Sex And The Single Mother Romance And Relationships In The Eighties:

Sex and the Single Mother Dawn B. Sova,1987 Love Your Neighbor and Yourself Elliot N. Dorff,2006-02-15 In this topically relevant book on modern ethical issues Dorff focuses on personal ethics Judaism's distinctive way of understanding human nature our role in life and what we should strive to be both as individuals and as members of a community Dorff addresses specific moral issues that affect our personal lives privacy particularly at work as it is affected by the Internet and other modern technologies sex in and outside of marriage family matters such as adoption surrogate motherhood stepfamilies divorce parenting and family violence homosexuality justice mercy and forgiveness and charitable acts and social action New Books on Women and Feminism ,1988 Sex, Love, and Marriage in the 21st Century Robert T. Francoeur,Martha Cornog,Timothy Perper,1999 Love sex and marriage are changing faster than ever before in human history The current tidal wave of social changes will continue into the next century and we will have to adapt our sexual values and relationships to these accelerating changes These 22 honest authentic stories tell of the unconventional paths pioneering church leaders and spiritually aware women and men have taken in their quest to link their sexuality with their spiritual needs Some might see in these unorthodox explorations only tales of promiscuous couplings But these are not stories of wild thrill seekers These are tales told from the core of their being about their deeply felt need for genuine responsible love and intimacy within a spiritual context Their journeys do not promise paradise or instant happiness as popular magazines do with recipes for lifelong marital bliss and fiery passion These sojourners have much to teach us even when we decide that this or that path is not for us Their individual paths are not nearly as important as the simple message of God and Eros being inseparable that underlies journey God and Eros can come together in many different relationships And they must come together if we want to nourish and fulfill the divine spark at the core of our being These women and men challenge our assumptions and our willingness to adapt to our radically changing world Labor of Love Heather Jacobson,2016-03-15 While the practice of surrogacy has existed for millennia new fertility technologies have allowed women to act as gestational surrogates carrying children that are not genetically their own While some women volunteer to act as gestational surrogates for friends or family members others get paid for performing this service The first ethnographic study of gestational surrogacy in the United States Labor of Love examines the conflicted attitudes that emerge when the ostensibly priceless act of bringing a child into the world becomes a paid occupation Heather Jacobson interviews not only surrogate mothers but also their family members the intended parents who employ surrogates and the various professionals who work to facilitate the process Seeking to understand how gestational surrogates perceive their vocation she discovers that many regard surrogacy as a calling but are reluctant to describe it as a job In the process Jacobson dissects the complex set of social attitudes underlying this resistance toward conceiving of pregnancy as a form of employment Through her extensive field research Jacobson gives readers a firsthand look at the many challenges faced by gestational surrogates who deal with complicated medical procedures delicate work family balances and tricky social dynamics Yet Labor of Love also demonstrates the extent to which advances in reproductive technology are affecting all Americans changing how we think about maternity family and the labor involved in giving birth For more visit <http://www.heatherjacobsononline.com> All You Need is Love? Rachel Thomson, Sue Sharpe, 2005-01-01 Providing a unique insight into young people's sexual values for adults working with them this book relays the voices of young people and their views about the morality of sexual relationships Sexual Revolutions in Cuba Carrie Hamilton, 2012 Chronicling the history of sexuality in Cuba since the 1959 revolution this book frames the relationship between passion and politics in the revolution's wider history and argues that the Cuban revolutionary regime intervened in the sexual lives of Cubans in a variety of ways and transformed key areas of Cuban life including the family reproduction sexual values and sexual relationships Drawing from a major oral history project the Memories of the Revolution oral history project conducted by a team of British and Cuban researchers Hamilton was one of the British researchers on the team between 2003 and 2007 Hamilton explores the experiences and perceptions of sexuality among Cubans across generations and social groups She contextualizes the oral histories within an array of archival and secondary sources relating them to issues of race class and gender as well as to social economic and political change Organized thematically the volume opens with a historical overview that points out that after 1959 revolutionary values continued to coexist with pre revolutionary ideologies in a potent and often contradictory mix Succeeding chapters examine discourse on love romance and passion on both personal and national levels male and female homosexuality sexual repression and changing gender roles and service to the revolution Hamilton explores conflicting notions of Cuba as a site of desire on the one hand and as a place of intense sexual repression especially with regard to homosexuality on the other She identifies many ways in which revolutionary policy affected sexual behavior including changes to policy and laws mass education programs leaders pronouncements on the relationship between good revolutionaries and private life and the provision of incentives to encourage certain forms of sexual union and repressive measures to discourage and punish others Hamilton argues that sexual politics were central to the construction of a new revolutionary society Ethics in Practice Andrew Alexandra, Seumas Miller, 2009 Dozens of times a day in matters both grave and mundane we make moral choices Guided by our sense of what is right or wrong fair or unfair kind or cruel we usually have no doubt about what to do Sometimes however we find ourselves facing situations of moral complexity and uncertainty Wayne an orderly finds Mrs Smith slumped in her bathroom her vital signs non-existent Should he administer the life saving drugs even though he is not qualified to do so and will risk losing his job Miss B a tetraplegic paralysed from the neck down remains indefinitely in an intensive care unit where she is dependent entirely upon a ventilator She asks to have the ventilator switched off Does she have the right to die As two police officers approach a block of flats to arrest a known drug dealer and pedophile a parcel of heroin flies out the window Subsequently the senior officer makes a statement claiming that the heroin was found in the suspect's fat Should the junior officer perjure himself when questioned in court and put this dangerous felon behind bars once and for all Focusing on a range of problematic issues likely to be confronted by human service professionals Ethics in Practice uses numerous absorbing case studies to show how moral theory can guide us in the face of morally hard choices Book jacket
