Calder, 2015-12-21 Assessing risk is a key challenge in child protection work. Martin C. Calder presents a clear and accessible guide to understanding risk and the part it plays. This book considers what risk means and how risk assessments should be defined. It outlines the key challenges practitioners face day to day and offers a helpful evidence based assessment framework for use by frontline staff. Calder argues that risk now has to be reconceived as a multi disciplinary activity which stretches beyond social work. As such he highlights a need for a clearer shared terminology among professionals and encourages the social work profession to look to related disciplines such as criminal justice for ideas to improve practice. Demystifying the complex debates around risk and showing how to deliver effective risk assessment this is an essential reference for social workers and social work students as well as lecturers. Towards Positive Systems of Child and Family Welfare Nancy Freymond, Gary Cameron, 2006-05-20 The need for services that respond to the maltreatment of children and to the struggles of families is at the core of social service systems in all developed nations. While these child and family welfare systems confront similar problems and incorporate common elements there are substantial differences in philosophy organization and operation across international settings and models. In this new collection of essays Nancy Freymond and Gary Cameron have brought together some of the finest international minds to provide an original and integrated discussion of child protection family service and community caring models of child and family welfare. The volume not only examines child protection and family service approaches within Western nations including Canada the United States England the Netherlands France and Sweden it is also the first comparative study to give equal attention to Aboriginal community caring models in Canada and New Zealand. The comparisons made by the essays in this volume allow for a consideration of constructive and feasible innovations in child and family welfare and contribute to an enriched debate around each system. This book will be of great benefit to the field for many years to come. Constructing Policy Change Linda A. White, 2017-09-18 In Constructing Policy Change Linda A. White examines the expansion of early childhood education and care (ECEC) policies and programs in liberal welfare states including Australia Canada New Zealand the UK and the USA. In the first part of the book the author investigates the sources of policy ideas that triggered ECEC changes in various national contexts. This is followed by a close analysis of cross national variation in the implementation of ECEC policy in Canada and the USA White argues that the primary mechanisms for policy change are grounded in policy investment logics as well as cultural logics that is shifts in public sentiments and government beliefs about the value of ECEC policies and programs are rooted in both evidence based arguments and in principled beliefs about the policy A rich nuanced examination of the reasons motivating ECEC policy expansion and adoption in different countries Constructing Policy Change is a corrective to the comparative welfare state literature that focuses on political interest alone
