Handbook of Twentieth-Century Literatures of India Nalini Natarajan, 1996-09-09 India has a rich literary assemblage produced by its many different regional traditions religious faiths ethnic subcultures and linguistic groups The published literature of the 20th century is a particularly interesting subject and is the focus of this book as it represents the provocative conjuncture of the transitions of Indian modernity This reference book surveys the major regional literatures of contemporary India in the context of the country's diversity and heterogeneity Chapters are devoted to particular regions and the arrangement of the work invites comparisons of literary traditions Chapters provide extensive bibliographies of primary works thus documenting the creative achievement of numerous contemporary Indian authors Some chapters cite secondary works as well and the volume concludes with a list of general works providing further information An introductory essay overviews theoretical concerns ideological and aesthetic considerations developments in various genres and the history of publishing in regional literatures The introduction provides a context for approaching the chapters that follow each of which is devoted to the literature of a particular region Each chapter begins with a concise introductory section The body of each chapter is structured according to social and historical events literary forms or broad descriptive or analytic trends depending on the particular subject matter Each chapter then closes with an extensive bibliography of primary works thus documenting the rich literary tradition of the region Some chapters also cite secondary sources as an aid to the reader The final chapters of the book address special topics such as sub cultural literatures or the interplay between literature and film A list of additional sources of general information concludes the volume

Children's Literature and Intergenerational Relationships

Justyna Deszcz-Tryhubczak, Irena Barbara Kalla, 2021-04-23 Children's Literature and Intergenerational Relationships Encounters of the Playful Kind explores ways in which children's literature becomes the object and catalyst of play that brings younger and older generations closer to one another Providing examples from diverse cultural and historical contexts this collection argues that children's texts promote intergenerational play through the use of literary devices and graphic formats and that they may prompt joint play practices in the real world The book offers a distinctive contribution to children's literature scholarship by shifting critical attention away from the difference and conflict between children and adults to the exploration of inter age interdependencies as equally crucial aspects of human life presenting a new perspective for all who research and work with children's culture in times of global aging

Colonial India in Children's Literature Supriya Goswami, 2012-07-26 Colonial India in Children's Literature is the first book length study to explore the intersections of children's literature and defining historical moments in colonial India Engaging with important theoretical and critical literature that deals with colonialism hegemony and marginalization in children's literature Goswami proposes that British Anglo Indian and Bengali children's literature respond to five key historical events the missionary debates preceding the Charter Act of 1813 the defeat of Tipu Sultan the Mutiny of 1857 the birth of Indian nationalism and the Swadeshi movement resulting from the Partition of Bengal in 1905 Through a study of works by Mary Sherwood 1775 1851 Barbara Hofland 1770 1844 Sara Jeanette Duncan 1861 1922 Rudyard Kipling 1865 1936 Upendrakishore Ray 1863 1915 and Sukumar Ray 1887

1923 Goswami examines how children's literature negotiates and represents these momentous historical forces that unsettled Britain's imperial ambitions in India. Goswami argues that nineteenth-century British and Anglo-Indian children's texts reflect two distinct moods in Britain's colonial enterprise in India. Sherwood and Hofland writing before 1857 use the tropes of conversion and captivity as a means of awakening children to the dangers of India, whereas Duncan and Kipling shift the emphasis to martial prowess, adaptability, and empirical knowledge as defining qualities in British and Anglo-Indian children. Furthermore, Goswami's analysis of early nineteenth-century children's texts written by women authors redresses the preoccupation with male authors and boys' adventure stories that have largely informed discussions of juvenility in the context of colonial India. This groundbreaking book also seeks to open up the canon by examining early twentieth-century Bengali children's texts that not only draw literary inspiration from nineteenth-century British children's literature but whose themes are equally shaped by empire.
