Other Voices Other Worlds Terry Brown, 2006-04-01 Leading Anglican writers from around the world challenge the assumption that the communion is split between a liberal north and an orthodox south Anglican churches worldwide are sharply divided on homosexuality The dominant stereotype is that of a global south unanimously lined up against homosexuality as immoral and sinful and of a liberal and decadent global north The differences between the two sides are seen as fundamental and irreconcilable Nothing is further from the truth homosexual behavior exists across the whole Anglican Communion whether it is openly celebrated or quietly integrated into local churches and cultures In this extraordinary book in development for several years this is exposed as a myth Christians throughout Africa Asia and the developing world bishops priests and religious academics and lay writers open up dramatic new perspectives on familiar arguments and debates Topics include biblical interpretation sexuality and doctrine local history sexuality and personhood the influence of other faiths issues of colonialism and post colonialism homophobia and the place of homosexual persons in the church Other Voices Other Worlds reveals the rich historical and cross cultural complexity to same sex relationships and injects dramatic new perspectives into a debate that has become stale and predictable Speaking in Other Voices Joan Gross, 2001-01-01 Linking actual instances of language use with structures of social power in francophone Belgium Gross outlines the history and contemporary configuration of rod puppetry in Liège The analysis of this working class performance art moves between what occurs on and off stage As puppeteers speak in other voices sometimes in Walloon and sometimes in French they create a sociolinguistic model based on 19th century renditions of medieval texts the voices of past puppeteers and the language that surrounds them The high level of linguistic reflexivity created by the regional language movement has led to frequent metalinguistic and metapragmatic commentaries within the puppet shows This complex speech genre embedded in social context shows the influence of identity struggles from local class oppositions to imperial designs abroad Keeping a tight focus on language Speaking in Other Voices examines the process of entextualization and recontextualization as stories of war and religion are transmitted to succeeding generations Hypnotherapy Scripts Ronald A. with which these figures are associated and discussion of controversies and social change enables readers to gain a stronger understanding of evolving American social values Masters and Servants on the Cape Eastern Frontier, 1760-1803 Susan Newton-King, 1999-07-08 A history of the conquest and servitude of the Khoisan in the Cape eastern frontier Silence and Articulation in the Poetry of Medbh McGuckian Maureen E. Ruprecht Fadem, 2019-12-03 Silence and Articulation in the Poetry of Medbh McGuckian is an innovative contribution to the scholarship on Belfast poet Medbh McGuckian This book considers the entire oeuvre of this globally respected Irish woman writer a member of the contemporary avant garde with now fifteen U S published volumes and numerous individual publications The author positions McGuckian s oeuvre as political and historical poetry and offers a provocative new assessment of its crafted silences This work argues that it is the muted character of McGuckian s poems a consequence of a defamiliarized language the overwhelming sway of the image and a profusion of intertextual quoting that constitutes their agency and force The silences are read as a response to the precarious positionality of poet and speaker at the site of disaster and the limits of articulation In line with Rukeyser s notion of the life of poetry the life of McGuckian s silences is located Fadem argues in the poems production as revealed self reflexively and in their prolonged consumption This oeuvre operates as a formidable counter discourse by converting poetry s reception into a much protracted task that redistributes the temporal economy of poem and reader and disrupts the given structures of time place and the order of things Not in the Script Elena Voss, 2025-07-02 Not in the Script is a slow burn enemies to lovers college romance with the perfect mix of banter tension and bookish obsession At NYU Zen is a campus legend Star athlete Hockey captain Untouchable To Kennedy he s her worst nightmare wrapped in a six foot something ego and a jersey They ve known each other for twelve long awkward chaos filled years He s her best friend s older brother She s the pink haired bookworm he s been tormenting and secretly protecting since high school All Kennedy wants is a quiet life acing her Graphic Design degree running her Book Club and staying far away from the walking talking plot twist that is Zen But he has other plans plans that don t exactly fit into the story she s writing for herself She believes perfect men only exist in books He s determined to prove her wrong Even if it means rewriting every chapter of her carefully planned life Because for Zen she was never just the girl next door She s the main character And he s ready to break every rule especially the ones that say he shouldn t want her Between Script and Scripture: Performance Criticism and Mark's Characterization of the Disciples Zach Preston Eberhart, 2024-03-25 This volume reimagines the first century reception of the Gospel of Mark within a reconstructed yet hypothetical performance event In particular it considers the disciples character and characterization through the lens of performance criticism Questions concerning the characterization of the disciples have been relatively one sided in New Testament scholarship in favor of their negative characterization This project demonstrates why such assumptions need not be necessary when we re consider the oral aural milieu in which the Gospel of Mark was first composed and received by its earliest audiences Gay and Lesbian Literature Since World War II Sonya L

