Martin LEAN, 1953](#) [Sense-perception and Matter, a Critical Analysis of C. D. Broad's Theory of Perception, by Martin Lean... \[A Dissertation.\]. Martin Lean, 1953](#) Sense-Perception and Matter Lean Martin, Martin Lean, Martin, 2014-12 First published in 1999 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Sensory Perception Friedrich G. Barth, Patrizia Giampieri-Deutsch, Hans-Dieter Klein, 2012-10-13 Sensory perception mind and matter aims at a deeper understanding of the many facets of sensory perception and their relations to brain function and cognition It is an attempt to promote the interdisciplinary discourse between the neurosciences and psychology which speaks the language of cognitive experiences and philosophy which has been thinking about the meaning and origin of consciousness since its beginning Leading experts contribute to such a discourse by informing the reader about exciting modern developments both technical and conceptual and by pointing to the big gaps still to be bridged The various chapters provide access to scientific research on sensory perception and the mind from a broad perspective covering a large spectrum of topics which range from the molecular mechanisms at work in sensory cells to the study of the unconscious and to neurophilosophy Sense Without Matter Or Direct Perception Arthur Aston Luce, 1954 Forms and Concepts Christoph Helmig, 2012-12-19 Forms and Concepts is the first comprehensive study of the central role of concepts and concept acquisition in the Platonic tradition It sets up a stimulating dialogue between Plato's innatist approach and Aristotle's much more empirical response The primary aim is to analyze and assess the strategies with which Platonists responded to Aristotle's and Alexander of Aphrodisias' rival theory The monograph culminates in a careful reconstruction of the elaborate attempt undertaken by the Neoplatonist Proclus 6th century AD to devise a systematic Platonic theory of concept acquisition Intentionality in Mulla Sadra Sümeyye Parıldar, 2020-03-11 This volume translates Brentano's intentionality into medieval psychological and ontological discussions through Sadrian theories of sense perception and mental existence Applying a new methodology it reframes various parts of Sadrian theory around the problem of intentionality which results in a refreshed reading of the philosopher

Mulla Sadra The book starts out by defining intentionality problem and discussing the historiography of Brentano's conceptualization. It examines immateriality, content and aboutness and sense perception. In its conclusion, the book claims that intentionality in Mulla Sadra combines ontological and psychological realities and that as a result of Sadrian monism, the intentional object, the agent and the reality are different versions of the same reality. The Senses and the History of Philosophy Brian Glenney, José Silva, 2019-02-21. The study of perception and the role of the senses have recently risen to prominence in philosophy and are now a major area of study and research. However, the philosophical history of the senses remains a relatively neglected subject. Moving beyond the current philosophical canon, this outstanding collection offers a wide-ranging and diverse philosophical exploration of the senses from the classical period to the present day. Written by a team of international contributors, it is divided into six parts: Perception from Non-Western Perspectives, Perception in the Ancient Period, Perception in the Medieval Latin/Arabic Period, Perception in the Early Modern Period, Perception in the Post-Kantian Period, and Perception in the Contemporary Period. The volume challenges conventional philosophical study of perception by covering a wide range of significant as well as hitherto overlooked topics such as perceptual judgment, temporal and motion illusions, mirror and picture perception, animal senses, and cross-modal integration. By investigating the history of the senses in thinkers such as Plotinus, Auriol, Berkeley, and Cavendish, and considering the history of the senses in diverse philosophical traditions including Chinese, Indian, Byzantine, Greek, and Latin, it brings a fresh approach to studying the history of philosophy itself. Including a thorough introduction as well as introductions to each section by the editors, The Senses and the History of Philosophy is essential reading for students and researchers in the history of philosophy, perception, philosophy of mind, philosophical psychology, aesthetics, and eastern and non-western philosophy. It will also be extremely useful for those in related disciplines such as psychology, religion, sociology, intellectual history, and cognitive sciences. The Journal of Philosophy, Psychology and Scientific Methods, 1915. The Journal of Philosophy, 1915. Covers topics in philosophy, psychology, and scientific methods. Vols 31 include A Bibliography of philosophy 1933. God and Nature G. K. Stout, 2012-03-22. The second of two volumes based on the Gifford Lectures delivered at the University of Edinburgh in 1919 and 1921. This 1931 text provides a philosophical discussion of the nature and limits of knowledge, examining the relationship between mind and the conception of a universal truth. Philosophy and Psychology Pamphlets, 1923. Pragmatic Elements in Kant's Philosophy Charles Edgar Witter, 1913. Mental Science Edward John Hamilton, 1886. Mental Science therefore is now offered as an educational manual and as a compend for the reading of those who would inform themselves respecting the doctrines of an earnest philosophy without entering upon non-essential details. The majority of the discussions have been not merely abridged but simplified; a considerable number have been entirely re-written. Some chapters too, which are devoted to logical questions and which may prove serviceable in connection with some future effort, have been omitted. It has however been the aim to present a true theory of every normal activity of the intellect. Preface.
