Sense Of Place A Sense Of Time A:

Missionary Families Find a Sense of Place and Identity John S. Benson, 2015-06-17 Missionary Families Find a Sense of Place and Identity is a community history of members of nineteen Lutheran missionary families who served in Tanzania. Based on over ninety interviews and John Benson's extensive knowledge of cultural geography, he compares the lives of the missionary generation who grew up in the United States and went to Tanzania as missionaries to those of their children who grew up in Africa but settled in the United States as adults. Benson blends his personal experiences as a child of missionaries in Tanzania to tell the story of both generations. Missionary Families is centered on the themes of connection to place and religious development and will appeal to scholars of geography, cultural studies, and religion. Sense of Place and Sense of Planet Ursula K. Heise, 2008-09-29 Sense of Place and Sense of Planet analyzes the relationship between the imagination of the global and the ethical commitment to the local in environmentalist thought and writing from the 1960s to the present. Part One critically examines the emphasis on local identities and communities in North American environmentalism by establishing conceptual connections between environmentalism and ecocriticism on one hand and theories of globalization, transnationalism, and cosmopolitanism on the other. It proposes the concept of eco-cosmopolitanism as a shorthand for envisioning these connections and the cultural and aesthetic forms into which they translate. Part Two focuses on conceptualizations of environmental danger and connects environmentalist and ecocritical thought with the interdisciplinary field of risk theory in the social sciences, arguing that environmental justice theory and ecocriticism stand to benefit from closer consideration of the theories of cosmopolitanism that have arisen in this field. From the analysis of transnational communities at risk, both parts of the book combine in-depth theoretical discussion with detailed analyses of novels, poems, films, computer software, and installation artworks from the US and abroad that translate new connections between global, national, and local forms of awareness into innovative aesthetic forms combining allegory, epic, and views of the planet as a whole with modernist and postmodernist strategies of fragmentation, montage, collage, and zooming. A Sense of Place Steven Kolpan, 2010 In A Sense of Place, renowned wine expert and writer Steven Kolpan tells the story of how Francis Ford Coppola brought California's most distinguished and historic vineyard back to life. Gustave Niebaum's Inglenook Estate, started in 1879, was one of the Napa Valley's first established vineyards and the birthplace of its premium wine industry. Generations after Niebaum's death, the vineyard was sold to Heublein, the wine and spirits monopolist who broke up the land and changed the Inglenook brand from a premium connoisseur wine to a mass market jug wine. In 1975, Francis Coppola bought the Niebaum residence and the surrounding estate. Along with the original estate's reputation, he also brought back some of its original workers, including Rafael Rodriguez, who in his late seventies now serves as the vineyard manager and historian. Coppola overcame naysayers, red tape, and financial turmoil to reestablish the winery as a defender of quality, producing wine under four different labels, including the revered wine Rubicon. In 1995, Coppola purchased the Inglenook

Chateau and its adjacent vineyards fulfilling his dream of reuniting the original Napa Valley estate Kolpan's luscious flavorful narrative is worth enjoying now and keeping for later Sense of Place, Health and Quality of Life Allison

Williams, 2016-12-05 A significant body of theoretical and empirical studies describes sense of place as an outcome of interconnected psychological social and environmental processes in relation to physical place's Sense of place has been examined particularly in human geography in terms of both the character intrinsic to a place as a localized bounded and material entity and the sentiments of attachment detachment that humans experience and express in relation to specific places Scholars in a wide range of disciplines are increasingly exploring the relationship between place and health and recently the field of public health has been encouraged to recognize sense of place as a potential contributing factor to well being It is evident that over the last few decades sense of place has developed into a versatile construct This important book brings together work related to sense of place and health broadly defined from the perspective of a variety of fields and disciplines It will give the reader an understanding of both the range of applications of this construct within approaches to human health as well as the breadth of research methodologies employed in its investigation Experience, Evidence, and

