Preparing for an Aging World National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on National Statistics, Committee on Population, Panel on a Research Agenda and New Data for an Aging World, 2001-06-26 Aging is a process that encompasses virtually all aspects of life Because the speed of population aging is accelerating and because the data needed to study the aging process are complex and expensive to obtain it is imperative that countries coordinate their research efforts to reap the most benefits from this important information

Preparing for an Aging World looks at the behavioral and socioeconomic aspects of aging and focuses on work retirement and pensions wealth and savings behavior health and disability intergenerational transfers and concepts of well being It makes recommendations for a collection of new cross national data on aging populations data that will allow nations to develop policies and programs for addressing the major shifts in population age structure now occurring These efforts if made internationally would advance our understanding of the aging process around the world

65 Plus in the United States Frank B. Hobbs, Bonnie L. Damon, 1996-09 Focuses on the diversity of America s older population in terms of age race ethnicity gender economic status longevity health and social characteristics and geog distribution Examines the possible implications of these demographic changes for generations to come Attempts to understand the profile of the elderly population for the 21st century Contents numerical growth longevity and health characteristics economic characteristics geographic distr n social and other characteristics the elderly of today and tomorrow Over 100 detailed tables

The Aging Networks, Ninth Edition Kelly Niles-Yokum, Donna L. Wagner, 2018-12-28 Praise for the Eighth Edition: This small volume is not only an excellent learning tool but also a must-have handbook for aging professionals in many fields. Noreen A. Shugrue, Research Associate, University of Connecticut Center on Aging, Farmington, CT. Educational Gerontology: This classic text more relevant than ever as our population rapidly ages, delivers comprehensive and up-to-date knowledge about aging services in the U.S. Written for both students and practitioners of gerontology along with all professionals involved in the well-being of older adults, this highly accessible book provides a current and detailed description and analysis of local to global services for older people with or without cognitive, physical, or social needs. The Ninth Edition is updated to reflect critical changes to legislation, health care, and recent trends. It focuses on the strengths and diversity of older adults and the role our multilayered aging networks play in advocacy, community independence, and engagement. Commentary and critical thinking challenges from policymakers, program directors, and educators facilitate high-level reasoning and independent analysis of aging networks past, present, and future. The ninth edition also offers enhanced resources including a Test Bank, Instructor's Manual, PowerPoint slides, and links to video. Additionally, the print version of the book includes free searchable digital access to the entire contents. New to the Ninth Edition: Fully updated to reflect historical context, recent trends, and challenges and future considerations. Addresses the effects of our current political and ideological landscape on aging networks, including a Call to Action. Examines the current status of Medicare and Medicaid, Meals on Wheels, and the impact of the ACA. Discusses long-term services and supports, disaster preparedness, and climate change caregiving as a human right, and LGBTQ services and support. Presents new case studies providing evidence-based best practice initiatives and new innovations. Delivers enhanced instructor resources including Test Bank, Instructor's Manual, PowerPoint slides, and video links. Key Features: Focuses on the strengths of older adults and the role our multilayered aging networks play in advocacy, community independence, and engagement. Provides commentary and critical thinking challenges from policy makers, program directors, and educators to facilitate high-level analysis. Addresses changing demographics and future challenges. Offers Voices from the Field boxes and Critical Thinking topics and questions to encourage reflection and discussion.
