Roads Are Not Enough New Perspectives On Rural Transport Planning In Developing Countries:

Roads are Not Enough Jonathan Dawson, Ian Barwell, 1993 This book traces the evolution of transport theory and policy and the new needs led approach with examples from recent studies The authors suggest areas of intervention to reduce the transport burden on the rural poor Rural Road Investment Efficiency Gael Raballand, Patricia Macchi, Carly Petracco, 2010-03-23 The development aid community has placed a great deal of emphasis on the need for rural mobility in Sub Saharan Africa SSA Thus far most development partners and governments in SSA have relied on two overarching assumptions when dispensing transport aid that most households in rural areas in Africa are not connected to markets and therefore need a road passable for a truck and that roads with high levels of service are crucial in order to achieve high economic impact Based on data collection from various sources in three SSA countries Rural Road Investment Efficiency demonstrates that from a cost benefit perspective the additional cost of extending an all weather road two more kilometers to the farmer s door outweigh the benefits in most cases Rural Road Investment Efficiency seeks to enhance the effectiveness of aid allocated for rural transport in SSA and calls into question the need for full implementation of all benchmarks set forth in the Rural Access Index RAI in SSA This book will be an essential reference for government supervisory authorities and infrastructure experts throughout the region Assessing the Impact of Transport and Energy Infrastructure on Poverty Reduction Cynthia C. Cook, Asian Development Bank, 2005 The objectives of the RETA regional technical assistance project a study based on a literature and project review and on field research in three Asian countries People s Republic of China Thailand and India were to enhance current understanding of how transport and energy infrastructure contribute to poverty reduction to fill knowledge gaps and to identify lessons learned and good practices P 1 Ergonomics in Developing Regions Patricia A. Scott, 2009-06-17 Industrially developing countries have the largest populations the highest levels of poverty poor health and illiteracy and the greatest need for improvement in working conditions And as the marketplace and the workforce goes increasingly global accountability with regard to the abuse of cheap labor in developing countries is becoming an issue Roads and Anthropology Dimitris Dalakoglou, Penelope Harvey, 2016-04-14 Roads and the powerful sense of mobility that they promise carry us back and forth between the sweeping narratives of globalisation and the specific tangible materialities of particular times and places Indeed despite the fact that roads might by comparison with the sparkling agility of virtual technologies appear to be grounded in twentieth century industrial political economy they could arguably be taken as the paradigmatic material infrastructure of the twenty first century supporting both the information society in the ever increasing circulation of commoditized goods and labour and the extractive economies of developing countries which the production and reproduction of such goods and labour depends Roads and Anthropology is the first collection of road ethnographies edited by two pioneers in the anthropological explorations of infrastructures the essays published in this book aim to pave the way for that rising field of anthropological research This book was published as a
