Histories of Postmodernism Mark Bevir, Jill Hargis, Sara Rushing, 2020-09-19 Histories of Postmodernism reexamines the history of the constellation of ideas and thinkers associated with postmodernism The increasingly dominant historical narrative depicts a relatively smooth development of ideas from Friedrich Nietzsche and Martin Heidegger through a range of French theorists most notably Jacques Derrida and Michel Foucault to contemporary American thinkers such as Richard Rorty Edward Said and Judith Butler Histories of Postmodernism challenges this narrative by highlighting the local contexts of relevant theorists and thus the crucial distinctions that divide successive articulations of the themes and concepts associated with postmodernism As postmodern ideas traveled from nineteenth century Germany to mid twentieth century France and on to the contemporary United States so the relevant theorists transformed that heritage within the context of particular intellectual traditions and specific political and aesthetic issues

Sacred Aid Michael Barnett, Janice Gross Stein, 2012-07-03 The global humanitarian movement which originated within Western religious organizations in the early nineteenth century has been of most important forces in world politics in advancing both human rights and human welfare While the religious groups that founded the movement originally focused on conversion in time more secular concerns came to dominate By the end of the nineteenth century increasingly professionalized yet nominally religious organization shifted from reliance on the good book to the public health manual Over the course of the twentieth century the secularization of humanitarianism only increased and by the 1970s the movement's religious inspiration generally speaking was marginal to its agenda However beginning in the 1980s religiously inspired humanitarian movements experienced a major revival and today they are virtual equals of their secular brethren From church sponsored AIDS prevention campaigns in Africa to Muslim charity efforts in flood stricken Pakistan to Hindu charities in India religious groups have altered the character of the global humanitarian movement Moreover even secular groups now gesture toward religious inspiration in their work Clearly the broad inexorable march toward secularism predicted by so many Westerners has halted which is especially intriguing with regard to humanitarianism Not only was it a highly secularized movement just forty years ago but its principles were based on those we associate with rational modernity cosmopolitan one worldism and material as opposed to spiritual progress How and why did this happen and what does it mean for humanitarianism writ large That is the question that the eminent scholars Michael Barnett and Janice Stein pose in Sacred Aid and for answers they have gathered chapters from leading scholars that focus on the relationship between secularism and religion in contemporary humanitarianism throughout the developing world Collectively the chapters in this volume comprise an original and authoritative account of religion has reshaped the global humanitarian movement in recent times The Monthly Religious Magazine ,1865 The History
