Paul Rosenfeld, voyager in the arts ,1977 Paul Rosenfeld, Voyager in the Arts Jerome Mellquist, Lucie Wiese, 1977-01-01 Paul Rosenfeld, Voyage in the Arts ,1948 Painting Gender, Constructing Theory Marcia Brennan, 2001 Focusing on the key historical criticism and art works Brennan shows how the identities of all five Stieglitz circle artists were presented in terms of the masculinity and femininity and the heterosexuality and homosexuality thought to be embedded in their work Brennan also discusses Stieglitz's relation to competing artistic and critical movements including Thomas Hart Benton's regionalist art and Clement Greenberg's reformulation of formalism Jacket Aaron Copland and His World Carol J. Oja, Judith Tick, 2018-06-05 Aaron Copland and His World reassesses the legacy of one of America's best loved composers at a pivotal moment as his life and work shift from the realm of personal memory to that of history This collection of seventeen essays by distinguished scholars of American music explores the stages of cultural change on which Copland's long life 1900 to 1990 unfolded from the modernist experiments of the 1920s through the progressive populism of the Great Depression and the urgencies of World War II to postwar political backlash and the rise of serialism in the 1950s and the cultural turbulence of the 1960s Continually responding to an ever changing political and cultural panorama Copland kept a firm focus on both his private muse and the public he served No self absorbed recluse he was very much a public figure who devoted his career to building support systems to help composers function productively in America This book critiques Copland's work in these shifting contexts The topics include Copland's role in shaping an American school of modern dance his relationship with Leonard Bernstein his homosexuality especially as influenced by the writings of Andr Gide and explorations of cultural nationalism Copland's rich correspondence with the composer and critic Arthur Berger who helped set the parameters of Copland's reception is published here in its entirety edited by Wayne Shirley The contributors include Emily Abrams Paul Anderson Elliott Antokoletz Leon Botstein Martin Brody Elizabeth Crist Morris Dickstein Lynn Garafola Melissa de Graaf Neil Lerner Gail Levin Beth Levy Vivian Perlis Howard Pollack and Larry Starr Independent Intellectuals in the United States, 1910-1945 Steven Biel, 1995-02-01 A new intellectual community came together in the United States in the 1910s and 1920s a community outside the universities the professions and in general the established centers of intellectual life A generation of young intellectuals was increasingly challenging both the genteel tradition and the growing division of intellectual labor Adversarial and anti professional they exhibited a hostility to boundaries and specialization that compelled them toward an ambitious and self conscious generalism and made them a force in the American political literary and artistic landscape This book is a cultural history of this community of free lance critics and an exploration of their collective effort to construct a viable public intellectual life in America Steven Biel illustrates the diversity of the body of writings produced by these critics whose subjects ranged from literature and fine arts to politics economics history urban planning and national character Conceding that significant differences and conflicts did exist in the works of individual thinkers Biel nonetheless maintains that a broader picture of this vibrant culture has been obscured by attempts to classify intellectuals according to political or ideological persuasions His book brings to life the ways in which this community sought out alternative ways of making a living devised strategies for reaching and engaging the public debated the involvement of women in the intellectual community and incorporated Marxism into its evolving search for a decisive intellectual presence in American life Examined in this lively study are the role and contributions of such figures as Randolph Bourne Max Eastman Crystal Eastman Walter Lippmann Margaret Sanger Van Wyck Brooks Floyd Dell Edmund Wilson Mable Dodge Paul Rosenfeld H L Mencken Lewis Mumford Malcolm Cowley Matthew Josephson John Reed Waldo Frank Gilbert Seldes and Harold Stearns
