Rome Open City:

Roberto Rossellini's Rome Open City Sidney Gottlieb, 2004-06-14 Roberto Rossellini's Rome Open City instantly markedly and permanently changed the landscape of film history. Made at the end of World War II, it has been credited with initiating a revolution in and reinvention of modern cinema. Bold claims that are substantiated when its impact on how films are conceptualized, made, structured, theorized, circulated, and viewed is examined. This volume offers a fresh look at the production history of Rome Open City, some of its key images, and particularly its representation of the city and various types of women, its cinematic influences and affinities, the complexity of its political dimensions, including the film's vision of political struggle and the political uses to which the film was put, and the legacy of the film in public consciousness. It serves as a well-illustrated, up-to-date and accessible introduction to one of the major achievements of filmmaking. Rome Open City (Roma Città Aperta) David Forgacs, 2019-07-25 Otto Preminger said the history of the cinema was divided into two eras: one before and one after Rome Open City. Roma Città Aperta 1945. The film is based on events that took place in Rome in 1944 during the Nazi occupation. This book re-examines the film and its place in Rossellini's career. David Forgacs reconstructs its production history, its relationship to the events that inspired it, and the time in which it was made. He argues that the traditional critical labelling of Rome Open City as the original work of neo-realism fails to capture the film's hybrid and contradictory character. Part documentary record, part patriotic myth, Rome Open City is at once an extraordinarily powerful commemoration of wartime experience and a rhetorical reworking of that experience using stereotypes and moral polarisations. The Ethnographer's Eye Anna Grimshaw, 2001-04-30 Grimshaw's exploration of the role of vision within modern anthropology engages with current debates about ocularcentism, investigating the relationship between vision and knowledge in ethnographic enquiry. Using John Berger's notion of ways of seeing, the author argues that vision operates differently as a technique and theory of knowledge within the discipline. In the first part of the book, she examines contrasting visions at work in the so-called classical British school, reassessing the legacy of Rivers, Malinowski, and Radcliffe Brown through the lens of early modern art and cinema. In the second part of the book, the changing relationship between vision and knowledge is explored through the anthropology of Jean Rouch, David and Judith MacDougall, and Melissa Llewelyn Davies. Vision is foregrounded in the work of these contemporary ethnographers, focusing more general questions about technique and epistemology: whether image-based media are used or not in ethnographic enquiry. Film and Urban Space Geraldine Pratt, 2014-06-23 Identifies and analyses the major debates about the crucial historical relationship between film and the city, to consider existing and future possibilities. Roberto Rossellini Peter Brunette, 1996-01-01 This is the first serious American book about my father and a missing piece in the history of film for American film lovers. Isabella Rossellini: Italian Neorealism and Global Cinema Laura E. Ruberto, Kristi M. Wilson, 2007 This volume addresses the influence of Italian neorealist films on world cinema, well beyond the post-World War II period associated with the movement. Despite its lack of organization and relatively short life span the Italian neorealist movement deeply influenced directors and film traditions around the world This collection examines the impact of Italian neorealism beyond the period of 1945-52 the years conventionally connected to the movement and beyond the postwar Italian film industry where the movement originated Providing a refreshing aesthetic and ideological contrast to mainstream Hollywood films neorealist filmmakers demonstrated not only how an engaging narrative technique could be brought to bear upon social issues but also how cinema could shape and redefine national identity The fourteen essays in Italian Neorealism and Global Cinema consider films from Italy India Brazil Africa the Czech Republic postwar Germany Hong Kong the United States France Belgium Colombia and Great Britain Each essay explores neorealism's complex relationship to a different national film tradition style or historical period illustrating the profound impact of neorealism and the ways it continues to complicate the relationship between ideas of nation national cinema and national identity Many of the essays identify similar themes or motifs adapted from neorealism and several essays address a politicized national film tradition that developed in opposition to a monolithic Western aesthetic In all Italian Neorealism and Global Cinema provides a novel critical understanding of the wide ranging international impact of a short period in Italian cultural history Film scholars and students of film history will appreciate this insightful text

