Sex Roles and Social Change in Native Lower Central American Societies Christine A. Loveland, Franklin O. Loveland, 1982 Social and cultural anthropology essays on social roles and sexual division of labour as well as on social change among indigenous peoples in Lower Central America analyses the causes of men dominance and lower female social status looks at historical background and traditional culture role of religious missions labour force participation of woman workers and women s life cycles examines new economic roles rural migration urban area influence changing leadership patterns etc Diagrams photographs references statistical tables Sex Roles and Social Change in Native Lower Central American Societies Christine A. Loveland, Franklin O. Loveland, 1982 Weaving the Past Susan Kellogg, 2005-09-02 Weaving the Past offers a comprehensive and interdisciplinary history of Latin America s indigenous women While the book concentrates on native women in Mesoamerica and the Andes it covers indigenous people in other parts of South and Central America including lowland peoples in and beyond Brazil and Afro indigenous peoples such as the Garifuna of Central America Drawing on primary and secondary sources it argues that change not continuity has been the norm for indigenous peoples whose resilience in the face of complex and long term patterns of cultural change is due in no small part to the roles actions and agency of women The book provides broad coverage of gender roles in native Latin America over many centuries drawing upon a range of evidence from archaeology anthropology religion and politics Primary and secondary sources include chronicles codices newspaper articles and monographic work on specific regions Arguing that Latin America s indigenous women were the critical force behind the more important events and processes of Latin America s history Kellogg interweaves the region s history of family sexual and labor history with the origins of women s power in prehispanic colonial and modern South and Central America Shying away from interpretations that treat women as house bound and passive the book instead emphasizes women s long history of performing labor being politically active and contributing to even supporting family and community well being Hosts and Guests Valene L. Smith, 2012-06-13 Tourism one of the world s largest industries has long been appreciated for its economic benefits but in this volume tourism receives a unique systematic scrutiny as a medium for cultural exchange Modern developments in technology and industry together with masterful advertising have created temporarily leisured people with the desire and the means to travel They often in turn effect profound cultural change in the places they visit and the contributors to this work all attend to the impact these guests have on their hosts In contrast to the dramatic economic transformations the social repercussions of tourism are subtle and often recognized only by the indigenous peoples themselves and by the anthropologists who have studied them before and after the introduction of tourism The case studies in Hosts and Guests examine the five types of tourism historical cultural ethnic environmental and recreational and their impact on diverse societies over a broad geographical range The Climacteric in Perspective M. Notelovitz, P.A. van Keep, 2012-12-06 The Fourth International Congress on the Menopause was held in Lake Buena Vista Florida USA in October November 1984 It was different from the previous meetings held under the auspices of the International Menopause Society in three respects the duration of the Congress was extended to five days plenary sessions were held on each day and the scope of the subject matter was expanded to provide a total or holistic overview of the subject hence the theme for the Congress Climacteric Medicine and Science A Societal need In recent years there has been an increased interest in the menopause and middle year aging by scientists and clinicians in fields as diverse as anthropology urodynamics nutrition and exercise physiology while newer issues in clinical medicine such as osteoporosis prevention and management attracted specialists in nuclear imaging techniques and internal medicine Over 120 invited speakers plus numerous contributors to the free communication special lectures and the poster sessions provided a virtual cornucopia of information on the menopause that has indeed brought a newer perspective to a subject previously the domain of a single specialty the gynecologist and dominated by a single therapy estrogen replacement Sex and Gender Hierarchies Barbara D. Miller, 1993-02-18 This edited collection attempts to revive a unified anthropological approach to the study of sex and gender hierarchies Seventeen distinguished contributors from cultural anthropology physical anthropology archaeology and anthropological linguistics have produced a wealth of fascinating data on human and primate ancient and contemporary and primitive and developed societies covering topics such as mothering and child care work health intrafamily relationships and public power The interdisciplinary approach successfully contributes to the development of better theory and methodology in anthropology

