O'Neill, 1990-12-15 Entropic comedy is the phrase coined by Patrick O'Neill in this study to identify a particular mode of twentieth century narrative that is not generally recognized He describes it as the narrative expression of forms of decentred humour or what might more loosely be called black humour O'Neill begins his investigation by examining the rise of an essentially new form of humour over the last three hundred years or so in the context of a rapid decay of confidence in traditional authoritative value systems O'Neill analyses the resulting reorganization of the spectrum of humour and examines the implications of this for the ways in which we read texts and the world we live in He then turns from intellectual history to narratology and considers the relationship in theoretical terms of humour play and narrative as systems of discourse and the role of the reader as a textualizing agent Finally he considers some dozen twentieth century narratives in French German and English with occasional reference to other literatures in the context of those historical and theoretical concerns Authors of the texts analysed include C line Camus Satre and Robbe Grillet in French Heller Beckett Pynchon Nabokov and Joyce in English Grass Kafka and Handke in German The analyses proceed along lines suggested by structuralist semiotic and post structuralist narrative and literary theory From his analyses of these works O Neill concludes they illustrate in narrative terms a mode of modern writing definable as entropic comedy and he develops a taxonomy of the mode Road Sides Emily Wallace,2019-10-01 This illustrated A to Z guide covers detours destinations and culinary delights for your next road trip through the American South Essential in any traveler s glovebox Road Sides explores the fundamentals of a well fed road trip across the Southern United States Entries feature detailed histories and more than one hundred original illustrations that document the many colorful sights and delicious flavors you can experience along the way Learn the backstory of food shaped buildings including the folks behind Hills of Snow a giant snow cone stand in Smithfield North Carolina that resembles the icy treats it sells Discover the roots of kitschy roadside attractions and have lunch with the state employed mermaids of Weeki Wachee Springs in Florida Road Sides is for everyone the driver in search of supper or superlatives the biggest best and even worst the person who cannot resist a local plaque or snack and the kid who just wants to gawk at a peach shaped water tower
