Report Of The Aboriginal Justice Inquiry Of Manitoba:

Report of the Aboriginal Justice Inquiry of Manitoba, V.1 - the Justice System and Aboriginal People, V.2 - the Deaths of Helen Betty Osborne and John Joseph Harper Manitoba. Public Inquiry into the Administration of Justice and Aboriginal People, A. C. Hamilton, C.M. Sinclair, 1988 Justice, Indigenous Peoples, and Canada Kathryn M. Campbell, Stephanie Wellman, 2023-12-19 Justice Indigenous Peoples and Canada A History of Courage and Resilience brings together the work of a number of leading researchers to provide a broad overview of criminal justice issues that Indigenous people in Canada have faced historically and continue to face today Both Indigenous and Canadian scholars situate current issues of justice for Indigenous peoples broadly defined within the context of historical realities and ongoing developments By examining how justice is defined both from within Indigenous communities and outside of them this volume examines the force of Constitutional reform and subsequent case law on Indigenous rights historically and in contemporary contexts It then expands the discussion to include theoretical considerations particularly settler colonialism that help explain how ongoing oppressive and assimilationist agendas continue to affect how so called justice is administered From a critical perspective the book examines the operation of the criminal justice system through bail specialized courts policing sentencing incarceration and release It explores legal frameworks as well as current issues that have significantly affected Indigenous peoples such as the Truth and Reconciliation Commission the Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls human rights resurgence and identity This unique collection of perspectives exposes the disconcerting agenda of historical and modern day Canadian federal government policy and the continued denial of Indigenous rights to self determination It is essential reading for those interested in the struggles of the Indigenous peoples in Canada as well as anyone studying race crime and justice Summary Manitoba. Talking Back to the Indian Act Mary-Ellen Kelm,Keith D. Smith,2018-01-01 Talking Back to the Indian Act is a comprehensive how to guide for engaging with primary source documents The intent of the book is to encourage readers to develop the skills necessary to converse with primary sources in more refined and profound ways As a piece of legislation that is central to Canada s relationship with Indigenous peoples and communities and one that has undergone many amendments the Indian Act is uniquely positioned to act as a vehicle for this kind of focused reading Through an analysis of thirty five sources pertaining to the Indian Act addressing governance gender enfranchisement and land the authors provide readers with a much better understanding of this pivotal piece of legislation as well as insight into the dynamics involved in its creation and maintenance

Developing Restorative Justice Jurisprudence Tony Foley,2016-04-22 What are the requirements for a just response to criminal wrongdoing Drawing on comparative and empirical analysis of existing models of global practice this book offers an approach aimed at restricting the current limitations of criminal justice process and addressing the current deficiencies Putting restoration squarely alongside other aims of justice responses the author argues that only when restorative questions are taken into account can institutional responses be truly said to be just Using the three primary jurisdictions of Australia New Zealand and Canada the book presents the leading examples of restorative justice practices incorporated in mainstream criminal justice systems from around the world In conclusion the work provides a fresh insight into how today s criminal law might develop in order to bring restoration directly into the mix for tomorrow This book will be of interest to undergraduates postgraduate researchers and lecturers as well as lawyers who work in the field of criminal law criminologists social scientists and philosophers interested in ideas of wrongdoing and criminal justice responses to criminal offending

Restructuring Relations Rauna Kuokkanen,2019-03-01 Adopted in 2007 the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples establishes self determination including free prior and informed consent as a foundational right and principle Self determination both individual and collective is among the most important and pressing issues for Indigenous women worldwide Yet Indigenous women s interests have been overlooked in the formulation of Indigenous self government and existing studies of Indigenous self government largely ignore issues of gender As such the current literature on Indigenous governance conceals patriarchal structures and power that create barriers for women to resources and participation in Indigenous societies Drawing on Indigenous and feminist political and legal theory as well as extensive participant interviews in Canada Greenland and Scandinavia this book argues that the current rights discourse and focus on

Indigenous state relations is too limited in scope to convey the full meaning of self determination for Indigenous peoples The book conceptualizes self determination as a foundational value informed by the norm of integrity and suggests that Indigenous self determination cannot be achieved without restructuring all relations of domination nor can it be secured in the absence of gender justice As a foundational value self determination seeks to restructure all relations of domination not only hegemonic relations with the state Importantly it challenges the opposition between self determination and gender created and maintained by international law Indigenous political discourse and Indigenous institutions Restructuring relations of domination further entails examining the gender regimes present in existing Indigenous self government institutions interrogating the relationship between Indigenous self determination and gender violence and considering future visions of Indigenous self determination such as repatriation of Indigenous governance and an independent statehood

To Right Historical Wrongs Carmela Murdocca, 2013-10-15 Following World War II liberal nation states sought to address injustices of the past In keeping with trends in other countries Canada's government began to consider its own implication in various past wrongs and in the late twentieth century it began to implement reparative justice initiatives for historically marginalized people Yet despite this shift there are more Indigenous and racialized people in Canadian prisons now than at any other time in history In To Right Historical Wrongs Carmela Murdocca brings together the paradigm of reparative justice and the study of incarceration to examine this disconnect between the political motivations for amending historical injustices and the vastly disproportionate reality of the justice system a troubling reality that is often ignored Drawing on detailed examination of legal cases parliamentary debates government reports media commentary and community sources Murdocca presents a new perspective on discussions of culture based sentencing in an age of both mass incarceration and historical amendment

