of this phenomenon have not been adequately explained Clearly written and free of jargon Cold War and Decolonization in Guinea argues that Guinea's vote for independence was the culmination of a decade long struggle between local militants and political leaders for control of the political agenda Since 1950 when RDA representatives in the French parliament severed their ties to the French Communist Party conservative elements had dominated the RDA In Guinea local cadres had opposed the break Victimized by the administration and sidelined by their own leaders they quietly rebuilt the party from the base Leftist militants their voices muted throughout most of the decade gained preeminence in 1958 when trade unionists students the party's women's and youth wings and other grassroots actors pushed the Guinean RDA to endorse a No vote Thus Guinea's rejection of the proposed constitution in favor of immediate independence was not an isolated aberration Rather it was the outcome of years of political mobilization by activists who despite Cold War repression ultimately pushed the Guinean RDA to the left The significance of this highly original book based on previously unexamined archival records and oral interviews with grassroots activists extends far beyond its primary subject In illuminating the Guinean case Elizabeth Schmidt helps us understand the dynamics of decolonization and its legacy for postindependence nation building in many parts of the developing world Examining Guinean history from the bottom up

Schmidt considers local politics within the larger context of the Cold War making her book suitable for courses in African history and politics diplomatic history and Cold War history The African Diaspora Joseph E. Harris, 1996 As Africans and descendants of slaves have sought to expand an understanding of their history focus on the African diaspora the global dispersal of a people and their culture has increased African studies have assumed a prominent place in historical scholarship and a growing number of non African scholars has helped revise a discipline established over several decades The six contributions in this volume were compiled as a result of the thirtieth Walter Prescott Webb Memorial Lecture held at the University of Texas at Arlington The contributors nationally recognized in the field represent a collaborative analysis of the African diaspora from African and non African perspectives Joseph E Harris discusses how the African diaspora influences the economies politics and social dynamics of both the homeland and the host country Alusine Jalloh reconstructs the mercantile activities of the Fula in colonial Sierra Leone Joseph E Inikori argues that slavery and serfdom in medieval Europe provide greater insights into precolonial Africa than do standard New World comparisons Colin A Palmer examines the power relationships that undergirded American slavery in order to better understand the enslaved Douglas B Chambers reveals the enduring influence of Africanisms in the historical development of Afro Virginian slave culture And Dale T Graden looks at African slavery in Salvador Bahia Brazil between 1848 and 1856 focusing on the Bahian elite and their response to slave resistance Area Handbook for Guinea Harold D. Nelson, 1975 Provides basic yet comprehensive facts about the social economic political and military institutions of the country

Historical Dictionary of Guinea Thomas O'Toole, Janice E. Baker, 2005-03-16 Thoroughly updated and extensively revised this 4th edition provides a very solid and substantial guide to a better understanding of this richly endowed but poorly understood nation Students and others seeking information about the country will find an introductory narrative accounting of Guinea's political and economic history a chronology that spans the earliest known history of the area to the present day Republic of Guinea 400 dictionary entries covering the personalities and events that made contemporary Guinea and an extensive bibliography of current publications

Africa Toyin Falola, Daniel Jean-Jacques, 2015-12-14 These volumes offer a one stop resource for researching the lives customs and cultures of Africa's nations and peoples Unparalleled in its coverage of contemporary customs in all of Africa this multivolume set is perfect for both high school and public library shelves The three volume encyclopedia will provide readers with an overview of contemporary customs and life in North Africa and sub Saharan Africa through discussions of key concepts and topics that touch everyday life among the nations peoples While this encyclopedia places emphasis on the customs and cultural practices of each state history politics and economics are also addressed Because entries average 14 000 to 15 000 words each contributors are able to expound more extensively on each country than in similar encyclopedic works with shorter entries As a result readers will gain a more complete understanding of what life is like in Africa's 54 nations and territories and will be better able to draw cross cultural comparisons based on their reading Africa, Asia, and