Jones, 2014-05-22 Gay and Lesbian Literature Since World War II chronicles the multifaceted explosion of gay and lesbian writing that has taken place in the second half of the twentieth century. Encompassing a wide range of subject matter and a balance of gay and lesbian concerns, it includes work by established scholars as well as young theoreticians and archivists who have initiated new areas of investigation. The contributors' examinations of this rich literary period make it easy to view the half century from 1948 to 1998 as the Queer Renaissance. Included in Gay and Lesbian Literature Since World War II are critical and social analyses of literary movements, novels, short fiction, periodicals, and poetry, as well as a look at the challenges of establishing a repository for lesbian cultural history. Specific chapters in this groundbreaking work trace the development of gay poetry in America after World War II, examine how AIDS is represented in the first four Latino novels to deal with the subject matter, and chronicle the birth of lesbian feminist publishing in the 1970s, showing how it created a flourishing gay literature in the 1980s and 1990s. Other chapters outline the history of The Ladder from its initial publication in 1956 as the official vehicle of the Daughters of Bilitis to its final issue as a privately published literary magazine in 1972; examine Baldwin's 1962 novel Another Country and discuss the complicated critical history of this work and its relation to Baldwin's literary reputation; racial, sexual, and political factors are taken into account; chart how Other Voices, Other Rooms by Truman Capote and The House of Breath by William Goyen reveal contradictory genderings of male homosexuality, suggesting an absence of a unified model of mid-twentieth-century male homosexuality; argue that the 1976 novel Lover by Bertha Harris can be considered an exemplary novel within discussions of both postmodern fiction and lesbian theory. The author calls for Harris to be added to the group of writers such as Wittig, Anzaldúa, Lorde, and Winterson who are discussed within the context of a postmodern lesbian narrative; examine the short fiction of Canadian lesbian novelist Jane Rule in an effort to shed light on lesbian creative practice in the homophobic climate of postwar North America; argue for an understanding of Dale Peck's novel Martin and John as an attempt to link two apparently different processes of import to contemporary male subjects through examination of the novel alongside selected passages from Nietzsche and Freud; focus on the pragmatic issues of developing and maintaining accessible research venues from which to cultivate the study of racial and cultural diversity in lesbian lives. Document the history of the Lesbian Herstory Archives, one of the first lesbian-specific collections in the world, from its birth in the early 1970s to the present.

Lovers and Beloveds Gary Richards, 2007-05-01

A challenge to traditional criticism, this engaging study demonstrates that issues of sexuality and same-sex desire in particular were of central importance in the literary production of the Southern Renaissance. Especially during the end of that period, approximately the 1940s and 1950s, the national literary establishment tacitly designated the South as an allowable setting for fictionalized deviancy, thus permitting southern writers tremendous freedom to explore sexual otherness. In Lovers and Beloveds, Gary Richards draws on contemporary theories of sexuality in reading the fiction of six writers of the era who accepted that potentially pejorative characterization as an opportunity. Truman Capote, William Goyen, Harper Lee,

Carson McCullers Lillian Smith and Richard Wright Richards skillfully juxtaposes forgotten texts by those writers with canonical works to identify the complex narratives of same sex desire In their novels and stories the authors consistently reimagine gender roles centralize homoeroticism and probe its relationship with class race biological sex and southern identity This is the first book to assess the significance of same sex desire in a broad range of southern texts making a crucial contribution to the study of both literature and sexuality
