International Conference on Residual Stresses G. Beck,S. Denis,A. Simon,2012-12-06 Residual stresses are always introduced in materials when they are produced or when they undergo non uniform plastic deformation during use The circumstances that can cause residual stresses are therefore numerous Residual stresses exist in all materials and depending on their distribution can play a beneficial role for example compressive surface stress or have a catastrophic effect especially on fatigue behaviour and corrosion properties The subject of residual stresses took form around 1970 with the development of methods to measure macroscopic deformations during the machining of materials or on an atomic scale by X ray diffraction These techniques have made considerable progress in the last 20 years The meetings organized in several countries Germany France Japan etc have largely contributed to this progress aided by the numerous exchanges of information and knowledge to which they have given rise Studies of the formation of residual stresses began more slowly but have progressed with the emergence of increasingly realistic models of materials behaviour and with access to ever more powerful codes for numerical calculations Two successive meetings for discussing this topic have been held in Europe The first held in 1982 in Nancy France consisted of 30 participants from 5 countries The second was held in Linköping Sweden in 1984 with 80 participants of 16 nationalities It was decided to hold a first International Conference ICRS to address all aspects of the problem Held in 1986 in Garmisch Partenkirchen FRG it was an assembly of nearly 300 participants from 21 countries

Supraspinal Control of Automatic Postural Responses: Which Pathway Does What? Isaac L. Kurtzer,2017-07-26 Rapid corrective actions termed automatic postural responses are essential to counter the destabilizing effect of mechanical perturbations during natural behaviors Previous research has demonstrated that automatic postural responses of the limbs and body share a number of capabilities in adapting to the prevailing circumstances and these abilities reflect contributions from multiple supraspinal pathways including brainstem nuclei basal ganglia and primary motor cortex However we do not know the context dependent contribution from specific generators whether different neural pathways have a common role across different effectors and how sensory and central deficits in one pathway are accommodated by those remaining Bridging these gaps is essential to integrate the diverse set of studies develop general theories of motor control and explicate how the nervous system addresses the partially distinct behavioral demands of co evolved effector system The considerable flexibility and multiple interacting pathways of automatic postural responses also make it ideal for understanding how powerful formal theories like optimal feedback control are achieved by a distributed hierarchical neural network