Theory and Bicycle Thieves Hilary Neroni, 2023-05-18 The Film Theory in Practice series fills a gaping hole in the world of film theory By marrying the explanation of a film theory with the interpretation of a film the volumes provide discrete examples of how film theory can serve as the basis for textual analysis Realist Film Theory and Bicycle Thieves offers a concise introduction to realist film theory in jargon free language and shows how this theory can be deployed to interpret Vittorio De Sica's 1948 Italian neo realist masterpiece Bicycle Thieves Hilary Neroni explores the original realist film theorists from the 1940s Andr Bazin Siegfried Kracauer and Cesare Zavattini among others But rather than seeing realist film theory as simply a theory of the past to be moved beyond the book argues that the prevalence of realism in many different forms within practice and theory suggests the importance of updating this original realist film theory with an understanding of realism that would sustain its viability Throughout the book Neroni analyzes neorealist film movements such as Italian Neorealism Parallel Cinema of India and the Iranian New Wave that challenge mainstream realism with a more radical form that exposes the social order instead of hiding it Her in depth investigation of Bicycle Thieves provides a realist methodology that reveals the radicality of its combination of realist techniques a melodramatic story and humanist values Stardom and the Aesthetics of Neorealism Ora Gelley, 2012 In this exciting new book Gelley considers the collaboration between Rossellini and Ingrid Bergman in light of the neorealist aesthetic This study re examines the director's postwar works in relation to the contemporary discussion on Italian national identity rather than marking a radical break with the director's early neorealist successes Rossellini's films with Bergman in fact extend the boundaries of neorealism and challenge the standard reading of its basic tenets especially the relationship between character and setting Gelley reassesses the relationship between European postwar and American cinema looking at how the image of the Hollywood star was translated and transformed when it was imported into Rossellini's Italy Rossellini's insertion of the Hollywood star into the native landscape had a significant influence on the director's approach to the neorealist aesthetic His filming of the encounter between Bergman and the Italian landscape involves not only a re-interpretation and transformation of the Hollywood star persona but also a challenge to the idealized notion of an authentic Italian national collective free of foreign influence The disruption of Bergman's character into the Italian landscape became one means whereby the director was able to explore the ambivalence inherent in any attempt to construct a national identity Carlos Saura Carlos Saura, 2003

Williams, 2016-05-09 Encounters with Godard takes the reader on a personal voyage into the sensory pleasures and polyphonic rhythms of Jean-Luc Godard's multimedia work since the late 1970s from his feature films and video essays to his published writings art books and media performances Godard suggests James S. Williams lays ethical claim to the cinematic defined in the broadest terms as relationality and artistic resistance An introductory chapter on the extended history of La Chinoise 1967 a film explicitly of montage is followed by seven different types of critical encounters with Godard encompassing the fields of art and photography music and literature and foregrounding themes of gender and sexuality race and violence mystery and emotion The Godard who emerges here is a restless and radical experimenter who establishes new cinematic thresholds through new technology and expands the creative potential and free exchange of the archives Williams examines works including Nouvelle vague 1990 Film socialisme 2010 Il est pour moi 1993 and the magnum opus Histoires du cinéma 1988-98 Wide-ranging and accessible Encounters with Godard marks a major intervention in the study of film aesthetics and ethics while forging a vital dialogue with literature history and politics art and art history music and musicology philosophy and aesthetics Cinema of Anxiety Vincent F. Rocchio, 2010-07-22 The new realism of Italian cinema after World War II represented and in many ways attempted to contain the turmoil of a society struggling to rid itself of Fascism while fighting off the threat of radical egalitarianism at the same time In this boldly revisionist book Vincent F. Rocchio combines Lacanian psychoanalysis with narratology and Marxist critical theory to examine the previously neglected relationship between Neorealist films and the historical spectators they address Rocchio builds his analysis around case studies of the films Rome Open City Bicycle Thieves La Terra Trema Bitter Rice and Senso Through the lens of psychoanalysis he challenges the traditional understanding of Neorealism as a progressive cinema and instead reveals the anxieties it encodes a society in political turmoil an economic system in collapse and a national cinema in ruins while war occupation collaboration and retaliation remain a part of everyday life These case studies demonstrate how Lacanian psychoanalysis can play a key role in analyzing the structure of cinematic discourse and its strategies of containment As one of the first books outside of feminist film theory to bring the ideas of Lacan to theories of cinema this book offers innovative methods that reinvigorate film analysis Clear and detailed insights into both Italian culture and the films under investigation will make this engaging reading for anyone interested in film and cultural studies Cinema and Unconventional Warfare in the Twentieth Century Paul B.

Rich, 2018-08-23 Cinematic representations of unconventional warfare have received sporadic attention to date. However, this pattern has now begun to change with the rise of insurgency and counter insurgency in Iraq and Afghanistan and the growing importance of jihadist terrorism in the wake of 9/11. This ground-breaking study provides a much-needed examination of global unconventional warfare in 20th-century filmmaking with case studies from the United States, Britain, Ireland, France, Italy, and Israel. Paul B. Rich examines Hollywood's treatment of counter terrorism and counter insurgency in the United States; British post-colonial insurgencies in Malaya and Kenya; and British special operations in the Second World War, the Irish conflict before and during the Troubles; French filmmaking and the reluctance to deal with the bitter war in Algeria in the 1950s; Italian neorealism and its impact on films dealing with urban insurgency; by Roberto Rossellini, Nanni Loy, and Gillo Pontecorvo; and Israel and the upsurge of Palestinian terrorism. Whilst only a small number of films on these conflicts have been able to rise above stereotyping insurgents and terrorists in some cases due to a pattern of screen orientalism, Cinema and Unconventional Warfare in the Twentieth Century stresses the positive political gains to be derived from humanizing terrorists and terrorists' movements, especially in the context of modern jihadist terrorism. This is essential reading for academics, postgraduates, and advanced undergraduates interested in 20th-century military history, politics, and international relations and film studies.
