Planning the Family in Egypt Kamran Asdar Ali, 2002-08-15 Publisher Fact Sheet This study of family planning programs in Egypt is a model for the study of social programs in developing countries

Planning the Family in Egypt Kamran Asdar Ali, 2013-11-06 In this ethnographic study the author examines the policies and practices of family planning programs in Egypt to see how an elitist Western informed state attempts to create obliging citizens The state sees voluntary compliance with the law for the common good as the cornerstone of modernity Family planning programs are a training ground for the construction of self disciplined individuals and thus a rewarding area of study for the fate of social programs in developing countries Through a careful examination of state endorsed family planning practices in urban and rural contexts the author shows us the pervasive high pressure persuasion of women who are encouraged to think as individual decision makers of their immediate families and their national interests But what of the other forces at work in these women s lives binding them to their extended families and to their religious identities And what of the laws that allow for polygamy and discriminate against women in marriage inheritance and as part of the workforce These forces operate against the received wisdom of the state Is the Muslim community thought to end at the borders of Egypt What about local constructions of masculinity when the state appeals to wives to decide for themselves How does widespread labor migration to foreign countries affect attitudes toward family planning How is female contraception viewed by the Islamic Brotherhood and other modern Muslim groups This book questions much that we have taken for granted and gives us grounds for reexamining our assumptions about family planning and the individual and state in developing countries such as Egypt

The I.B. Tauris Handbook of Sociology and the Middle East Fatma Müge Göçek, Gamze Evcimen, 2022-11-17 What we understand by the Middle East has changed over time and across space While scholars agree that the geographical core of the Middle East is the Arabian Peninsula the boundaries are less clear How far back in time should we go to define the Middle East How far south and east should we move on the African continent And how do we deal with the minority religions in the region and those who migrate to the West Across this handbook s 52 chapters the leading sociologists writing on the Middle East share their standpoint on these questions Taking the featured scholars as constitutive of the field the handbook reshapes studies on the region by piecing together our knowledge on the Middle East from their path defining contributions The volume is divided into four parts covering sociologists perspectives on Social transformations and social conflict from Israel Palestine and the Iranian Revolution to the Arab Uprisings and the Syrian War The region s economic religious and political activities including the impact of the spread of Western modernity the effects of neo liberalism and how Islam shapes the region s life and politics People s everyday practices as they have shaped our understanding of culture consumption gender and sexuality The diasporas from the Middle East in Europe and North America which put the Middle East in dialogue with other regions of the world The global approach and wide ranging topics represent how sociologists enable us to redefine the boundaries and identities of the Middle East today Reconceiving the Second Sex Marcia C. Inhorn, 2009 Extensive social science research particularly by anthropologists has explored women's reproductive lives their use of reproductive technologies and their experiences as mothers and nurturers of children Meanwhile few if any volumes have explored men's reproductive concerns or contributions to women's reproductive health Men are clearly viewed as the second sex in reproduction This volume argues that the marginalization of men is an oversight of considerable proportions and thereby seeks to break the silence surrounding men's thoughts experiences and feelings about their reproductive lives It sheds new light on male reproduction from a cross cultural global perspective focusing not only upon men in Europe and America but also those in the Middle East Asia and Latin America Both heterosexual and homosexual married and unmarried men are featured in this volume which assesses concerns ranging from masculinity and sexuality to childbirth and fatherhood Thus men are brought back into the equation as reproductive partners progenitors fathers nurturers and decision makers Long 1890s in Egypt Marilyn Booth, 2014-07-28 Egypt just before political eruption Turns of the century in Africa's northeastern corner have been critical moments ushering in overt popular activism in the hope of radical political redirection as this volume's focus on Egypt's 19th century fin de siècle demonstrates The end of the 19th century in Egypt witnessed crisscrossing and conflicting political currents as well as fluctuating economic geopolitical social conditions demographic conditions and cultural processes Like Egypt's 20th century fin de siècle much of this ferment was a prelude to the more visible and politically eruptive events of the next decades when Egypt's popular resistance burst onto the international scene But its subterranean cast was no less dynamic for that Revolutionary Womanhood Laura Bier, 2011-08-24 Laura Bier unpacks the complicated dynamics and legacy of an historical moment in which women were understood to be crucial to modern nation building Lila Abu Lughod author of Do Muslim Women Need Saving The first major historical account of gender politics during the Nasser era Revolutionary Womanhood analyzes feminism as a system of ideas and political practices international in origin but local in iteration Drawing connections between the secular nationalist projects that emerged in the 1950s and the gender politics of Islamism today Laura Bier reveals how discussions about education companionate marriage and enlightened motherhood as well as veiling work and other means of claiming public space created opportunities to reconsider the relationship between modernity state feminism and postcolonial state building Bier highlights attempts by political elites under Nasser to transform Egyptian women into national subjects These attempts to fashion a new yet authentically Egyptian woman both enabled and constrained women's notions of gender liberation and agency Ultimately Bier challenges the common assumption that these emerging feminisms were somehow not culturally or religiously authentic and details their lasting impact on Egyptian womanhood today Addresses a major void in the historical literature on Egypt Showing how gendered politics proved central to Nasserist attempts to modernize the book broadens our understanding of state feminism secularism and the postcolonial period A very welcome addition the work combines theoretical sophistication with rich

