Smith,2018-08-07 Mexico today is one of the most dangerous places in the world to report the news and Mexicans have taken to the street to defend freedom of expression As Benjamin T Smith demonstrates in this history of the press and civil society the cycle of violent repression and protest over journalism is nothing new He traces it back to the growth in newspaper production and reading publics between 1940 and 1976 when a national thirst for tabloids crime sheets and magazines reached far beyond the middle class As Mexicans began to view local and national events through the prism of journalism everyday politics changed radically Even while lauding the liberty of the press the state developed an arsenal of methods to control what was printed including sophisticated spin and misdirection techniques covert financial payments and campaigns of threats imprisonment beatings and even murder The press was also pressured by media monopolists tacking between government demands and public expectations to maximize profits and by coalitions of ordinary citizens demanding that local newspapers publicize stories of corruption incompetence and state violence Since the Cold War both in Mexico City and in the provinces a robust radical journalism has posed challenges to government forces      Modern Architecture and Religious Communities, 1850-1970 Kate Jordan,Ayla Lepine,2018-04-17 Social groups formed around shared religious beliefs encountered significant change and challenges between the 1860s and the 1970s This book is the first collection of essays of its kind to take a broad thematically driven case study approach to this genre of architecture and its associated visual culture and communal experience Examples range from Nuns holy spaces celebrating the life of St Theresa of Lisieux to utopian American desert communities and their reliance on the philosophy of Teilhard de Chardin Modern religious architecture converses with a broad spectrum of social anthropological cultural and theological discourses and the authors engage with them rigorously and innovatively As such new readings of sacred spaces offer new angles and perspectives on some of the dominant narratives of the nineteenth twentieth and twenty first centuries empire urban expansion pluralism and modernity In a post traditional landscape religious architecture suggests expansive ways of exploring themes including nostalgia and revivalism engineering and technological innovation prayer and spiritual experimentation and the beauty of holiness for a brave new world Shaped by the tensions and anxieties of the modern era and powerfully expressed in the space and material culture of faith the architecture presented here creates a set of new turning points in the history of the built environment Journalism, Satire, and Censorship in Mexico Paul Gillingham, Michael Lettieri, Benjamin T. Tongues of Fallen Angels Selden Rodman, Jorge Luis Borges, 1974 Selden Rodman's Tongues of Fallen Angels is a collection of conversations with twelve ranking authors leading men of letters in the Western Hemisphere with accompanying informal photographs From Spanish America Jorge Luis Borges Gabriel Garcia Marquez the late Pablo Neruda and Octavio Paz From Brazil Vinicius de Moraes and Joan Cabral de Melo Neto From Trinidad the poet playwright Derek Walcott From the United States Robert Frost Allen Ginsberg Ernest Hemingway Stanley Kunitz and Norman Mailer An impressive list and all the more so given Rodman's remarkable power to give human substance to figures whose everyday words have been generally ignored in favor of their writings and other public pronouncements When Rodman's Conversations With Artists appeared in 1957 it aroused a storm of controversy intentionally polemical it became a storm center in the battles then raging in the art world Rodman's journals also contained records of fiery bouts with novelists and poets of stature He was urged at the time to publish them but refrained preferring to wait for a book of a different more empathic intent in putting together Tongues of Fallen Angels Rodman the editor of such seminal anthologies as One Hundred British Poets and One Hundred American Poems forcefully asserts the essential social role of the creator The minor poet he declares is primarily concerned with form or innovation the major one uses these tools almost unconsciously to say something he feels he has to say and which the world will be better for hearing American and British Writers in Mexico, 1556-1973 Drew

