the intersection of pragmatics stylistics and literary studies Ireland and Dysfunction Asier Altuna-García de Salazar, 2017-01-06 This collection of critical essays finds itself at the intersection of cultural literary and film studies and explores the various ways in which dysfunction is expressed in Irish studies Dysfunction can be regarded as part and parcel of a portrayal of a landscape of trauma and crisis that may have been traditionally repressed in Ireland at large However dysfunction also envisages mediation managing transcending and healing As such this volume examines how Ireland tackles dysfunction at large but more importantly how mediation managing healing and transcending help in the understanding of the ever changing and on going process of the construction of an Irish identity today sometimes looking back at the past but always creating the need of inventing new ways to understand the future of Ireland The collection presents essays which tackle dysfunction from different and multifarious perspectives that range from sociological historical and literary discourses to more contemporary insights into dysfunction in today's Ireland It encompasses theory and analysis and includes the works of both senior academics and emerging scholars as well as those outside academia A Love of Reading Robert Adams, 2011-01-14 Every year Robert Adams prepares a series of five reviews of contemporary novels to be delivered alone on a theatre stage to sold out audiences in Toronto and Montreal In A Love of Reading Adams has now gathered 18 of his most brilliant reviews from Jack Maggs by Peter Carey and The Poisonwood Bible by Barbara Kingsolver to A Fine Balance by Rohinton Mistry and Barney's Version by Mordecai Richler In them he skillfully interweaves a nimble and entertaining discussion of plot theme and characterization with fascinating historical biographical and literary context He is repeatedly drawn to the spectacle of less than perfect humans making their way in a hostile world and as a result a review by Robert Adams is almost always a hugely satisfying mix of rich pathos and abundant humour Famously Adams reads a book a day from which he selects only those novels that are truly extraordinary that have made him see some part of the world or some aspect of the human condition in a new light because for Adams the best books always take the reader on a journey with a destination very distant from the point of departure It should be not only a journey of discovery an exploration of the author's vision but also of risk By matching one's own vision to that of the author says Adams the reader enters an exciting negotiation to produce a new vision of his own This joint enterprise between reader and writer the shared risk and the wonder of discovery is the foundation of A Love of Reading For the last six years Robert Adams has presented an annual series of book reviews to sold out audiences Eighty per cent of Adams' 3 000 subscribers in Toronto and Montreal renew for the following season This book is a selection of modern classics from a discriminating and entertaining guide Perfect for reading groups Quill Quire noting the jump in sales of any book reviewed by Adams has called the phenomenon The Adams Effect Irish Fiction Kersti Tarien Powell, 2004-10-08 Following the structure of other titles in the Continuum Introductions to Literary Genres series Irish Fiction includes A broad definition of the genre and its essential elements A timeline of developments within the genre Critical concerns to bear in mind while reading in the genre Detailed readings of a
