Young, 2015-01-31 When a spouse is diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease chances are the husband or wife has suspected something is not right for some time Denial embarrassment the decision to tell others and additional issues some that feel too private to share can have a significant impact on the marriage Spouses often look to their church for emotional physical and spiritual support however research shows that most churches are not well equipped to minister to those caring for a spouse with Alzheimer's Sanctuary in the Midst of Alzheimer's is a resource for both spouses and their churches encouraging congregations to walk in the shoes of a spousal caregiver while providing the opportunity for spouses to find meaning and a sense of peace in their role as a caregiver The Longest Goodbye: A Family's Hope-Filled Journey Through Alzheimer's Shelly Calcagno, 2022-11-15 Are we ever ready to say goodbye She looked out into the yard sprinkled with spring dandelions Yellow flowers she said searching for her words We knew something wasn't right That's when things began to fall apart for our family when our longest goodbye journey began the defining before and after moment And now looking back it's been almost a decade of slow loss and drawn out grief as we slowly let go of our beautiful mom In the middle of it all though we have learned to look for hope and chase down joy discovering that in spite of our pain there are always gifts to be found even on the hardest of days Alzheimer's disease affects almost fifty million people worldwide It touches people across every walk of life So how do millions of people figure out how to love as they let go The Longest Goodbye is a collection of stories and moments not just about the clinical side of memory loss but the emotional heart journey

It is a story that shows how joy and grief are often intertwined and wrapped up together in the glorious mess of life. The Longest Goodbye encourages readers to remember the ones they love while they are still here and to intentionally celebrate and live through the pain and hard days. It's filled with tears, hope, and bitter-sweet moments all held together by the beautiful love of a mother and daughter holding onto a life filled with memories while learning to let go and say goodbye.

Boosting Joy: in the Grips of My Alzheimer's Caregiver Journey Eunice L. Sykes, 2021-03-09 Caring for a loved one with Alzheimer's disease can be a daunting task. Getting the most out of caregiving while taking care of a loved one is a challenge. When that loved one is a spouse, the tasks are doubly daunting, magnified over and over. Being mindful of your loved one's habits, hobbies, lifestyle, and preferences is important. This book offers insights on how to reclaim and get more joy from the caregiving love journey. As an unpaid loving caregiver, Eunice Sykes writes the book she wished she had at the beginning of her journey: one that shares, educates, and offers joy and hope to those beginning their journey or those still on the journey. Deeply personal in the moment, anecdotes drawn from her journals add to the honest, moving testimony that this book delivers.

The Alzheimer's Family: Helping Caregivers Cope Robert B. Santulli, 2011-10-31 Responding to families' questions and fears with compassion. Typically, the patient and his or her course of treatment are the natural focal points when it comes to Alzheimer's disease. AD. But Alzheimer's is an equally debilitating illness for family members and caregivers who must come to terms with its far-reaching emotional and physical burdens. In this handbook, clinicians are taught how to navigate the many interpersonal issues at the heart of AD: that is, how to work with the families and friends of the patient. Santulli addresses everything from how to respond compassionately to their likely questions and concerns, how to clearly explain symptoms and risk factors, when to suggest consultation with a geriatric specialist, and how to sensitively discuss issues of long-term treatment and care.

Alzheimer's Disease Memoirs Pramod K Nayar, 2021-12-06 This book examines writings by people living with Alzheimer's Disease and their caregivers. Its focus areas include the construction of the self in the face of diminishing linguistic and cognitive abilities, the stigmatization of ageing, the various narrative strategies that these texts often collaboratively employ, the health activism and advocacy generated via a biosociality, and the ethics of care. It examines the disease-writing genre about a condition that ravages the ability to use language. It serves as a literary examination of the work done in this area through a critical reading of the memoirs of those with AD and caregivers and a healthy dose of literary theory. The book is a valuable resource for those interested in literary and critical theory and researchers in the field of ageing dementia studies.

Dear Clueless Sandra Savell, 2015-01-06 At the time this book was written, the youngest person recorded with Alzheimer's Disease was 28 years old. Since I learned about Alzheimer's with my maternal grandmother suffering from and succumbing to the disease in the 1980s, the ages of Alzheimer's patients have been steadily becoming younger and younger. In my mother's memory care unit, there was an educator who died of early-onset Alzheimer's at the age of 53. There is a new diagnosis of Alzheimer's every 67 seconds, and it is estimated that one in every three people in the United States will have Alzheimer's by the age of 85. This disease lasts from 2 to 25 years. If this trend continues then every family in this country will be visited by Alzheimer's and the affects on caregivers will also affect this nation. This book is both a personal story of a decade long journey of caregiving as well as a call to arms for funding and research of this terminal disease. Where Two Worlds Touch Jade C. Angelica, 2014. Jade Angelica shares the wisdom and hope she gleaned from caring for her mother and from many years working closely with Alzheimer's patients and caregivers. Challenging the predominant belief that people with Alzheimer's no longer have purpose, potential or the capacity for meaningful relationship. Where Two Worlds Touch is both a spiritual memoir and a pastoral guide for those who love someone with Alzheimer's. Readers will find here the reassuring words of a friend who has been there and can give advice on preserving connection, finding hope, self care and staying open to the possibility of grace.

Dignity for Deeply Forgetful People Stephen G. Post, 2022-05-31. For caregivers of deeply forgetful people, a book that combines new ethics guidelines with an innovative program on how to communicate and connect with people with Alzheimer's. How do we approach a deeply forgetful loved one so as to notice and affirm their continuing self identity? For three decades Stephen G. Post has worked around the world encouraging caregivers to become more aware of and find renewed hope in surprising expressions of selfhood despite the challenges of cognitive decline. In this book Post offers new perspectives on the worth and dignity of people with Alzheimer's and related disorders despite the negative influence of hypercognitive values that place an ethically unacceptable emphasis on human dignity as based on linear rationality and strength of memory. This bias Post argues is responsible for the abusive exclusion of this population from our shared humanity. With vignettes and narratives he argues for a deeper dignity grounded in consciousness, emotional presence, creativity, interdependence, music and a self that is not gone but differently abled. Post covers key practical topics such as understanding the experience of dementia, noticing subtle expressions of continuing selfhood including paradoxical lucidity, perspectives on ethical quandaries from diagnosis to terminal care and everything in between as gleaned from the voices of caregivers, how to communicate optimally and use language effectively, the value of art, poetry, symbols, personalized music and nature in revealing self identity, the value of trained dementia companion dogs. At a time when medical advances to cure these conditions are still out of reach and the most recent drugs have shown limited effectiveness, Post argues that focusing discussion and resources on the relational dignity of these individuals and the respite needs of their caregivers is vital. Grounding ethics on the equal worth of all conscious human beings, he provides a cautionary perspective on preemptive assisted suicide based on cases that he has witnessed. He affirms vulnerability and interdependence as the core of the human condition and celebrates caregivers as advocates seeking social and economic justice in an American system where they and their loved ones receive only leftover scraps. Racially inclusive and grounded in diversity, Dignity for Deeply Forgetful People also includes a workshop appendix focused on communication and connection. A Caregiver Resilience Program by Rev. Dr. Jade C. Angelica.
