

The background is a rich, textured orange-brown. It is adorned with various illustrations of spices and herbs: a long green chili pepper curves along the top left; a small sprig of green leaves is in the top right; several small, round, golden-brown seed pods are scattered throughout; a star-shaped anise seed is on the left; a cluster of yellow leaves is on the left; a wooden mortar and pestle with dark ground spices is on the right; and a red chili pepper and a long cinnamon stick are at the bottom. A decorative border of small, repeating golden motifs runs along the bottom edge.

The Greatness of Indian Kitchen: Gender, Memory and Rights Dr. Rajesh.M, Vishnu N, 2022-03-01 Food is one of man's three basic needs and it unites and connects people from all walks of life The cultural practices beliefs and norms that surround the production and consumption of food are referred to as food culture It primarily reflects our ethnicity and evokes nostalgic childhood memories Religion sexuality and the market economy all revolve around food The Cultural Politics of Food and Eating takes an ethnographic approach to understanding how people use food to make sense of life in an increasingly interconnected world The proposed edited collection of essays covers everything from our daily food consumption to global food politics There is really no refuting that newer perspectives on food culture make the collection more interesting to read

Security, Socialisation and Affect in Indian Families Ira Raja, 2016-05-23 Sociological research on Indian families has largely focused on questions of household form and structure to the exclusion of not only the more nebulous dimensions of family life and relationships but also the discursive and imagined aspects of our familial worlds such as may be accessed through an analysis of film literature and the electronic media Moreover when sociological inquiry has sought to go beyond the demographic and census aspects of the household it has trained its eye on the heterosexual family centred on the conjugal couple frequently at the expense of those relational patterns and diversities that fall outside the familiar circuits of desire within the family The present volume brings together ten essays from a range of disciplines including law literature anthropology sociology and queer studies to engage with hitherto neglected and emergent aspects of Indian family life This book was published as a special issue of South Asia Journal of South Asian Studies

