Plantations, Proletarians, and Peasants in Colonial Asia E. Valentine Daniel, Henry Bernstein, Tom Brass, 1992 First Published in 1993 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Plantations, Proletarians and Peasants in Colonial Asia E. Valentine Daniel, Henry Bernstein, Tom Brass, 1992 Special issue on plantations, proletarians and peasants in Colonial Asia E. Valentine Daniel, 1992 In the Shadows of the Tropics James S. Duncan, 2016-05-23 In this original work James Duncan explores the transformation of Ceylon during the mid nineteenth century into one of the most important coffee growing regions of the world and investigates the consequent ecological disaster which erased coffee from the island Using this fascinating case study by way of illustration In the Shadows of the Tropics reveals the spatial unevenness and fragmentation of modernity through a focus on modern governmentality and biopower It argues that the practices of colonial power and the differences that race and tropical climates were thought to make were central to the working out of modern governmental rationalities In this context the usefulness of Foucault's notions of biopower discipline and governmentality are examined The work contributes an important rural focus to current work on studies of governmentality in geography and offers a welcome non state dimension by considering the role of the plantation economy and individual capitalists in the lives and deaths of labourers the destabilization of subsistence farming and the aggressive re territorialization of populations from India to Ceylon Plantations, Peasants and Proletarians in Colonial Asia E. Valentine Daniel, Henry Bernstein, Tom Brass, 1992 Women Plantation Workers Shobita Jain, Rhoda Reddock, 2020-08-25 This pioneering collection of essays brings together a description and analysis of women workers and the socio economic systems of plantations world wide The plantation remains a formidable force in many areas of the world and new trends towards tree farming call for further examination of its agriculture Women have in the past constituted a considerable percentage of the work force in this milieu and continue to do so Using specific case studies of historical and contemporary plantations an account is given of the history of female labour focusing on the colonial and post colonial eras The essays examine reasons for women's degraded status and emphasize in particular issues relating to migrant workers The gradual move away from traditional family roles is to some extent reflected in variations in the position of the female plantation worker However where inequalities in class and status continue to characterize plantation life capitalist and patriarchal control prevails Both chilling and bracing the sufferings of plantation labourers may seem remote to most of us but they are still very much part of the contemporary world Providing a close insight into the lives of the female protagonists these essays have given an opportunity for their stories to be heard Revisiting Colonialism and Colonial Labour Sivachandralingam Sundara Raja, Shivalingam Raymond, 2023-07-31 This book argues that the prevailing view of colonialism that it was a negative and destructive phenomenon needs to be rethought It focuses on the experiences of the South Indian working class large numbers of which came to Malaya in the early years of the twentieth century emigrating from socially economically and environmentally inhospitable south India It examines the opportunities which colonialism presented for these people highlighting also the British approach to colonialism in Malaya an approach which emphasised conservatism and tradition and which protected the interests of the Malay aristocrat classes and by extension the Malay masses in order to compensate for European economic dominance and the influx of a non Malay labour force Overall the book demonstrates that the South Indians a class whose identity social existence and prospects were inextricably linked to imperial processes benefitted from colonialism and should be viewed as an active transnational entity within a constructive system rather than as passive victims of repressive destructive forces

Slavery, Abolitionism and Empire in India, 1772-1843 Andrea Major, 2012-01-01 In Slavery Abolitionism and Empire in India 1772 1843 Andrea Major asks why at a time when the East India Company's expansion in India British abolitionism and the missionary movement were all at their height was the existence of slavery in India so often ignored denied or excused By exploring Britain's ambivalent relationship with both real and imagined slaveries in India and the official evangelical and popular discourses that surrounded them she seeks to uncover the various political economic and ideological agendas that allowed East Indian slavery to be represented as qualitatively different from its transatlantic counterpart

Late Victorian Holocausts Mike Davis, 2002-06-17 This global environmental and political history will redefine the way we think about the European colonial project Observer sets the triumph of the late 19th century Western imperialism in the context of catastrophic El Niño weather patterns at that time groundbreaking mind stretching The Independent Examining a series of El Niño induced droughts and the famines that they spawned around the globe in the last third of the 19th century Mike Davis discloses the intimate baleful relationship between imperial arrogance and natural incident that combined to produce some of the worst tragedies in human history Late Victorian Holocausts focuses on three zones of drought and subsequent famine India Northern China and Northeastern Brazil All were affected by the same global climatic factors that caused massive crop failures and all experienced brutal famines that decimated local populations But the effects of drought were magnified in each case because of singularly destructive policies promulgated by different ruling elites Davis argues that the seeds of underdevelopment in what later became known as the Third World were sown in this era of High Imperialism as the price for capitalist modernization was paid in the currency of millions of peasants' lives

Shifting Cultivation Policies Malcolm Cairns, 2017-11-13 Shifting cultivation supports around 200 million people in the Asia Pacific region alone It is often regarded as a primitive and inefficient form of agriculture that destroys forests causes soil erosion and robs lowland areas of water These misconceptions and their policy implications need to be challenged Swidden farming could support carbon sequestration and conservation of land biodiversity and cultural heritage This comprehensive analysis of past and present policy highlights successes and failures and emphasizes the importance of getting it right for the future This book is enhanced with supplementary resources The addendum chapters can be found at www.cabi.org/openresources 91797
