Separation And Reunion In Modern China:

Separation and Reunion in Modern China Charles Stafford, 2000 Charles Stafford explores the Chinese fascination with separation and reunion based upon his field studies in Taiwan and mainland China. He gives a vivid account of everyday rituals and examines how they help people settle into communities and to explain the passions aroused by the possibility of national culture. Living with Separation in China Charles Stafford, 2003-09-02 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company. Architecture, Ritual and Cosmology in China Xuemei Li, 2023-05-31 Drawing on the author's extensive fieldwork in the Dong areas in southwest China this book presents a detailed picture of the Dong's buildings and techniques with new insights into the Dong's cosmology and rituals of everyday life meshed with the architecture and the symbolic meanings. It examines how the buildings and techniques of the Dong are ordered and influenced by the local culture and context. The timber bridges and drum towers are the Dong's most prominent architectural monuments. Usually built elaborately with multiple roofs these bridges and drum towers were designed and maintained by the local carpenters who also built the village suspended houses in an oral tradition carried down from father to son or to apprentice. They were funded entirely by the local people and the bridges tend to be built in places without great pressure of traffic or another bridge already existing close by. Why does such great expense go into the Dong's buildings with elaboration? How were they built? And what do they mean to their users and builders? This book is an anthropological study on the Dong's architecture and technique and it aims to contribute a discourse on the interdisciplinary research area. It is suitable for graduate and postgraduate readers. Social Media in Rural China Tom McDonald, 2016-09-13 China's distinctive social media platforms have gained notable popularity among the nation's vast number of internet users but has China's countryside been left behind in this communication revolution? Tom McDonald spent 15 months living in a small rural Chinese community researching how the residents use social media in their daily lives. His ethnographic findings suggest that far from being left behind many rural Chinese people have already integrated social media into their everyday experience. Throughout his ground breaking study McDonald argues that social media allows rural people to extend and transform their social relationships by deepening already existing connections with friends known through their school work or village while also experimenting with completely new forms of relationships through online interactions with strangers particularly when looking for love and romance. By juxtaposing these seemingly opposed relations rural social media users are able to use these technologies to understand, capitalise on and challenge the notions of morality that underlie rural life. "Changing Fate" Helena Obendiek, 2016 In this compelling ethnography of the causes and effects of educational desire in an extremely impoverished corner of Gansu province Helena Obendiek pays particular attention to the complex social networks which fund students' education placing them in relations of debt to their home villages and extended families. Her fieldwork took her to these villages to the county high schools and to the urban settings where the educationally successful attempt to land jobs.

Trauma and Transcendence in Early Qing Literature Wilt L. Idema, Wai-yee Li, Ellen Widmer, 2020-03-17 The collapse of the Ming dynasty and the Manchu conquest of China were traumatic experiences for Chinese intellectuals not only because of the many decades of destructive warfare but also because of the adjustments necessary to life under a foreign regime History became a defining subject in their writings and it went on shaping literary production in succeeding generations as the Ming continued to be remembered re imagined and refigured on new terms The twelve chapters in this volume and the introductory essays on early Qing poetry prose and drama understand the writings of this era wholly or in part as attempts to recover from or transcend the trauma of the transition years By the end of the seventeenth century the sense of trauma had diminished and a mood of accommodation had taken hold Varying shades of lament or reconciliation critical or nostalgic retrospection on the Ming and rejection or acceptance of the new order distinguish the many voices in these writings