Routledge Handbook of Radical Politics Ruth Kinna, Uri Gordon, 2019-05-16 Successive waves of global protest since 1999 have encouraged leading contemporary political theorists to argue that politics has fundamentally changed in the last twenty years with a new type of politics gaining momentum over elite representative institutions The new politics is frequently described as radical but what does radicalism mean for the conduct of politics Capturing the innovative practices of contemporary radicals Routledge Handbook of Radical Politics brings together leading academics and campaigners to answer these questions and explore radicalism's meaning to their practice In the thirty five chapters written for this collection they collectively develop a picture of radicalism by investigating the intersections of activism and contemporary political theory Across their experiences the authors articulate radicalism's critical politics and discuss how diverse movements support and sustain each other Together they provide a wide ranging account of the tensions overlaps and promise of radical politics while utilising scholarly literatures on grassroots populism to present a novel analysis of the relationship between radicalism and populism Routledge Handbook of Radical Politics serves as a key reference for students and scholars interested in the politics and ideas of contemporary activist movements

Criminal Injustice Robynne Neugebauer, 2000-01-01 This volume examines racism within the process of criminal justice In every society criminal justice plays a key role establishing social control and maintaining the hegemony of the dominant economic classes The contributors to this anthology argue that the differential treatment of people of colour and First Nations peoples is due to systemic racism within all levels of the criminal justice system which serves these dominant classes Ideological and cultural changes are preconditions for the success of anti racist policies and practices within the criminal justice system and within other state institutions Recommendations for transformations in justice policy and practice are provided

Restorative Justice for Juveniles Allison Morris, Gabrielle Maxwell, Gabrielle M. Maxwell, 2001-06 Internationally there is now an acceptance of the need to develop new strategies in criminal justice which reflect restorative justice principles At the same time theory research and practice in restorative justice is making rapid advances This book provides an up to date and critical account of recent developments It describes the practice of restorative justice with respect to young offenders in a number of jurisdictions Australia Canada England New Zealand South Africa the United States and various continental European countries Research findings on the three most common formats conferencing victims offender mediation and circles are presented Critical issues for the future development of restorative justice are identified Two main themes run through the collection the potential of restorative processes to transform criminal justice processes and the potential for aboriginal or indigenous communities to impact on conventional processes Contributors include active researchers and leading theorists from around the world

Children's Rights and Sustainable Development Claire Fenton-Glynn, 2019-04-18 Considers how to implement children s rights in the twenty first century through a child rights based approach to sustainable development

Race, Crime and Criminal Justice A. Kalunta-Crumpton, 2010-03-31 This book provides a focused and critical international overview of the intersections between race crime perpetration and victimization and criminal justice policy and practice responses to crime perpetration and crime victimization

Native Americans, Crime, And Justice Marianne O. Nielsen, 2019-03-13 The historical involvement of Native peoples within the criminal justice system is a narrative of tragedy and injustice yet Native American experience in this system has not been well studied Despite disproportionate representation of Native Americans in the criminal justice system far more time has been spent studying other minority groups

Contemporary Issues in Global Criminal Justice Ed Johnston, Sophie Marsh, 2022-08-22 Contemporary Issues in Global Criminal Justice provides a holistic analysis of modern criminal justice issues encompassing the pre trial investigative and post conviction stages of criminal justice in legal settings across the world The contributors acknowledge and examine the vast array of challenges in global criminal justice from the role of the International Criminal Court to policing the integration of technology and how marginalized groups such as sex workers and those with addictions are treated in the courts With contributions from scholars in England and Wales New Zealand Croatia Spain the Netherlands Canada and The Republic of North Macedonia this book is not limited to one jurisdiction and highlights that criminal justice is very much a global issue in a state of crisis From policing to the courts it is in urgent need of reform Without a competent criminal justice system justice does not exist This book would be of interest to scholars in the legal criminal justice and criminology fields Decolonising Indigenous Child Welfare Terri Libesman, 2013-12-04 During the past decade a remarkable transference of responsibility to Indigenous children's organisation has taken place in many parts of Australia Canada the USA and New Zealand It has been influenced by Indigenous peoples human rights advocacy at national and international levels by claims to self determination and by the globalisation of Indigenous children's organisations Thus far this reform has taken place with little attention from academic and non Indigenous communities now Decolonising Indigenous Child Welfare Comparative Perspectives considers these developments and evaluating law reform with respect to Indigenous child welfare asks whether the pluralisation of responses to their welfare and well being within a cross cultural post colonial context can improve the lives of Indigenous children The legislative frameworks for the delivery of child welfare services to Indigenous children are assessed in terms of the degree of self determination which they afford Indigenous communities The book draws upon interdisciplinary research and the author's experience collaborating with the peak Australian Indigenous children's organisation for over a decade to provide a thorough examination of this international issue Dr Terri Libesman is a Senior Lecturer in the Law Faculty at the University of Technology Sydney She has collaborated researched and published for over a decade with the peak Australian Indigenous children's organisation