Sense Anna Wierzbicka, 2010-06-24 This book is based on two ideas first that any language English no less than any other represents a universe of meaning shaped by the history and experience of the men and women who have created it and second that in any language certain culture specific words act as linchpins for whole networks of meanings and that penetrating the meanings of those key words can therefore open our eyes to an entire cultural universe In this book Anna Wierzbicka demonstrates that three uniquely English words evidence experience and sense are exactly such linchpins Using a rigorous plain language approach to meaning analysis she unpacks the dense cultural meanings of these key words disentangles their multiple meanings and traces their origins back to the tradition of British empiricism In so doing she reveals much about cultural attitudes embedded not only in British and American English but also English as a global language An interdisciplinary work Experience Evidence and Sense will be of interest to both scholars and students in linguistics and English as well as historians of ideas sociologists anthropologists literary scholars and scholars of communication A Sense of Place Susan Ogier, 2008-09 Designed for elementary students this series inspires creativity based on observations and sensory perceptions Famous works of art and art history introduce thoughtful projects Covering techniques for textiles landscapes depicting movement and using found objects in art these books are sure to inspire young artists A sense of place Lez Cooke, 2018-02-28 This pioneering study examines regional British television drama from its beginnings on the BBC and ITV in the 1950s to the arrival of Channel Four in 1982 It discusses the ways in which regionalism regional culture and regional identity have been defined outlines the history of regional broadcasting in the UK and includes two detailed case studies of Granada Television and BBC English Regions Drama representing contrasting examples of regional television drama during what is often described as the golden age of British television The conclusion brings the study up to date by discussing recent developments in regional drama production and by considering future possibilities. Written in a scholarly but accessible style, the book uncovers a forgotten history of British television drama that will be of interest to lecturers and students of media and cultural studies as well as the general reader with an interest in the history of British television.

A Sense of Place Annie Davy, 2019-02-07. Tried and tested accessible strategies that support the wellbeing and learning journey of children through mindfulness with a focus on learning outdoors and connecting with the world. Being outside and connecting with nature is key to young children's learning and wellbeing, especially in a busy, fast-changing and digitalised world. Outdoors, children can more easily connect to their bodies and learn about themselves and others and how to be in the world. They use their senses to explore, understand and become mindful of the earth and the people around them. But how can Early Years practitioners best support young children as they engage with nature while also passing on the values about the future of the planet? A Sense of Place is an easily accessible guide that will make outdoor learning more interesting and fun while also supporting children's development of resilience and resourcefulness so that they can survive and thrive in the world as they grow.

Old Wheelways Robert L. McCullough, 2015-10-02. How American bicyclists shaped the landscape and left traces of their journeys for us in writing, illustrations and photographs. In the later part of the nineteenth century, American bicyclists were explorers cycling through both charted and uncharted territory. These wheelmen and wheelwomen became keen observers of suburban and rural landscapes and left copious records of their journeys in travel narratives, journalism, maps, photographs, illustrations. They were also instrumental in the construction of roads and paths, wheelways, building them, funding them and lobbying legislators for them. Their explorations shaped the landscape and the way we look at it, yet with few exceptions, their writings have been largely overlooked by landscape scholars and many of the paths cyclists cleared have disappeared. In Old Wheelways, Robert McCullough restores the pioneering cyclists of the nineteenth century to the history of American landscapes. McCullough recounts marathon cycling trips around the Northeast undertaken by hardy cyclists who then describe their journeys in such magazines as The Wheelman, Illustrated and Bicycling World, the work of illustrators including Childe Hassam before his fame as a painter, efforts by cyclists to build better rural roads and bicycle paths and conflicts with park planners including the famous Olmsted Firm who often opposed separate paths for bicycles. Today's ubiquitous bicycle lanes owe their origins to nineteenth-century versions including New York City's asphalt ribbons. Long before there were rails to trails, there was a movement to adapt existing passageways including aqueduct corridors, trolley rights of way and canal towpaths for bicycling. The campaigns for wheelways, McCullough points out, offer a prologue to nearly every obstacle faced by those advocating bicycle paths and lanes today. McCullough's text is enriched by more than one hundred historic images of cyclists often attired in skirts and bonnets, suits and ties, country lanes and city streets.

