Roni Horn Roni Horn, 1999 Roni Horn's Still Water (The River Thames, for Example) and the Psychogeography of Looking Margaret Frazier Mitts, 2019 When you see your reflection in water do you recognize the water in you So asks a footnote of Roni Horn's Still Water The River Thames for Example a work comprised of fifteen annotated photographs of the surface of water The text of the six hundred total footnotes record Horn's own thoughts and associations that emerged as she looked at the fifteen photographs of the river Thames In this thesis I argue that this work suggests a mode of looking that instead of seeking a singular meaning is more akin to the generative wandering of psychogeographers The psychogeographic practice of walking city streets and recording one's observations thereof arose out of an effort to understand the complex intersection of the social economic political and personal that affects a person's experience of urban space Consisting of alternating immersion in urban space and withdrawal for personal reflection psychogeographic wandering can be understood as a way to navigate city space akin to the selective and generative act of reading To expand on this comparison and more closely triangulate this type of looking I compare Horn's work to Patrick Keiller's 1994 film London which follows the psychogeographic expeditions of Robinson and the narrator through the eponymous city and W G Sebald's 2001 novel Austerlitz which in its interspersing of black and white photographs in the text reveals the entanglement of history memory and place to the reader alongside the titular character If these three works allow a viewer to participate in a sort of creation alongside their respective creators what kind of reading are they figuring a viewer to engage in What assumptions are these works making or refusing to make about the identity of this viewer And is this type of looking applicable beyond the gallery's walls or the book's pages I investigate these questions among others in the friction that results from rubbing these works together and I hope to approach an explanation of the type of looking these works engender one that emerges through relation Translate Form this Version of "Still Water, (the River Thames, for Example)" Roni Horn, 1999 Roni Horn Nora Burnett Abrams, Jarrett Earnest, Anne Carson, Roni Horn, 2025-09-09 A comprehensive look at the celebrated work of contemporary artist Horn whose innovative exploration of water as a medium and metaphor has established her as a vital voice in the discourse on identity perception and the environment This book is a captivating exploration of Horn's decades long fascination with water both as a material and a metaphor Known for her provocative approach to perception identity and the mutability of form Horn uses water to mirror human experience and emotion Born in 1955 in New York Horn has spent decades pushing the boundaries of art to explore the complexities of identity perception and nature Horn's body of work spans photography cast glass and installation consistently returning to the theme of fluidity Her iconic series You Are the Weather 100 photographs of Icelandic artist Margrét Haraldsdóttir Blöndal submerged in water reveals how water can both obscure and define identity Similarly her liquid glass sculptures play with the tension between solidity and fluidity their colors ranging from turquoise to black In an era marked by climate change and water scarcity Horn's works pose urgent questions about water as a shared resource and a symbol of impermanence and survival This volume not only offers a retrospective of her water centered works but also connects them to broader global challenges with critical and poetic texts by Nora Burnett Abrams Jarrett Earnest Anne Carson and the artist herself The Contemporary Medieval in Practice Clare A. Macaluso, 2019-05-30 Monument Culture International Perspectives on the Future of Monuments in a Changing World brings together a collection of essays from scholars and cultural critics working on the meanings of monuments and memorials in the second decade of the twenty first century a time of great social and political change The book presents a broad view of the challenges facing individuals and society in making sense of public monuments with contested meanings From the United States to Europe to Africa to Australia and New Zealand to South America and beyond the contributors tackle the ways in which different places approach monuments in a landscape where institutions and ideas are under direct challenge from political and social unrest. It also discusses sharply changed attitudes about the representation of history and memory in the public sphere. The goal is to acknowledge shared experiences through a wider perspective to contribute to the work of the world wide heritage community and to document the history and shifting cultural attitudes towards monument culture across the world encouraging a more informed approach to monuments and their meanings especially for the public and those outside of academia.

Art + Archive Sara Callahan, 2022-01-25 Art Archive provides an in depth analysis of the connection between art and the archive at the turn of the twenty first century. The book examines how the archive emerged in art writing in the mid 1990s and how its subsequent ubiquity can be understood in light of wider social technological philosophical and art historical conditions and concerns. Deftly combining writing on archives from different disciplines with artistic practices the book clarifies the function and meaning of one of the most persistent artworld buzzwords of recent years shedding light on the conceptual and historical implications of the so called archival turn in contemporary art.