Aging and Menopause Among Indian South African Women Brian M. du Toit, 1990-09-25 Du Toit contributes to the study of the climacteric as an important phase of the life cycle among women of different cultures the later reproductive and postreproductive years Drawing upon perspectives in anthropology sociology psychology and gerontology he demonstrates the need for an adequate cross cultural theory of aging among women and offers a solid body of research from South Africa in establishing a standard methodology for the study of the climacteric

The Indians of Central and South America James S. Olson, 1991-06-17 At a juncture in history when much interest and attention is focused on Central and South American political ecological social and environmental concerns this dictionary fills a major gap in reference materials relating to Amerindian tribes This one volume reference collects important information about the current status of the indigenous peoples of Central and South America and offers a chronology of the conquest of the Amerindian tribes a list of tribes by country and an extensive bibliography of surviving American Indian groups Historical as well as contemporary descriptions of approximately 500 existing tribes or groups of people are provided along with several bibliographic citations at the conclusion of each entry The focus of the volume is on those Indian groups that still maintain a sense of tribal identity For the vast majority of his entries James S Olson draws material from the Smithsonian Institution's seven volume Handbook of South American Indians as well as other classic resources of a broad general nature Much attention is also focused on the complicated question of South American languages and on the definition of what constitutes an Indian Olson's introduction cites dozens of valuable reference works relating to these topics Following the introduction this survey of surviving Amerindians is divided into sections that contain entries for each existing tribe or group an appendix listing tribes by country the Amerindian conquest chronology and a bibliographical essay This unique reference work should be an important item for most public college and university libraries It will be welcomed by reference librarians historians anthropologists and their students

The Kuna Gathering James Howe, 2002 An anthropological analysis of the importance of meetings in Kuna village level politics Indigenous Struggles for Autonomy Luciano Baracco, 2018-11-29 Indigenous Struggles for Autonomy The Caribbean Coast of Nicaragua offers a broad and comprehensive analysis of Nicaragua's Caribbean Coast and the process of autonomy that was initiated in 1987 as part of a wider conflict resolution process during the years of the Sandinista revolution and has continued through to the present day Over its 30 year period of development the autonomy process on Nicaragua's Caribbean Coast can be seen as a crucible for the autonomous struggles of minority peoples throughout the Latin American continent Autonomy on Nicaragua's Caribbean Coast remains highly contested being simultaneously characterized by progress setbacks and violent confrontation within a number of fields and involving a multiplicity of local national and global actors This experience offers critical lessons for efforts around the world that seek to resolve long established and deep seated ethnic conflict by attempting to reconcile the need for development usually fostered by national governments through neo extractivist policies with the protection of minority rights advocated by marginalized minorities living within nation states and increasingly by intergovernmental organizations such as the United Nations and the Organization of American States This book presents analyses that reveal the broad implications for the struggle for autonomy on the Caribbean Coast of Nicaragua conducted by scholars with expertise in an array of disciplines including sociology globalization theory anthropology history socio linguistics cultural and postcolonial studies gender studies and political science

Women as Healers Carol Shepherd McClain, 1989 In Women as Healers thirteen contributors explore the intersection of feminist anthropology and medical anthropology in eleven case studies of women in traditional and emergent healing roles in diverse parts of the world In a spectrum of healing roles ranging from family healers to shamans diviner mediums and midwives women throughout the world pursue strategic ends through healing manipulate cultural images to effect cures and explain misfortune and shape and are shaped by the social and political contexts in which they work In an introductory chapter Carol Shepherd McClain traces the evolution of ideas in medical anthropology and in the anthropology of women that have both constrained and expanded our understanding of the significance of gender to healing one of the most fundamental and universal of human activities The contributors include Carol Shepherd McClain Ruthbeth Finerman Carolyn Nordstrom Carole H Browner William Wedenoja Marjery Foz Barbara Kerewsky Halpern Laurel Kendall Merrill Signer Roberto Garcia Edward C Green Carolyn Sargent and Margaret Reid

