Sport and Nationalism in Asia Fan Hong, Zhouxiang Lu, 2016-04-14. Written by a team of international scholars, Sport and Nationalism in Asia: Power, Politics and Identity is a collection of original research which addresses a number of issues central to notions of nationalism and identity in sport, including how the Olympics and other international and regional sports events have fostered an active interweaving of sport, politics and nationalism; the role of traditional sport in the building of national consciousness and national identity; the way modern sport creates and reflects nationalism, thereby giving it a voice and a focus. The book covers eight case studies on countries, regions across West Asia, Central Asia and East Asia. It is one of the few works that examines the relationships between sport, politics and nationalism from an Asian perspective. This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport. The Politicisation of Sport in Modern China Fan Hong, Lu Zhouxiang, 2015-07-16. The Politicisation of Sport in Modern China: Communist and Champions is the first book in English which examines in chronological order key issues in sport in the People's Republic of China from 1949 to 2012 in the context of Chinese history, politics and society. It explores the complexity of Chinese sport, including the sovietisation of Chinese sports policy and practice, the emergence of the two Chinas issue, the Cold War, the Cultural Revolution, sports diplomacy and sports militarism, China's turbulent journey of participation in the Asian Games and in the Olympics, the politics and policy of doping and anti doping in Chinese sport and China's sport in the post Beijing Olympics era. By analysing the relationships between sport, diplomacy, politics and social transformation in China, the book examines how sport has played an important role in China's rise in the 20th and 21st centuries and how China embraced the Olympic Movement and also influenced the world through the Olympic Games. Featuring major events, original documents and interviews with a wide breadth of insiders from sports policy makers, Olympic medallists and ordinary Chinese, this book for the first time provides a comprehensive guide to the history of sport in the People's Republic of China. It is a fascinating book for academic researchers, general readers and students. This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport. Sport Past and Present in South Africa Scarlett Cornelissen, Albert Grundlingh, 2013-09-13. This book provides an interpretation of sport in contemporary South Africa through an historical account of the evolution and social ramifications of sport in the twentieth century. It comprises chapters which trace the growth of sports such as football, cricket, surfing, boxing and rugby and considers their relationship to aspects of racial identity, masculinity, femininity, political and social development in the country. The book also draws out the wider geo-political significance of South African sport, placing it in the context of the development of sport both elsewhere on the African continent and internationally. The history of sport has seen significant international growth over the past few decades. For the most part, however, the history of sport in Africa has remained largely untraced. By detailing the way in which sport's development in South Africa overlapped with major socio-political processes on the wider African continent, this volume seeks to narrow the gap. This book was previously published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport.

The essays deal with the key sporting practices of the Hispanic world, including boxing, baseball, athletics, Olympic movements and football, approaching them as physical manifestations in their own right and as cultural representations via media, images, poetry, narrative, fiction, murals through the research methodologies of the humanities and social sciences. This book was previously published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport. The Politics of the Male Body in Global Sport Hans Bonde, 2013-10-18. Danish sport has been associated with Europe and the World, not least through I. P. Muller and Niels Bukh and the Danish Gymnastics revolution with its emphasis on male aesthetics and hygiene in the first half of the twentieth century. At the same time, Denmark has stood apart from Europe in the early moments of its history of sport with the rural revolution of the farming communities as a statement of political independence and assertion. However, during the German occupation of Denmark, Danish sport was part of a European collaboration which characterized a number of the occupied countries, not least in the Nordic area. After the Second World War, Denmark embraced international body cultures with other European nations, in particular Eastern martial arts. Denmark too, as part of trends in the European region and the world, became caught up in sport as a powerful contemporary political statement. This book was previously published as a special issue of the
