Planning Environments For Young Children Physical Space:

Planning Environments for Young Children Sybil Kritchevsky, Elizabeth Prescott, Lee Walling, 1969 Outgrowth of a research project conducted at Pacific Oaks College the report of which was published in 1967 under title Group day care as a child rearing environment by E Prescott and E Jones with S Kritchevsky Thinking Critically about Environments for Young Children Lisa P. Kuh, 2014-06-13 This comprehensive book will help early childhood practitioners consider the why and how of setting up classrooms and other learning spaces to create environments that are most conducive to child development Using a practice based focus and a researcher lens the contributors consider the ways in which environments for children enhance or diminish educational experiences how social constructs about what is good for children influence environmental design and what practitioners can do in their own work when creating learning environments for young children There are copious examples from practice lessons learned and illustrations and photographs of key aspects of the environments they discuss Learning Environments for Young Children Sandra Feinberg, Joan F. Kuchner, Sari Feldman, 1998 The vision of Learning Environments for Young Children Rethinking Library Spaces and Services is about learning families and community where the public library presents a community based educational setting in which librarians serve as educators guides coaches and facilitators of lifelong active learning access for children to enriching satisfying and developmentally appropriate resources and learning opportunities diverse collections programs and technical resources for young children and the adults in their lives programs and resources that encourage children s focused participation creativity critical thinking cooperation and problem solving and a nonjudgmental integrated and interdisciplinary approach to lifelong learning developing the whole person child or adult Included in Learning Environments for Young Children are field tested measuring instruments that you and your staff can use to conduct a qualitative assessment of your library s children s services These ready to use forms will help you collect information that will highlight the importance of early childhood services in presentations to funding sources trustees and other key stakeholders Professional Practice in Facility Programming (Routledge Revivals) Wolfgang Preiser, 2015-06-11 This compelling resource which was first published in 1993 was the first book on facility programming to design parameters and specifications over a broad range of project types The book s practical how to approach is exceedingly beneficial to professionals and students involved with a wide variety of building types from corporate facilities to parks day care centres health centres and correctional facilities It also covers the fine points of working with clients The contributors provide real world case studies endowing the reader with the tools necessary to reap a deeper understanding and a more critical assessment of the major programming approaches today Professional Practice in Facility Programming is a uniquely current self contained resource that will prove invaluable to a wide cross section of practitioners and students The Physical Environment and Behavior Joachim F. Wohlwill, Gerald D. Weisman, 2012-12-06 The field of Environment and Behavior This bibliography is aimed at the researcher and advanced student working in the field of environmental psychology as it has come to be designated over the past decade. A more appropriate term might be environment behavior studies to suggest the important characteristic of this field as one that transcends the province of the psychologist and brings together workers as well as problems, methods and concepts from a great diversity of disciplines and professional fields. Among these we may include geography and sociology, architecture, landscape architecture and planning, forestry, natural resource management and leisure and recreation research to name only the most important of the diverse fields from which material for this bibliography has been drawn. This is in fact one of the primary reasons for our belief in the value of such a volume. The literature in the environment behavior field is scattered through the most diverse sources including not only the major periodical and monographic literature in each of the above mentioned disciplines and professions and others as well but also a variety of more specialized publications of varying degrees of accessibility. Thus it seemed to us helpful to the researcher, teacher and student in this area to bring this far flung literature together in a single volume that might be used as a guide to the field. We aimed at a comprehensive treatment including both basic and applied aspects and relations of behavior both to the man made or artificial and to the natural environment.

Planning Environment for Young Children Sybil Kritchevsky, Elizabeth Prescott, 1977 Managing Military Child Care Centers, 1982 Director's Manual for the Child Guidance Series and Child Environment Series, 1982

Creating Child Friendly Cities Brendan Gleeson, Neil Sipe, 2006-11-22 First Published in 2006. Leading planning and geography authors present this comprehensive assessment of the extent to which the physical and social make up of Western cities accommodates and nourishes the needs of children and youth. Examining the areas of planning, design, social policy, transport and housing, Creating Child Friendly Cities outlines strengths and deficiencies in the processes that govern urban development and change from the perspective of children and youth. Issues explored include children's view of the city and why this is unique, the obesity epidemic, is it caused by cities, the journey to school and children's transport needs generally. With illustrations and case studies, Creating Child Friendly Cities presents planning professionals with a solid case for child friendly cities and an action plan to create places for children to play.

Explorations with Young Children Anne W. Mitchell, Judy David, 1992. From the Bank Street College an approach to designing a curriculum which meets children's needs.
