Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, L.W. Conolly, 2004-11-30 Post Colonial Literatures in English together with English Literature and American Literature form one of the three major groupings of literature in English and as such are widely studied around the world Their significance derives from the richness and variety of experience which they reflect In three volumes this Encyclopedia documents the history and development of this body of work and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide Ronald Hugh Morrieson Peter Simpson, 1982 Ronald Hugh Morrieson 1922 1972 lived all his life in the same house in the small Taranaki town of Hawera and yet created a bizarre and brilliantly funny fictional world which constitutes one of the most distinctive contributions to New Zealand fiction However his originality and his isolation from a sustaining literary community meant that his work was virtually ignored during his lifetime His first two novels though well received in Australia sank almost without trace in New Zealand and Morrieson was unable to find a publisher for his two later novels both of which were published posthumously Simpson provides an illuminating biographical sketch and discusses each of the novels in detail to demonstrate the compelling mixture of comedy pathos suspense and violence of which Morrieson was master Back cover

Coming-of-Age Cinema in New Zealand Alistair Fox, 2018-03-07 Explores the complex ethical dilemmas of human mobility in the context of climate change The Varieties of Temporal Experience Michael D. Jackson, 2018-04-10 What does it mean to live in time between the unforeseeable and the irreversible In The Varieties of Temporal Experience Michael Jackson demonstrates the significance of a phenomenology of time for ethnography philosophy and history through a multifaceted consideration of the gap between our cultural representations of temporality and the bewildering multiplicity of our experience of being in time Jackson explores temporality in a subjective mode as a form of literary anthropology The first part of the book tells the story of John Joseph Pawelka whose 1910 escape from prison and subsequent disappearance became one of New Zealand's great unsolved mysteries discussing what it reveals about the interplay of popular stories hidden histories and media narratives in constructing allegories of national and moral identity In the second Jackson reflects on journeys up and down the islands of New Zealand touching on the ways that personal stories are interwoven with social and historical events Throughout this groundbreaking book Jackson juxtaposes philosophy history and ethnography in an attempt to do justice to the extraordinary variety of temporal experience at the same time exploring the ethical and existential quandaries that arise from the complexity of lived time
