Space, Place and Territory Fabio Duarte, 2017-01-12 Space place and territory are concepts that lie at the core of geography and urban planning environmental studies and sociology Although space place and territory are indeed polysemic and polemic they have particular characteristics that distinguish them from each other They are interdependent but not interchangeable and the differences between them explain how we simultaneously perceive conceive and design multiple spatialities After drawing the conceptual framework of space place and territory the book initially explores how we sense space in the most visceral ways and how the overlay of meanings attached to the sensorial characteristics of space change the way we perceive it smell spatial experiences using electroencephalography and the changing meaning of darkness are discussed The book continues exploring cartographic mapping not as a final outcome but rather as an epistemological tool an instrument of inquiry It follows on how particular ideas of space place and territory are embedded in specific urban proposals from Brasilia to the Berlin Wall airports and infiltration of digital technologies in our daily life The book concludes by focusing on spatial practices that challenge the status quo of how we perceive and understand urban spaces from famous artists to anonymous interventions by traceurs and hackers of urban technologies Combining space place and territory as distinctive but interdependent concepts into an epistemological matrix may help us to understand contemporary phenomena and live them critically

The Smart Enough City Ben Green, 2019-04-09 Why technology is not an end in itself and how cities can be smart enough using technology to promote democracy and equity Smart cities where technology is used to solve every problem are hailed as futuristic urban utopias We are promised that apps algorithms and artificial intelligence will relieve congestion restore democracy prevent crime and improve public services In The Smart Enough City Ben Green warns against seeing the city only through the lens of technology taking an exclusively technical view of urban life will lead to cities that appear smart but under the surface are rife with injustice and inequality He proposes instead that cities strive to be smart enough to embrace technology as a powerful tool when used in conjunction with other forms of social change but not to value technology as an end in itself In a technology centric smart city self driving cars have the run of downtown and force out pedestrians civic engagement is limited to requesting services through an app police use algorithms to justify and perpetuate racist practices and governments and private companies surveil public space to control behavior Green describes smart city efforts gone wrong but also smart enough alternatives attainable with the help of technology but not reducible to technology a livable city a democratic city a just city a responsible city and an innovative city By recognizing the complexity of urban life rather than merely seeing the city as something to optimize these Smart Enough Cities successfully incorporate technology into a holistic vision of justice and equity

Making Theory/Constructing Art Daniel Alan Herwitz, Daniel Herwitz, 1996-05-15 Artists and critics regularly enlist theory in the creation and assessment of artworks but few have scrutinized the art theories themselves Here Daniel examines and critiques the norms assumptions historical conditions and institutions that have framed the development and uses of art theory Spurred by the theoretical claims of Arthur Danto a leader in the philosophy of the avant garde Herwitz reexamines the art and theory of major figures in the avant garde movement including John Cage Jean Fran ois Lyotard Jean Baudrillard and Andy Warhol

Making Theory/Constructing Art Daniel Herwitz, 1993-11 Artists and critics regularly enlist theory in their creation and assessment of artworks but few have scrutinized the art theories themselves Making Theory Constructing Art On the Authority of the Avant Garde is among the first philosophical texts to provide a close encounter with this theoretical tendency in twentieth century art and aesthetics exploring the norms assumptions historical conditions and institutions that have framed the development and uses of theory in art In a series of intricate readings of constructivism Mondrian and John Cage Daniel Herwitz outlines the avant garde s belief that theory can perfectly prefigure the avant garde art object and invest it with utopian force Through similarly insightful treatments of Arthur Danto Andy Warhol Jean Francois Lyotard Jean Baudrillard and postmodern art and theory Herwitz demonstrates how the contemporary art world is heir to the avant garde s theoretical assumptions and practices In fact avant garde art objects live as art only by partly resisting the master theories of their makers and interpreters Skillfully resisting the lure of grand theory himself Herwitz urges the art world to be more self critical and self reflective about its uses of theory Making Theory Constructing Art is as accessible and entertainingly written as it is philosophically incisive Since the book is both a philosophical and a cultural encounter with theory in twentieth century art it will engage all those who have tried to grapple with the inscrutability of the theoretical art muse

The Optic of the State Jens Andermann,2007-09-02 The Optic of the State traces the production of nationalist imaginaries through the public visual representation of modern state formation in Brazil and Argentina As Jens Andermann reveals the foundational visions of national heritage territory and social and ethnic composition were conceived and implemented but also disputed and contested in a complex interplay between government cultural and scientific institutions and actors as a means of propagating political agendas and power throughout the emerging states The purpose of these imaginaries was to vindicate the political upheavals of the recent past and secure the viability of the newly independent states through a sense of historic destiny and inevitable evolution The careful presentation of artifacts and spectacles was also aimed abroad in order to win the favor of European imperial powers and thereby acquire a competitive place in the nascent global economy of the late nineteenth century The Optic of the State offers a fascinating critique of the visual aspects of national mythology It exposes how scientific and cultural institutions inscribed the state form in time and space thus presenting historical processes as natural givens Thatcher's Progress Guy Ortolano, 2019-06-27 Horizons Planning Architecture Community Consulting Housing
