Setting Domestic Priorities What Can Government Do:

Setting Domestic Priorities Henry Aaron, Charles L. Schultze, 2010-12-01 In recent years workers earnings have hardly grown violence and crime have plagued the inner cities homelessness and public begging have become commonplace and family life has greatly deteriorated With governments facing large deficits and slowly growing revenues and public distrust in the efficiency of government and elected officials at all time highs the authors ask What can government do for you This book brings together a prominent group of experts to answer this critical question Edited by Henry Aaron and Charles L Schultze two of the nation s most noted and experienced economists the book focuses on the crucial domestic and social issues confronting America today Seven vital areas are discussed by the following contributors Henry Aaron on health care Gordon L Berlin and William McAllister on homelessness Linda R Cohen and Roger G Noll on research and development John J DiIulio Jr on crime Frank Levy and Richard J Murnane on education and training Isabel V Sawhill on children and families and Clifford M Winston and Barry P Bosworth on infrastructure In each problem area the authors use the results of research and analysis to identify existing or proposed governmental interventions that are likely to work as well as some that are likely to fail and some that need to be reformed They then present a budget proposal that not only pays for suggested changes in domestic policy but brings the budget into virtual balance in ten years Forum for Applied Research and Public Policy, 1994 Performance Measures for the Criminal Justice System James Q. Making Schools Work Eric A. Hanushek, 2010-12-01 Educational reform is a big business in the United States Parents educators and policymakers generally agree that something must be done to improve schools but the consensus ends there The myriad of reform documents and policy discussions that have appeared over the past decade have not helped to pinpoint exactly what should be done The case for investment in education is an economic one schooling improves the productivity and earnings of individuals and promotes stronger economic growth and better functioning of society Recent trends in schooling have however lessened the value of society's investments as costs have risen dramatically while student performance has stayed flat or even fallen The task is to improve performance while controlling costs This book is the culmination of extensive discussions among a panel of economists led by Eric Hanushek They conclude that economic considerations have been entirely absent from the development of educational policies and that economic reality is sorely needed in discussions of new policies The book outlines an improvement plan that emphasizes changing incentives in schools and gathering information about effective approaches Available research and analysis demonstrates that current central decisionmaking has worked poorly Concentrating on inputs such as pupil teacher ratios or teacher graduate degrees appears quite inferior to systems that directly reward performance Nonetheless since experience with such alternatives is very limited a program of extensive evaluation appears to be in order Attempts to institute radical change on the basis of currently available information involve substantial risks of failure Many people today find proposals such as charter schools expanded use of merit pay or educational vouchers to be appealing Yet there is little evidence of their effectiveness and widespread adoption of these proposals is sure to run into substantial problems of im

Homelessness in New York City Thomas J. Main, 2016-07-28 Can American cities respond effectively to pressing social problems Or as many scholars have claimed are urban politics so mired in stasis gridlock and bureaucratic paralysis that dramatic policy change is impossible Homelessness in New York City tells the remarkable story of how America's largest city has struggled for more than thirty years to meet the crisis of modern homelessness through the landmark development since the initiation of the Callahan v Carey litigation in 1979 of a municipal shelter system based on a court enforced right to shelter New York City now shelters more than 50 000 otherwise homeless people at an annual cost of more than 1 billion in the largest and most complex shelter system in the world Establishing the right to shelter was a dramatic break with long established practice Developing and managing the shelter system required the city to repeatedly overcome daunting challenges from dealing with mentally ill street dwellers to confronting community opposition to shelter placement In the course of these efforts many classic dilemmas in social policy and public administration arose Does adequate provision for the poor create perverse incentives Can courts manage recalcitrant bureaucracies Is poverty rooted in economic structures or personal behavior The tale of how five mayors Koch Dinkins Giuliani Bloomberg and de Blasio have wrestled with these problems is one of caution and hope the task is difficult and success is never unqualified but positive change is possible Homelessness in New York City tells the remarkable story of what happened for good and sometimes less good when New York established the right to shelter

Transition Series United States. General Accounting Office,1992 Knowledge Capitalism Nico Stehr,2022-06-01 In his newest book Stehr builds on his classic book Knowledge Societies 1994 to expand the concept toward one of knowledge capitalism for a now much changed era It is not only because of the onset of the Covid 19 pandemic that we are living in a new epoch it is the idea that modern societies increasingly constitute comprehensive knowledge societies under intensive capitalism whereby the legal encoding of knowledge through national and international law is the lever that enables the transformation of the knowledge society into knowledge capitalism The Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights agreement negotiated between 1986 and 1994 as part of the World Trade Organization is the backbone of the modern society
