Wang, B. Goertzel, S. Franklin, 2008-02-18 The field of Artificial Intelligence AI was initially directly aimed at the construction of thinking machines that is computer systems with human like general intelligence But this task proved more difficult than expected As the years passed AI researchers gradually shifted focus to producing AI systems that intelligently approached specific tasks in relatively narrow domains In recent years however more and more AI researchers have recognized the necessity and the feasibility of returning to the original goal of the field Increasingly there is a call to focus less on highly specialized narrow AI problem solving systems and more on confronting the difficult issues involved in creating human level intelligence and ultimately general intelligence that goes beyond the human level in various ways Artificial General Intelligence AGI as this renewed focus has come to be called attempts to study and reproduce intelligence as a whole in a domain independent way Encouraged by the recent success of several smaller scale AGI related meetings and special tracks at conferences the initiative to organize the very first international conference on AGI was taken with the goal to give researchers in the field an opportunity to present relevant research results and to exchange ideas on topics of common interest In this collection you will find the conference papers full length papers short position statements and also the papers

Chronicling her quest for wildness and home in Alaska naturalist Marilyn Sigman writes lyrically about the history of natural abundance and human notions of wealth from seals to shellfish to sea otters to herring halibut and salmon in Alaska's iconic Kachemak Bay Kachemak Bay is a place where people and the living resources they depend on have ebbed and flowed for thousands of years The forces of the earth are dynamic here they can change in an instant shaking the ground beneath your feet or overturning kayaks in a rushing wave Glaciers have advanced and receded over centuries The climate like the ocean has shifted from warmer to colder and back again in a matter of decades The ocean food web has been shuffled from bottom to top again and again In Entangled Sigman contemplates the patterns of people staying and leaving of settlement and displacement nesting her own journey to Kachemak Bay within diasporas of her Jewish ancestors and of ancient peoples from Asia to the southern coast of Alaska Along the way she weaves in scientific facts about the region as well as the stories told by Alaska's indigenous peoples It is a rhapsodic introduction to this stunning region and a siren call to protect the land's natural resources in the face of a warming changing world Scamper Squirrel Goes to Camp Hugh F.