Foster,2017-07-25 From Viagra to in vitro fertilization new technologies are rapidly changing the global face of reproductive health They are far from neutral religious cultural social and legal contexts condition their global transfer The way a society interprets and adopts or rejects a new technology reveals a great deal about the relationship between bodies and the body politic Reproductive health technologies are often particularly controversial because of their potential to reconfigure kinship relationships sexual mores gender roles and the way life is conceptualized This collection of original ethnographic research spans the region from Morocco and Tunisia to Israel and Iran and covers a wide range of technologies including emergency contraception medication abortion gamete donation hymenoplasty erectile dysfunction and gender transformation Gendered Paradoxes Fida J. Adely,2012-08-28 In 2005 the World Bank released a gender assessment of the nation of Jordan a country that like many in the Middle East has undergone dramatic social and gender transformations in part by encouraging equal access to education for men and women The resulting demographic picture there highly educated women who still largely stay at home as mothers and caregivers prompted the World Bank to label Jordan a gender paradox In Gendered Paradoxes Fida J Adely shows that assessment to be a fallacy taking readers into the rarely seen halls of a Jordanian public school the al Khatwa High School for Girls and revealing the dynamic lives of its students for whom such trends are far from paradoxical Through the lives of these students Adely explores the critical issues young people in Jordan grapple with today nationalism and national identity faith and the requisites of pious living appropriate and respectable gender roles and progress In the process she shows the important place of education in Jordan one less tied to the economic ends of labor and employment that are so emphasized by the rest of the developed world In showcasing alternative values and the highly capable young women who hold them Adely raises fundamental questions about what constitutes development progress and empowerment not just for Jordanians but for the whole world Interpreting the Middle East David Sorenson,2018-04-19 Contemporary approaches to comparative studies of the Middle East increasingly recognize how globalization and regional mass communication have blurred differences across countries Populations travel across national borders and compare narratives about political change economic futures and the role of the outside world in shaping their lives Organized by five principal themes of a regional overview politics economic development social context and international issues Interpreting the Middle East provides a vibrant introduction to the Middle East that is compatible with this regionalist perspective Invited authorities contribute insightful and accessible original discussions of central headline fresh issues such as the aftermath of the Iraq war Iran s regional ambitions developments in the Israeli Palestinian conflict and the global politics of Middle East oil gender and religion Section introductions by the editor integrate the contributions and suggested readings a glossary and a biographical

Haghighat-Sordellini, 2010-08-18 This book explores the complexity of women s social status in the Middle East and North African region and fills a gap in the existing literature by providing an up to date and comprehensive portrait of women s status from a theoretical and socio demographic perspective Consuming Desires Frances Hasso, 2011 Consuming Desires examines new forms of marriage emerging in Egypt and the United Arab Emirates in reaction in part to the governments increasing attempts to control sexuality with shari a law Dramas of Nationhood Lila Abu-Lughod, 2008-05-30 How do people come to think of themselves as part of a nation Dramas of Nationhood identifies a fantastic cultural form that binds together the Egyptian nation television serials These melodramatic programs like soap operas but more closely tied to political and social issues than their Western counterparts have been shown on television in Egypt for more than thirty years In this book Lila Abu Lughod examines the shifting politics of these serials and the way their contents both reflect and seek to direct the changing course of Islam gender relations and everyday life in this Middle Eastern nation Representing a decade s worth of research Dramas of Nationhood makes a case for the importance of studying television to answer larger questions about culture power and modern self fashionings Abu Lughod explores the elements of developmentalist ideology and the visions of national progress that once dominated Egyptian television now experiencing a crisis She discusses the broadcasts in rich detail from the generic emotional qualities of TV serials and the depictions of authentic national culture to the debates inflamed by their deliberate strategies for combating religious extremism Reproductive Restraints Sanjam Ahluwalia, 2010-10-01 Reproductive Restraints traces the history of contraception use and population management in colonial India while illuminating its connection to contemporary debates in India and birth control movements in Great Britain and the United States Sanjam Ahluwalia draws attention to the interactive and relational history of Indian birth control by including western activists such as Margaret Sanger and Marie Stopes alongside important Indian campaigners In revealing the elitist politics of middle class feminists Indian nationalists western activists colonial authorities and the medical establishment Ahluwalia finds that they all sought to rationalize procreation and regulate women while invoking competing notions of freedom femininity and family Ahluwalia s remarkable interviews with practicing midwives in rural northern India fills a gaping void in the documentary history of birth control and shows that the movement has had little appeal to non elite groups in India Finding that Jaunpuri women s reproductive decisions are bound to their emotional cultural and economic reliance on family and community Ahluwalia presents the limitations of universal liberal feminist categories which often do not consider differences among localized subjects She argues that elitist birth control efforts failed to account for Indian women s values and needs and have worked to restrict reproductive rights rather than liberate subaltern Indian women since colonial times