The Postsouthern Sense of Place in Contemporary Fiction Martyn Bone, 2014-01-13. For generations, southern novelists and critics have grappled with a concept that is widely seen as a trademark of their literature a strong attachment to geography or a sense of place In the 1930s the Agrarians accorded special meaning to rural life particularly the farm in their definitions of southern identity For them the South seemed an organic and rooted region in contrast to the North where real estate development and urban sprawl evoked a faceless raw capitalism By the end of the twentieth century however economic and social forces had converged to create a modernized South How have writers responded to this phenomenon Is there still a sense of place in the South or perhaps a distinctly postsouthern sense of place Martyn Bone innovatively draws upon postmodern thinking to consider the various perspectives that southern writers have brought to the concept of place and to look at its fate in a national and global context He begins with a revisionist assessment of the Agrarians who failed in their attempts to turn their proprietary ideal of the small farm into actual policy but whose broader rural aesthetic lived on in the work of neo Agrarian writers including William Faulkner and Eudora Welty By the 1950s adherence to this aesthetic was causing southern writers and critics to lose sight of the social reality of a changing South Bone turns to more recent works that do respond to the impact of capitalist spatial development on the South and on the nation generally including that self declared international city Atlanta Close readings of novels by Robert Penn Warren Walker Percy Richard Ford Anne Rivers Siddons Tom Wolfe and Toni Cade Bambara illuminate evolving ideas about capital land labor and class while introducing southern literary studies into wider debates around social cultural and literary geography Bone concludes his remarkably rich book by considering works of Harry Crews and Barbara Kingsolver that suggest the southern sense of place may be not only post Agrarian or postsouthern but also transnational

A Sense of Place and Belonging Klemens Karlsson, 2025-03-15 A Sense of Place and Belonging examines a marginalized society Chiang Tung Keng Tung in the Eastern Shan State of Myanmar between the dominant cultures of the Burmese Chinese and Siamese Thai Chiang Tung sits at the historic borderland known as the Golden Triangle an area marked by drug trade human trafficking and civil war Hiding a glorious literary and visual cultural tradition from the fourteenth century Chiang Tung is remarkable for how well it has maintained its Buddhist culture in the turbulent history of war and forced resettlement that formed northern Southeast Asia Klemens Karlsson examines the connection between the Buddhist traditions the ancient cult of territory spirits a cult of the earth place and village that forms a kind of religious map and the monsoon culture of wet rice irrigation Tying together myths and memories told by local people and written in local chronicles with the unique performance of the Songkran festival which dramatizes a symbolic agreement between Tai Khuen people and the indigenous Lua Lawa people A Sense of Place and Belonging presents a historical political religious and cultural context connecting the present with the past the local with the global and tradition with change and transformation General

Technical Report NE, 1980 Leisure and Sustainability Susan Tirone, Elizabeth Halpenny, 2020-04-28 This book gives voice to a group of leisure scholars who are engaged in conversations about sustainability Beginning with discussions on the relationship between leisure and sustainability and how these concepts are addressed in current literature a case is made for continued investigation of how leisure and sustainability need to be better understood and viewed as integrally linked The book discusses issues related to environmental sustainability how at the local level leisure is considered as a solution to a range of social environmental and economic issues and the value of leisure as an asset for addressing several social sustainability challenges This book was originally published as a special issue of Leisure Loisir Journal of the Canadian Association for Leisure Studies Poetics of Place Dermot McCarthy,1990-12-01 Dermot McCarthy has made extensive use of manuscripts correspondence and other archival material to uncover the complexity and genius of Gustafson s creativity He traces Gustafson s development from an early adolescent romanticism to his later modernist and post modernist approaches and situates this progression in the context of the general shifts in poetic approach and theory which took place during the same period A Poetics of Place surveys not only the life of a poet but the evolution of literary sensibilities from the thirties to the eighties Rather than force Gustafson s work into a theoretical matrix McCarthy has avoided critical jargon and fads of literary theory and has focused on Gustafson as a writer providing a perceptive and detailed analysis of all the major poems and volumes McCarthy shows Gustafson s appreciation of the local his poetics of place to be a distinguishing feature of his genius McCarthy allows the reader to return to the poetry itself A Sense of Place: Regional American Literature ,

