Seeing Beneath the Soil Oliver Anthony Clark, Anthony Clark, 2003-09-02 Scientific soil prospecting methods can give dramatic pictures of buried archaeological sites and sometimes information on what occurred within them before any earth has been removed Dr Clark who was one of the earliest to work in this field has written the first general survey of an increasingly important area of practical archaeology The emphasis is on the principles and practical application of the well established techniques of resistivity magnetometry and magnetic susceptibility with shorter sections on emerging and less common techniques such as ground penetrating radar electromagnetic methods and phosphate survey This paperback edition updates and enhances the earlier book adding new material such as the large scale evaluation exercises now required as a precondition of planning consent for major developments

Bauer,Cornelius Holtorf,Margarita Díaz-Andreu García,Emma Waterton,2012 A Handbook of Geoarchaeological Approaches to Settlement Sites and Landscapes Charles French,2015-11-30 Geoarchaeology is a major branch of archaeological science at the interfaces between geology geography and archaeology involving the combined study of archaeological soil and geomorphological records and the recognition of how natural climatic and human induced processes alter landscapes The formation and modification of past soils and occupation sequences can be examined primarily through the use of soil micromorphological techniques and various physical and geo chemical techniques This short text aims to explain some of the basics of geoarchaeological approaches and research design used to tackle the investigation of landscapes and settlement archaeology and the application of soil micromorphology to archaeological situations The intention is to present a basic handbook of good practice with case studies and examples that any archaeologist or aspiring geoarchaeologist can use Remote Sensing in Archaeology James R. Wiseman,Farouk El-Baz,2007-06-04 Over the last few decades a revolution took place in our ability to observe and explore our home planet using spaceborne and airborne remote sensing instruments This revolution resulted from the new capability of observing on a large regional and global scale surface patterns and features and from using multispectral instruments to observe surface signatures not visible to the human eye and to penetrate below the surface cover using microwave radiation Over the last decade this new technology is being brought to bear in the field of archaeology As nicely and comprehensively described in this book remote sensing techniques are bringing new powerful tools to help archaeologists in their quest of discovery and exploration Even though this field is still in its infancy the different articles in this book give us a glimpse of the things to come and the great potential of remote sensing in archaeology The editors have brought an excellent sampling of authors that illustrate how remote sensing techniques are being used in the real world of archaeological exploration A number of chapters illustrate how spaceborne and airborne remote sensing instruments are being used to decipher surface morphological features in arid Egypt Arabia semi arid Greece Ethiopia Italy as well as tropical regions Costa Rica Guatemala Cambodia to help in archaeological and paleontological exploration They illustrate the use of surface cover penetration with radars high resolution multispectral imaging on a regional basis as well as topographic signatures acquired with spaceborne and airborne sensors Digital Methods and Remote Sensing in Archaeology Maurizio Forte,Stefano Campana,2017-02-10 This volume debuts the new scope of Remote Sensing which was first defined as the analysis of data collected by sensors that were not in physical contact with the objects under investigation using cameras scanners and radar systems operating from spaceborne or airborne platforms A wider characterization is now possible Remote Sensing can be any non destructive approach to viewing the buried and nominally invisible evidence of past activity Spaceborne and airborne sensors now supplemented by laser scanning are united using ground based geophysical instruments and undersea remote sensing as well as other non invasive techniques such as surface collection or field walking survey Now any method that enables observation of evidence on or beneath the surface of the earth without impact on the surviving stratigraphy is legitimately within the realm of Remote Sensing The new interfaces and senses engaged in Remote Sensing appear throughout the book On a philosophical level this is about the landscapes and built environments that reveal history through place and time It is about new perspectives the views of history possible with Remote Sensing and fostered in part by immersive interactive 3D and 4D environments discussed in this volume These perspectives are both the result and the implementation of technological cultural and epistemological advances in record keeping interpretation and conceptualization Methodology presented here builds on the current ease and speed in collecting data sets on the scale of the object site locality and landscape As this volume shows many disciplines surrounding archaeology and related cultural studies are currently involved in Remote Sensing and its relevance will only increase as the methodology expands