Confronting Power, Theorizing Gender Eudine Barriteau, 2003 Extrait de la couverture This anthology of Caribbean

feminist scholarship has several unique features It exposes gender relations as regimes of power and consolidates and advances indigenous feminist theorizing A particularly strong section of the collection deconstructs marginality and masculinity in the Caribbean and provides ground breaking research with policy implications The major breakthrough is the recognition that this area of research includes both men and women as integral to a more adequate conceptualization of society polity and economy thereby enabling scholars to address more fully the realities of social life The temper of the times suggests that a significant watershed in gender studies has been reached

Women's Education in the Third World

David H. Kelly, Gail P. Kelly, 2017-05-18 Originally published in 1989 This detailed bibliography focuses on women's education in the developing nations of Asia Africa Latin America and the Caribbean and the Middle East It contains annotations for about 1200 published works in English French Spanish Portuguese and German The entries include extensive research journal monograph and book literature items including chapters hidden in books that don't have women or education as their main theme The citations are organised thematically but with geographic divisions within each of the 15 sections and each entry has a decently detailed summary It is prefaced by a useful article written by Gail Kelly on the directions in research at the time and the development of women centric approaches

A Tri-Generational Study of Language Choice and Shift in Port Harcourt Kelechukwu Ihemere, 2007-05 This book is intended as a textbook for advanced undergraduate or graduate students in the field of bilingualism and language choice It reports on a sociolinguistic study of the language choice patterns of the minority Ikwerre ethnic group of Port Harcourt City Nigeria Further it aims primarily to present a systematic and coherent account of the extent and patterning of Ikwerre NPE bilingualism within the Ikwerre community focusing on the means by which people in this community deploy two different codes in their day to day communicative interactions and the social and attitudinal motivations for language choice at both the group and individual level To satisfy these objectives this study has taken into account the pre-existing linguistic socio-economic and macro-sociological distinctiveness of the Ikwerre community Thus it has investigated prevailing local attitudes towards Ikwerre and NPE by incorporating matched guise tests to deepen our understanding of the processes of language choice and shift operating in the community This was done to demonstrate that contemporary local linguistic attitudes working together with personal network ties would offer fuller and more adequate explanations of why members of the Port Harcourt Ikwerre community select either Ikwerre and or NPE in their normal every day interactions From the observations and findings made in this study I propose an account of the language choice patterns attested in my Port Harcourt Ikwerre community data that is based on establishing a broad typology which can be directly related to the bilingualism continuum This framework should be equally applicable to similar bilingual settings around the world which like Port Harcourt have experienced rapid metropolitan growth as a result of radical socio-economic change in their recent history Finally it is my hope that in the course of reading this book the reader can come to a place where their understanding and appreciation of the effects of languages in contact in non-Western communities is enriched with the illustrative material in this book Costa Rica, a Country Study Harold D. Nelson,1984

 Hartman Strom,2016-09-19 In the middle decades of the nineteenth century a widening set of opportunities in the public sphere opened up for ambitious men and women in the loosely structured stratum of the middle class Much of the attention to the marketplace between 1820 and 1910 has described entrepreneurship and the beginnings of a more sophisticated economy but not much has been paid to the commodification of the self This book sets out to explore the promotion of the self in the rapidly growing economy and political flux of the nineteenth century Its geography extends through New England
 New York the new states of the Midwest and the great cities of the Mid Atlantic with an occasional trip to New Orleans San Francisco and Los Angeles The approach is biographical using representative middle class figures to illuminate cultural and social history Aided by more cheaply produced print and the clamor of the American public for entertainment both high and low brow the figures described in this book strove for fame sometimes achieved good fortune and acted out desires for sexual pleasure political success and achieving the ideal in society In doing so they questioned and rearranged the ideas of the early Republic Poised between the dying class structure of the late eighteenth century and the rise of a more hierarchical one in the early twentieth they took advantage of a society in flux to make their mark on American culture