Geographies of Rhythm Dr Tim Edensor,2012-11-28 In Rhythmanalysis Henri Lefebvre put forward his ideas on the relationship between time and space particularly how rhythms characterize space Here leading geographers advance and expand on Lefebvre s theories examining how they intersect with current theoretical and political concerns within the social sciences In terms of geography rhythmanalysis highlights tensions between repetition and innovation between the need for consistency and the need for disruption These tensions reveal the ways in which social time is managed to ensure a measure of stability through the instantiation of temporal norms whilst at the same time showing how this is often challenged In looking at the rhythms of geographies and drawing upon a wide range of geographical contexts this book explores the ordering of different rhythms according to four main themes rhythms of nature rhythms of everyday life rhythms of mobility and the official and routine rhythms which superimpose themselves on the multiple rhythms of the body Using Data Science and Landscape Approach to Sustain Historic Cities Ali Moazzeni Khorasgani,2024-09-13 This book comprehensively explores sustaining historic cities using a landscape approach and data science The author offers valuable insights for professionals and enthusiasts interested in preserving and developing urban heritage through a data driven approach Drawing on the synergy between landscape architecture and data science the book delves into the intricate interplay between historical cultural and environmental factors in urban settings Readers will understand how to navigate historic cities complex challenges through case studies research findings and practical methodologies The book equips readers with innovative strategies for preserving the authenticity of these cities while embracing sustainable development practices By blending theory and real world applications this book is a comprehensive guide for creating thriving resilient and culturally

rich urban environments

Mobilities of Self and Place Mahni Dugan, 2019-11-16 When it comes to migration there is no level playing field Some people are privileged advantaged and supported and others are marginalised persecuted and traumatised The extension of the rights and equalities for which many people advocate and provision of other extrinsic conditions are insufficient for wellbeing This work asks what is sufficient What is it that people do and can do to change their experience from suffering to wellbeing when handling challenges of migration and other mobilities What helps people when they are migrating What have migrants experienced and learned that could be useful to others facing challenges of mobility and change How can this learning be applied to promote greater social wellbeing and care of environments in an increasingly mobile world Mobilities of Self and Place documents rich conversations with regular migrants and refugees to critically consider migration history human rights place self and mobilities studies The work explores ontological and epistemological questions of sense of self sense of place identity and agency Mahni Dugan helps us understand how the relationship between sense of place and sense of self affects the ability of migrants to relocate with wellbeing The movement from global to local social to personal intellectual to experiential offers a broad societal understanding of the phenomena and challenges of contemporary mobilities

Rethinking Place Branding Mihalīs Kavaratzīs, Gary Warnaby, Gregory J. Ashworth, 2014-11-25 As Place Branding has become a widely established but contested practice there is a dire need to rethink its theoretical foundations and its contribution to development and to re assert its future This important new book advances understanding of place branding through its holistic critical and evidence based approach Contributions by world leading specialists explore a series of crucially significant issues and demonstrate how place branding will contribute more to cultural economic and social development in the future The theoretical analysis and illustrative practical examples in combination with the accessible style make the book an indispensable reading for anyone involved in the field

Creating a Sense of Place in School Environments Sun-Young Rieh, 2020-04-01 Creating a Sense of Place in School Environments guides its readers to the characteristics that tend to generate a sense of place through children s vivid descriptions of their school and provides a body of critical information that can be employed to design a better school environment that can imprint cherished childhood memories The childhood school environment calls for special attention regarding the sense of place it creates The sense of place in childhood both affects children s current quality of life and frames their lasting world view It is well known that children s cognitive development is closely related to their place attachment to their surroundings and that children s adaptation to a given environment depends on how such place attachment can be created Therefore it is natural that people s identity in the world is the accumulation of their experience of place while in childhood Cross checking between the imprint of adults memories of places in school and children s current lived experience of their favorite school place confirmed that certain spatial configurations which the author herein refers to as place generators can generate positive attributes of physical settings that construct a sense of place and last as lifelong memories It is an ideal read for academics students and professionals