The Grace of Four Moons Pravina Shukla,2015-10-16 Because clothing food and shelter are basic human needs they provide excellent entries to cultural values and individual aesthetics Everyone gets dressed every day but body art has not received the attention it deserves as the most common and universal of material expressions of culture The Grace of Four Moons aims to document the clothing decisions made by ordinary people in their everyday lives Based on fieldwork conducted primarily in the city of Banaras India Pravina Shukla conceptualizes and realizes a total model for the study of body art understood as all aesthetic modifications and supplementations to the body Shukla urges the study of the entire process of body art from the assembly of raw materials and the manufacture of objects through their sale and the interactions between merchants and consumers to the consumer s use of objects in creating personal decoration Song of the Cuckoo Bird Amulya Malladi,2007-12-18 A sweeping epic set in southern India where a group of outcasts create a family while holding tight to their dreams Barely a month after she is promised in marriage eleven year old orphan Kokila comes to Tella Meda an ashram by the Bay of Bengal Once there she makes a courageous yet foolish choice that alters the fabric of her life Instead of becoming a wife and mother youthful passion drives Kokila to remain at the ashram Through the years Kokila revisits her decision as she struggles to make her mark in a country where untethered souls like hers merely slip through the cracks But standing by her conviction she makes a home in Tella Meda alongside other strong yet deeply flawed women Sometimes they are her friends sometimes they are her enemies but always they are her family Like Isabel Allende Amulya Malladi crafts complex characters in deeply atmospheric settings that transport readers through different eras locales and sensibilities Careening from the 1940s to the present day Song of the Cuckoo Bird chronicles India s tumultuous history as generations of a makeshift family seek comfort and joy in unlikely places and from unlikely hearts From the Trade Paperback edition The Mango Season Amulya Malladi,2007-12-18 From the acclaimed author of A Breath of Fresh Air this beautiful novel takes us to modern India during the height of the summer s mango season Heat passion and controversy explode as a woman is forced to decide between romance and tradition Every young Indian leaving the homeland for the United States is given the following orders by their parents Don't eat any cow. It's still sacred. Don't go out too much. Save and save and save your money and most important do not marry a foreigner. Priya Rao left India when she was twenty to study in the U.S. and she's never been back. Now seven years later she's out of excuses. She has to return and give her family the news. She's engaged to Nick Collins, a kind, loving American man. It's going to break their hearts. Returning to India is an overwhelming experience for Priya. When she was growing up, summer was all about mangoes, ripe, sweet mangoes bursting with juices that dripped down your chin, hands and neck. But after years away, she sweats as if she's never been through an Indian summer before. Everything looks dirtier than she remembered. And things that used to seem natural, a buffalo strolling down a newly laid asphalt road, for example, now feel totally chaotic. But Priya's relatives remain the same. Her mother and father insist that it's time they arranged her marriage to a nice Indian boy. Her extended family talks of nothing but marriage, particularly the marriage of her uncle Anand, which still has them reeling. Not only did Anand marry a woman from another Indian state, but he also married for love. Happiness and love are not the point of her grandparents or her parents' union. In her family's rule book, duty is at the top of the list. Just as Priya begins to feel she can't possibly tell her family that she's engaged to an American, a secret is revealed that leaves her stunned and off balance. Now she is forced to choose between the love of her family and Nick, the love of her life. As sharp and intoxicating as sugarcane juice bought fresh from a market cart, The Mango Season is a delightful trip into the heart and soul of both contemporary India and a woman on the edge of a profound life change. From the Hardcover edition. Bowker's Guide to Characters in Fiction 2007, 2008-02 The Postcolonial Indian Novel in English Geetha Ganapathy-Doré, 2011-01-18 Indian writers of English such as G.V. Desani, Salman Rushdie, Amit Chaudhuri, Amitav Ghosh, Vikram Seth, Allan Sealy, Shashi Tharoor, Arundhati Roy, Vikram Chandra and Jhumpa Lahiri have taken the potentialities of the novel form to new heights. Against the background of the genre's macro history, this study attempts to explain the stunning vitality, colourful diversity and the outstanding but sometimes controversial success of postcolonial Indian novels in the light of ongoing debates in postcolonial studies. It analyses the warp and woof of the novelistic text through a cross-sectional scrutiny of the issues of democracy, the poetics of space, the times of empire, nation and globalization, self-writing in the auto meta-docu-fictional modes, the musical, pictorial, cinematic and culinary intertextualities that run through this hyperpalimpsestic practice and the politics of gender, caste and language that gives it an inimitable stamp. This concise and readable survey gives us intimations of a truly world literature as imagined by Francophone writers because the postcolonial Indian novel is a concrete illustration of how language, liberated from its exclusive pact with the nation, can enter into a dialogue with a vast polyphonic ensemble. Reading Together, Reading Apart Tamara Bhalla, 2016-10-17 Often thought of as a solitary activity, the practice of reading can in fact encode the complex politics of community formation. Engagement with literary culture represents a particularly integral facet of identity formation and expresses a sense of belonging within the South Asian diaspora in the United States. Tamara Bhalla blends a case study with literary and textual analysis to illuminate this phenomenon Her fascinating investigation considers institutions from literary reviews to the marketplace to social media and other technologies as well as traditional forms of literary discussion like book clubs and academic criticism Throughout Bhalla questions how her subjects circumstances desires and shared race and class limit the values they ascribe to reading She also examines how ideology circulating around a body of literature or a self selected imagined community of readers shapes reading itself and influences South Asians powerful if contradictory relationship with ideals of cultural authenticity

Knowledge, Society and Sustainability Dr. Aditya Ghosh, 2025-01-16 Building a sustainable future has increasingly captured the human imagination in the twenty first century societies around the world There has been a lot of resource investments and initiatives for pressing issues like protection of the environment conservation of natural habitats and climate change topics but little research has been devoted to the systematic creation restoration and dissemination of knowledge system for a sustainable future society A sincere dedicated and passionate effort to the organised documentation of sustainability knowledge and environment which would support and enhance the knowledge management and sustainable goals is the need of the hour In the twenty first century human society aspires to create structure and disseminate knowledge system for a sustainable and equitable society where development of the society and ethical parameters are given utmost significance For securing a sustainable future knowledge of various spheres such as sociology politics environment economy ecology tradition needs to be documented restored and disseminated Therefore creating a knowledge base by structuring and organizing cultural economic political and technological capital needs to be prioritized This book attempts to create and contribute to the knowledge system which would ensure we are building a sustainable future