The Hydrocene Bronwyn Bailey-Charteris, 2024-05-09 This book challenges conventional notions of the Anthropocene and champions the Hydrocene the Age of Water. It presents the Hydrocene as a disruptive conceptual epoch and curatorial theory emphasising water's pivotal role in the climate crisis and contemporary art. The Hydrocene is a wet ontological shift in eco aesthetics which redefines our approach to water transcending anthropocentric neo colonial and environmentally destructive ways of relating to water. As the most fundamental of elements water has become increasingly politicised threatened and challenged by the climate crisis. In response The Hydrocene articulates and embodies the distinctive ways contemporary artists relate and engage with water offering valuable lessons towards climate action. Through five compelling case studies across swamp river ocean fog and ice this book binds feminist environmental humanities theories with the practices of eco visionary artists. Focusing on Nordic and Oceanic water based artworks it demonstrates how art can disrupt established human water dynamics. By engaging hydrofeminist care based and planetary thinking The Hydrocene learns from the knowledge and agency of water itself within the tide of art going into the blue. The Hydrocene urgently highlights the transformative power of eco visionary artists in reshaping human water relations. At the confluence of contemporary art curatorial theory climate concerns and environmental humanities this book is essential reading for researchers curators artists students and those seeking to reconsider their connection with water and advocate for climate justice amid the ongoing natural cultural water crisis. For All Waters Lowell Duckert, 2017-03-31 Recent years have witnessed a surge in early modern ecostudies many devoted to Shakespearean drama. Yet in this burgeoning discipline travel writing appears moored in historicization inorganic subjects are far less prevalent.

than organic ones and freshwater sites are hardly visited For All Waters explores these uncharted wetscapes Lowell Duckert shows that when playwrights and travel writers such as Sir Walter Raleigh physically interacted with rivers glaciers monsoons and swamps they composed hydrographies or bodily and textual assemblages of human and nonhuman things that dissolved notions of human autonomy and its singular narrativity With a playful punning touch woven deftly into its theoretical rigor For All Waters disputes fantasies of ecological solitude that would keep our selves high and dry and that would try to sustain a political ecology excluding water and the poor The lives of both humans and waterscapes can be improved simultaneously through direct engagement with wetness For All Waters concludes by investigating waterscapes in peril today West Virginia s chemical rivers and Iceland s vanishing glaciers and outlining what we can learn from early moderns eco ontological lessons By taking their soggy and storied matters to heart and arriving at a greater realization of our shared wetness we can conceive new directions to take within the hydropolitical crises afflicting us today Still Water Roni Horn, Kathleen Merrill Campagnolo, Jan Avgikos, 2000 The Aesthetic Clinic Fernanda Negrete, 2020-10-01 In The Aesthetic Clinic Fernanda Negrete brings together contemporary women writers and artists well known for their formal experimentation Louise Bourgeois Sophie Calle Lygia Clark Marguerite Duras Roni Horn and Clarice Lispector to argue that the aesthetic experiences afforded by their work are underwritten by a tenacious and uniquely feminine ethics of desire To elaborate this ethics Negrete looks to notions of sublimation and feminine sexuality developed by Freud Baudelaire Mallarmé and Nietzsche and their reinvention with and after Jacques Lacan including in the schizoanalysis of Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari But she also highlights how psychoanalytic theory draws on writing and other creative practices to conceive of unconscious processes and the transformation sought through analysis Thus the aesthetic clinic of the book s title a term Negrete adopts from Deleuze is not an applied psychoanalysis or schizoanalysis Rather The Aesthetic Clinic privileges the call and constraints issued by each woman s individual work Engaging an artwork here is less about retrieving a hidden meaning through interpretation than about receiving a precise transmission of sensation a jouissance irreducible to meaning Not only do art and literature serve an urgent clinical function in Negrete s reading but sublimation itself requires an embrace of femininity Roni Horn Roni Horn, 2006 Feelings of Structure Karen Engle, Yoke-Sum Wong, 2018-11-30 Sweatsuits and the apocalypse the demands of a sofa a life recalled through window frames whale watching through cancer the serendipity of geographical names in Feelings of Structure these are just some of the spaces and places memories and experiences addressed by the authors in writings that are multilevel explorations of the tangled up nature of feeling and structure Inspired by Raymond Williams s classic essay Structures of Feeling and influenced by the current discussion of affect studies this collection inverts Williams s influential concept to explore the ephemerality of feeling as working in concert with the grounding forces of materiality and history Feelings of Structure is a collection of twelve original texts that explores the weight of diverse encounters with a variety of configurations be they institutional spatial historical or fantastical