Slaves and Slavery in Africa John Ralph Willis, 2005-08-12 First Published in 1986 Slavery in Islamic Africa has been a fascinating subject to which many scholars have referred but of which no detailed monograph has emerged The better part of the essays in these volumes has its ancestry in a conference held at Princeton University during the Summer of 1977 under the title Islamic Africa Slavery and Related Institutions At that international gathering four principal themes dominated discussion the servile estate its genesis and composition the master slave connection and the post servile condition patterns and perspectives of slave trading the legacy of Islamic slavery in Africa to contemporary societies

Africa since Independence Paul Nugent, 2012-06-13 An indispensable introductory textbook that provides students with a genuinely comparative study of the different trajectories and experiences of independent African states Paul Nugent explores a range of key concerns including the impact of HIV and AIDS the contagion of warfare and efforts at achieving national reconciliation both in the past and today This is an ideal core text for modules on Modern African History African Politics or Africa since Independence or a supplementary text for broader modules on African History which may be offered at the upper levels of an undergraduate History Politics or African Studies degree In addition it is a crucial resource for students who may be studying modern African history for the first time as part of a taught postgraduate degree in African History African Politics or African Studies New to this Edition Revised and updated throughout in light of the latest research Reflects recent developments on issues such as AIDS urbanization the secession of South Sudan questions of citizenship and the importance of transnational spaces This second edition now features photographs

Africana Faith James L. Conyers Jr., 2016-12-28 Essentially the study of black religion in America has been mysterious quarrelsome and paradoxical Repeatedly the reason in this primer aspires to make a concentric analysis of the function and capacity of spirituality and religiosity within the African American Muslim movement Recently there have been numerous volumes in the form of biographical or communal studies conducted on Black twentieth century religious figures Much of this discussion has exacerbated in hierarchy of religious values rather than a concentric analysis of the role and function of spirituality and religiosity Therefore this collection of essays places emphasis on the role and views of the missionary and voluntary spread of Islam among African Americans in the United States

Exchanging Our Country Marks Michael A. Gomez, 2000-11-09 The transatlantic slave trade brought individuals from diverse African regions and cultures to a common destiny in the American South In this comprehensive study Michael Gomez establishes tangible links between the African American community and its African origins and traces the process by which African populations exchanged their distinct ethnic identities for one defined primarily by the conception of race He examines transformations in the politics social structures and religions of slave populations through 1830 by which time the contours of a new African American identity had begun to emerge After discussing specific ethnic groups in Africa Gomez follows their movement to North America where they tended to be amassed in recognizable concentrations within individual colonies and later states For this reason he argues it is possible to identify particular ethnic cultural influences and ensuing social formations that heretofore have been considered unrecoverable Using sources pertaining to the African continent as well as runaway slave advertisements ex slave narratives and folklore Gomez reveals concrete and specific links between particular African populations and their North American progeny thereby shedding new light on subsequent African American social formation

Warriors, Merchants, and Slaves, 1987 Over the course of two centuries the region of the Middle Niger valley of the Western Sudan was dominated by three successive states the indigenous Segu Bambara state the Islamic Umarian state and the French colonial state In each of these states warriors were the rulers and not surprisingly warfare was the primary expression of state power The survival of each state depended on its ability to reproduce its capacity to make war in order to do so the warrior state intervened in the economy In each of the three states the interrelationship of warfare the state and the economy produced different results How the state actually intervened in the economy and how this intervention influenced the structure and performance of the economy is the subject of this book During the 200 years under study the regional economy of the Middle Niger valley expanded and contracted in response to the state s capacity to provide conditions favorable to commercial development capital accumulation and investment When the Segu Bambara state was able to control the autonomy of its warriors the state encouraged the expansion of the regional economy The Umarians on the other hand preyed upon producers within the region and created conditions that discouraged long term investments The very success of the French conquest initially encouraged investment especially in the form of slaves After 1894 however conflict between civilian colonial authorities and the French military undermined the economic and social foundations erected by the military From 1905 to 1914 slaves left their masters and helped once again to transform the structure and performance of the economy
