Lands Virginia Scharff, Carolyn Brucken, 2010-05-18 The storybook history of the American West is a male dominated narrative of drifters dreamers hucksters and heroes a tale that relegates women assuming they appear at all to the distant background Home Lands How Women Made the West upends this view to remember the West as a place of homes and habitations brought into being by the women who lived there Virginia Scharff and Carolyn Brucken consider history's long span as they explore the ways in which women encountered and transformed three different archetypal Western landscapes the Rio Arriba of northern New Mexico the Front Range of Colorado and the Puget Sound waterscape This beautiful book companion volume to the Autry National Center's pathbreaking exhibit is a brilliant aggregate of women's history the history of the American West and studies in material culture While linking each of these places peoples to one another over hundreds even thousands of years Home Lands vividly reimagines the West as a setting in which home has been created out of differing notions of dwelling and family and differing concepts of property community and history Copub Autry National Center of the American West     The Pacific Region Jan Goggans,Aaron DiFranco,2004-12-30 Robert Penn Warren once wrote West is where we all plan to go some day and indeed images of the westernmost United States provide a mythic horizon to American cultural landscape While the five states California Oregon Washington Alaska and Hawai i which touch Pacific waters do share commonalities within the history of westward expansion the peoples who settled the region and the indigenous peoples they encountered have created spheres of culture that defy simple categorization This wide ranging reference volume explores the marvelously eclectic cultures that define the Pacific region From the music and fashion of the Pacific northwest to the film industry and surfing subcultures of southern California from the vast expanses of the Alaskan wilderness to the schisms between native and tourist culture in Hawa ii this unprecedented reference provides a detailed and fascinating look at American regionalism along the Pacific Rim The Greenwood Encyclopedia of American Regional Cultures is the first rigorous reference collection on the many ways in which American identity has been defined by its regions and its people Each of its eight regional volumes presents thoroughly researched narrative chapters on Architecture Art Ecology Ethnicity Fashion Film Folklore Food Language Literature Music Religion and Sports Recreation Each book also includes a volume specific introduction as well as a series foreword by noted regional scholar and former National Endowment for the Humanities Chairman William Ferris who served as consulting editor for this encyclopedia     Restoring Women's History Through Historic Preservation Gail Lee Dubrow,Jennifer B. Goodman,2003-01-28 This essay collection draws upon work presented at three national conferences on women and historic preservation held at Bryn Mawr College in 1994 Arizona State University in 1997 and at Mount Vernon College in 2000     Commemoration in America David Gobel,Daves Rossell,2013-09-03 Commemoration lies at the poetic historiographic and social heart of human community It is how societies define themselves and is central to the institution of the city Addressing the complex ways that monuments in the United States have been imagined created and perceived from the colonial period to the present Commemoration in America is a wide ranging volume that focuses on the role of remembrance and memorialization in American urban life The volume s contributors are drawn from a spectrum of disciplines social and urban history urban planning architecture art history preservation and architectural history and take a broad view of commemoration In addition to the making of traditional monuments the essays explore such commemorative acts as building preservation biography portraiture ritual performance street naming and the planting of trees Providing an overview of American memorialization and the impulses behind it Commemoration in America emphasizes a universal tendency for individuals and groups to use monuments to define their contemporary social identity and to construct historical narratives The volume shows that while commemorative acts and objects affect the community in fundamental ways their meaning is always multivalent and conflicted attesting to both triumphs and tragedies Constituting a vital part of both individual and national identity commemoration s contradictions strike at the core of American identity and speak to the importance of remembrance in the construction of our diverse national cultural landscape Contributors Jhennifer A Amundson Judson University Catherine W Bishir North Carolina State University Libraries Thomas J Campanella University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Glenn T Eskew Georgia State University Glenn Forley Parsons The New School for Design Sally Greene University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Alison K Hoagland Michigan Technological University Lynne Horiuchi University of California Berkeley Ellen M Litwicki SUNY Fredonia David Lowenthal University College London Mark A Peterson University of California Berkeley Richard M Sommer University of Toronto Dell Upton University of California Los Angeles      Dispatches from Dystopia Kate

Brown,2015-05-01 Why are Kazakhstan and Montana the same place asks one chapter of Kate Brown s surprising and unusual journey into the histories of places on the margins overlooked or erased It turns out that a ruined mining town in Kazakhstan and Butte Montana America s largest environmental Superfund site have much more in common than one would think thanks to similarities in climate hucksterism and the perseverance of their few hardy inhabitants Taking readers to these and other unlikely locales Dispatches from Dystopia delves into the very human and sometimes very fraught ways we come to understand a particular place its people and its history In Dispatches from Dystopia Brown wanders the Chernobyl Zone of Alienation first on the Internet and then in person to figure out which version the real or the virtual is the actual forgery She also takes us to the basement of a hotel in Seattle to examine the personal possessions left in storage by Japanese Americans on their way to internment camps in 1942 In Uman Ukraine we hide with Brown in a tree in order to witness the annual male only Rosh Hashanah celebration of Hasidic Jews In the Russian southern Urals she speaks with the citizens of the small city of Kyshtym where invisible radioactive pollutants have mysteriously blighted lives Finally Brown returns home to Elgin Illinois in the midwestern industrial rust belt to investigate the rise of rustalgia and the ways her formative experiences have inspired her obsession with modernist wastelands Dispatches from Dystopia powerfully and movingly narrates the histories of locales that have been silenced broken or contaminated In telling these previously unknown stories Brown examines the making and unmaking of place and the lives of the people who remain in the fragile landscapes that are left behind      Planning and LGBTQ Communities Petra L. Doan,2015-03-24

Although the last decade has seen steady progress towards wider acceptance of lesbian gay bisexual transgendered and queer LGBTQ individuals LGBTQ residential and commercial areas have come under increasing pressure from gentrification and redevelopment initiatives As a result many of these neighborhoods are losing their special character as safe havens for sexual and gender minorities Urban planners and municipal officials have sometimes ignored the transformation of these neighborhoods and at other times been complicit in these changes Planning and LGBTQ Communities brings together experienced planners administrators and researchers in the fields of planning and geography to reflect on the evolution of urban neighborhoods in which LGBTQ populations live work and play The authors examine a variety of LGBTQ residential and commercial areas to highlight policy and planning links to the development of these neighborhoods Each chapter explores a particular urban context and asks how the field of planning has enabled facilitated and or neglected the specialized and diverse needs of the LGBTQ population A central theme of this book is that urban planners need to think beyond queer space because LGBTQ populations are more diverse and dispersed than the white gay male populations that created many of the most visible gayborhoods The authors provide practical guidance for cities and citizens seeking to strengthen neighborhoods that have an explicit LGBTQ focus as well as other areas that are LGBTQ friendly They also encourage broader awareness of the needs of this marginalized population and the need to establish more formal linkages between municipal government and a range of LGBTQ groups Planning and LGBTQ Communities also adds useful material for graduate level courses in planning theory urban and regional theory planning for multicultural cities urban geography and geographies of gender and sexuality
