

A photograph of a forest with tall, thin trees. The foliage is a vibrant red, suggesting autumn. In the background, a mountain range is visible under a clear sky. The text is overlaid on the left side of the image.

It is our inward journey that leads us through time – forward or back, seldom in a straight line, most often spiraling. Each of us is moving, changing, with respect to others. As we discover, we remember; remembering, we discover; and most intensely do we experience this when our separate journeys converge. Our living experience at those meeting points is one of the charged dramatic fields of fiction.
