The Social Studies Professional ,1989      School Library Journal ,1990-07      Resources in Education ,2001-10 Social Studies Curriculum Resource Handbook ,1992      Multicultural/multiethnic Studies Programs Educational Research Service (Arlington, Va.),Heather S. Doob,1976      Research in Education ,1974      The Multiracial Experience Maria P. P. Root,1996 In her bold new edited volume The Multiracial Experience Maria P P Root challenges current theoretical and political conceptualizations of race by examining the experience of mixed race individuals Articulating questions that will form the basis for future discussions of race and identity the contributors tackle concepts such as redefining ethnicity when race is less central to the definition and how a multiracial model might dismantle our negative construction of race Researchers and practitioners in ethnic studies anthropology education law psychology nursing social work and sociology add personal insights in chapter opening vignettes while providing integral critical viewpoints Sure to stimulate thinking and discussion the contributors focus on the most contemporary racial issues including the racial classification system from the U S Census to the schools the differences between race ethnicity and colorism gender and sexuality in a multicultural context ethnic identity and identity formation transracial adoption and the future of race relations in the United States The Multiracial Experience opens up the dialogue to rethink and redefine race and social relations in this country This volume provides discussions key to all professionals practitioners researchers and students in multicultural issues ethnic relations sociology education psychology management and public health Dr Maria P P Root s discussions are thoughtful analytical and informative Root argues that the emergence of a racially mixed population is transforming the racial character of the United States and that the increasing presence of multiracial people necessitates Americans to ask questions about their identity Canadian Review of Studies in Nationalism Finally in one volume ammunition for the informed debate about what multiculturalism means in the United States Lise Funderburg author of Black White Other Biracial

Contemporary American Speeches Richard L. Johannesen,2000 Contains a collection of transcripts of contemporary American speeches providing brief biographical information on the author of each speech as well as critical and historical context Includes CD ROM with forty two significant speeches      Rethinking Multicultural Education Carol Korn-Bursztyn,Alberto M. Bursztyn Ph.D.,2002-03-30 Korn and Bursztyn and their contributors examine the cultural transitions that children make as they move between the cultures of home and school To better understand these transitions they explore how educators understand their students shifting experiences and examine how educators also negotiate transitions as they too move from home to school each day The narratives or case studies reflect this shifting gaze from child to teacher to parents and take up the various relational configurations that these can form amongst and between each other They turn a critical eye toward instances of classroom practice and school life connecting personal knowledge with school change In some cases the authors draw directly on autobiographical material linking these to a reflective approach to teaching Avoiding the celebratory tone that often attends discussions of multiculturalism the authors address how diversity engages us in continual renegotiation of the personal and social The perspectives of educators and of teacher candidates are presented and the construction of cultural identity and its impact on schools explored In illuminating the complicated nature of cultural transitions and the obligation of schools to create places in which children and families of diverse backgrounds can thrive they highlight how multiculturalism can play a transformative role in the lives of children and schools A must reading for educators and graduate students in education school psychology guidance and counseling Color Struck Julius O. Robinson, 2017-03-06 When Gertrude Williams retired in 1998 after forty nine years in the Baltimore public schools The Baltimore Sun called her the most powerful of principals who tangled with two superintendents and beat them both In this oral memoir Williams identifies the essential elements of sound education and describes the battles she waged to secure those elements first as teacher then a counselor and for twenty five years as principal She also described her own education growing up black in largely white Germantown Pennsylvania studying black history and culture for the first time at Cheyney State Teachers College and meeting the rigorous demands of the program which she graduated from in 1949 In retracing her career Williams examines the highs and lows of urban public education since World War II She is at once an outspoken critic and spirited advocate of the system to which she devoted her life Becoming Multicultural Terry Ford, 2014-01-21 This book argues that becoming multicultural is a process of recursive cycles that must involve confrontational dialogue for change Multicultural education texts often describe multiculturalism as a process where a person develops competencies of perceiving evaluating believing and doing in multiple ways However the dynamic fluid and changing qualities central to the process of interpersonal interaction often results in mastery of a product focusing on lists of static features of generalized groups rather than on the individuals who make up those groups Rather than listing and describing objectified features of cultural groups from a theoretical view this book details the interactions of 21 ethnically diverse individuals through one classroom experience First the personal histories and meanings constructed from lived experience are detailed and analyzed to reveal the ways in which personal identity constructions influence learning events in a singular classroom context Second from this analysis the author develops a conceptual model for the process of becoming multicultural Then the author applies the model to herself and describes specific ways in which interaction with these individuals has influenced her present teaching strategies for expecting and facilitating confrontational dialogue toward developing education that is multicultural Specifically the book addresses the questions 1 What does it mean to become multicultural 2 What does it mean to be culturally sensitive 3 How can the process of multiculturalism be facilitated in a classroom setting 4 What is the teacher's role in the multicultural classroom 5 What are some expected predictable outcomes of a multicultural classroom Includes bibliography and index

Practicing What We Teach Renée J. Martin, 1995-01-01 This book provides new teachers with concepts and pedagogical strategies designed to enhance the unique and individual characteristics of an increasingly diverse student population

Multicultural Education Fred Schultz, 1999-03 ESSAYS IN MULTICULTURAL EDUCATION

Multiracial Identity and Racial Politics in the United States Natalie Masuoka, 2017-08-30 While pundits point to multiracial Americans as new evidence of a harmonious ethnic melting pot in reality mixed race peoples have long existed in the United States Rather than characterize multiracial Americans as a new population this book argues that instead we should view them as individuals who reflect a new culture of racial identification Today identities such as biracial or swirlies are evoked alongside those more established racial categories of white black Asian and Latino What is significant about multiracial identities is that they communicate an alternative viewpoint about race that a person's preferred self identification should be used to define a person's race Yet this definition of race is a distinct contrast to historic norms which has defined race as a category assigned to a person based on certain social rules which emphasized things like phenotype being one drop of African blood or heritage In Multiracial Identity and Racial Politics in the United States Natalie Masuoka catalogues how this cultural shift from assigning race to perceiving race as a product of personal identification came about by tracing events over the course of the twentieth century Masuoka uses a variety of sources including in depth interviews public opinion surveys and census data to understand how certain individuals embrace the agency of self identification and choose to assert multiracial identities At the same time the book shows that the meaning and consequences of multiracial identification can only be understood when contrasted against those who identify as white black Asian or Latino An included case study on President Barack Obama also shows how multiracial identity narratives can be strategically used to reduce anti black bias among voters Therefore rather than looking at multiracial Americans as a harbinger of dramatic change for American race relations this Multiracial Identity and Racial Politics in the United States shows that narratives promoting multiracial identities are in direct dialogue with rather than in replacement of the longstanding racial order
