
"At a time when the separation doctrine is under increasing attack for promoting political deadlock, AEI is to be commended for making available a series of essays that explore the doctrine's historical and theoretical roots. . . . A rich, thoughtful contribution to a central constitutional dilemma."

LOUIS FISHER
Specialist in American Government
Congressional Research Service

"The information and analyses in these eight insightful, penetrating essays are a resource of immense value for those who would debate that question."

JAMES L. SUNDQUIST
Senior Fellow Emeritus
The Brookings Institution

Separation of Powers— Does It Still Work?

Robert A. Goldwin and Art Kaufman, editors

Does the separation of powers still work? How can we judge whether it is working? Is it true that the policies of the parliamentary democracies are wiser and their implementation more effective than ours? How much must we be guided by two-hundred-year old intentions?

The editors selected spokesmen as authoritative, thoughtful, and instructive as could be found to give the reader a wide range of views on these questions. The authors are Lloyd N. Cutler, Charles M. Hardin, James Q. Wilson, L. Peter Schultz, Donald L. Robinson, Ann Stuart Anderson, William B. Gwyn, and James W. Ceaser.

This book is the fourth in a series in AEI's project "A Decade of Study of the Constitution." The first three books, all edited by Robert A. Goldwin and William A. Schambra, are How Democratic Is the Constitution? How Capitalistic Is the Constitution? and How Does the Constitution Secure Rights?