Wayne Gunn, 2014-07-03 American and British Writers in Mexico is the study that laid the foundation upon which subsequent examinations of Mexico's impact upon American and British letters have built. Chosen by the Mexican government to be placed in translation in its public libraries, the book was also referenced by Nobel Laureate Octavio Paz in an article in the New Yorker. Reflections on Mexico and the United States. Drew E. Wayne. Gunn demonstrates how Mexican experiences had a singular impact upon the development of English writers beginning with early British explorers who recorded their impressions for Hakluyt's Voyages through the Americas. Beats who sought to escape the strictures of American culture. Among the 140 or so writers considered are Stephen Crane, Ambrose Bierce, Langston Hughes, D. H. Lawrence, Somerset Maugham, Katherine Anne Porter, Hart Crane, Malcolm Lowry, John Steinbeck, Graham Greene, Tennessee Williams, Saul Bellow, William Carlos Williams, Robert Lowell, Ray Bradbury, Allen Ginsberg, William Burroughs, and Jack Kerouac. Gunn finds that while certain elements reflecting the Mexican experience—colors, landscape, manners, political atmosphere, a sense of the alien—are common in their writings, the authors reveal less about Mexico than they do about themselves. A Mexican sojourn often marked the beginning, the end, or the turning point in a literary career. The insights that this pioneering study provides into our complex cultural relationship with Mexico so different from American and British authors' encounters with Continental cultures remain vital. The book is essential for anyone interested in understanding the full range of the impact of the expatriate experience on writers. Accessions List, United States. Department of State. Library Division, 1959. Modern Architecture in Mexico City. Kathryn E. O'Rourke, 2017-02-10. Mexico City became one of the centers of architectural modernism in the Americas in the first half of the twentieth century. Invigorated by insights drawn from the first published histories of Mexican colonial architecture, which suggested that Mexico possessed a distinctive architecture and culture beginning in the 1920s, a new generation of architects created profoundly visual modern buildings intended to convey Mexico's unique cultural character. By midcentury these architects and their students had rewritten the country's architectural history and transformed the capital into a metropolis where new buildings that evoked pre-conquest colonial and International Style architecture coexisted. Through an exploration of schools, a university campus, a government ministry, a workers' park, and houses for Diego Rivera and Luis Barragán, Kathryn O'Rourke offers a new interpretation of modern architecture in the Mexican capital, showing close links between design, evolving understandings of national architectural history, folk art, and social reform. This book demonstrates why creating a distinctively Mexican architecture captivated architects whose work was formally dissimilar and how that concern became central to the profession. Guide to the Hispanic American Historical Review, 1956-1975. Wilber A. Chaffee, Beecher C. Ellison, 1980. Autobiographical Writings on Mexico. Richard D. Woods, 2024-10-14. This is the definitive bibliography of autobiographical writings on Mexico. The book incorporates works by Mexicans and foreigners with authors ranging from disinherited peasants, women, servants, and revolutionaries to more famous painters, writers, singers, journalists, and politicians. Primary sources of historic and artistic value the writings listed provide multiple perspectives on Mexico's past and give clues to a national Mexican identity. This work presents 1,850 entries including autobiographies, memoirs, collections of letters, diaries, oral autobiographies, interviews, and autobiographical novels and essays. Over 1,500 entries list works from native-born Mexicans written between 1691 and 2003. Entries include basic bibliographical data: genre, author's life dates, narrative dates, available translations into English, and annotation. The bibliography is indexed by author, title, and subject, and appendices provide a chronological listing of works and a list of selected outstanding autobiographies. Mathias Goeritz Jennifer Josten, 2018-01-01. The first major work in English on Mathias Goeritz (1915-1990) this book illuminates the artist's pivotal role within the landscape of twentieth-century modernism. Goeritz became recognized as an abstract sculptor after arriving in Mexico from Germany by way of Spain in 1949. His call to integrate abstract forms into civic and religious architecture outlined in his Emotional Architecture manifesto had a transformative impact on midcentury Mexican art and design. While best known for the experimental museum El Eco and his collaborations with the architect Luis Barragán including the brightly colored towers of Satellite City, Goeritz also shaped the Bauhaus-inspired curriculum at Guadalajara's School of Architecture and the iconic Cultural Program of Mexico City's 1968 Olympic Games. Josten addresses the Cold War implications of these and other initiatives that pitted Goeritz, an advocate of internationalist abstraction, against Diego Rivera and David Alfaro Siqueiros, ardent defenders of the realist style that prevailed in official Mexican art during the postrevolutionary period. Exploring Goeritz's dialogues with leading figures among the Parisian and New York avant-gardes such as Yves Klein and Philip Johnson, Josten shows how Goeritz's approach to modernism, which was highly attuned to politics and place, formed part of a global enterprise. A
