Morpheme Ant:

Coreference, Modality, and Focus Luis Eguren, Olga Fernández Soriano, 2007 This volume is a collection of selected papers originally presented at the XVIth Colloquium on Generative Grammar that was held at the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid All the papers deal with current issues within the generative framework mostly paying attention to phenomena pertaining to the syntax semantics interface The major concerns are coreference relations modals and modality and focus ellipsis More specifically the contributions present research findings from different languages often adopting a comparative perspective and include studies on sub extraction from subjects and objects on obviation and Control structures on specificity and Weak Crossover effects and on reconstruction without movement as well as papers that address the scopal interactions between tense aspect and modals the syntactic and semantic properties of different types of left periphery operators and the role focus plays in elliptical constructions

Creoles, Their Substrates, and Language Typology Claire

Lefebvre, 2011-01-01 Since creole languages draw their properties from both their substrate and superstrate sources the typological classification of creoles has long been a major issue for creolists typologists and linguists in general Several contradictory proposals have been put forward in the literature For example creole languages typologically pair with their superstrate languages Chaudenson 2003 with their substrate languages Lefebvre 1998 or even creole languages are alike Bickerton 1984 such that they constitute a definable typological class McWhorter 1998 This book contains 25 chapters bearing on detailed comparisons of some 30 creoles and their substrate languages As the substrate languages of these creoles are typologically different the detailed investigation of substrate features in the creoles leads to a particular answer to the question of how creoles should be classified typologically The bulk of the data show that creoles reproduce the typological features of their substrate languages This argues that creoles cannot be claimed to constitute a definable typological class

The Indo-Aryan Languages George Cardona, Danesh Jain, 2007-07-26 The Indo Aryan languages are spoken by at least 700 million people throughout India Pakistan Bangladesh Nepal Sri Lanka and the Maldives They have a claim to great antiquity with the earliest Vedic Sanskrit texts dating to the end of the second millennium B C With texts in Old Indo Aryan Middle Indo Aryan and Modern Indo Aryan this language family supplies a historical documentation of language change over a longer period than any other subgroup of Indo European This volume is divided into two main sections dealing with general matters and individual languages Each chapter on the individual language covers the phonology and grammar morphology and syntax of the language and its writing system and gives the historical background and information concerning the geography of the language and the number of its speakers

Modern English Structures

- Second Edition Bernard O'Dwyer, 2006-06-14 Modern English Structures is a clear and accessible text that follows a structural approach to teaching basic English grammar The book is divided into three parts what a sentence constituent is what a sentence constituent does and where a sentence constituent goes Form Function and Position The objective of the book is to bring students to a better understanding of sentence constituents and sentence structures providing them with appropriate terminology to discuss these forms and relationships This second edition has been revised and updated throughout The accompanying Modern English Structures Workbook parallels the text and provides useful training both in memorization and in higher order thinking skills The Categories of Grammar Alan Huffman,1997-02-13 This book offers an analysis of the French clitic object pronouns lui and le in the radically functional Columbia school framework contrasting this framework with sentence based treatments of case selection It suggests that features of the sentence such as subject and object relations normally taken as pretheoretical categories of observation about language are in fact part of a theory of language which does not withstand empirical testing It shows that the correct categories are neither those of structural case nor those of lexical case but rather semantic ones Traditionally anomalies in the selection of dative and accusative case in French such as case government use of the dative for possession and disadvantaging its use in the faire causative construction and other puzzling distributional irregularities have been used to support the idea of an autonomous non functional central core of syntactic phenomena in language The present analysis proposes semantic constants for lui and le which render all their occurrences explicable in a straightforward way The same functional perspective informs issues of cliticity and pronominalization as well The solution offered here emerges from an innovative instrumental view of linguistic meaning an acknowledgment that communicative output is determined only partially and indirectly by purely linguistic input with extralinguistic knowledge and human inference bridging the gap This approach entails identification of the pragmatic factors influencing case selection and a reevaluation of thematic role theory and reveals the crucial impact of discourse on the structure as well as the functioning of grammar One remarkable feature of the study is its extensive and varied data base The hypothesis is buttressed by hundreds of fully contextualized examples and large scale counts drawn from modern French texts Morphology, Phonology, and Aphasia Jean-Luc Nespoulous,Pierre Villiard,2012-12-06 Neuropsycholinguistics the interaction between linguistics psycholinguistics and aphasiology has over the past two decades established itself as a multidisciplinary science worthy of its recent attention in Drs Nespoulous and Villiard s Morphology Phonology and Aphasia In this new volume in the Springer Series in Neuropsychology the editors have most successfully developed a multidisciplinary team of research through the organization of two symposia one on Morphology and Aphasia the other focused on Phonology and Aphasia Toward the goal of better understanding the aphasic patients verbal behavior the contributing authors of this important work offer their respective expertise continuing the recent evolution of developments in the fields of morphology and phonology A Grammar of Alto Perené (Arawak) Elena Mihas,2015-06-26 Ash ninka Peren belongs to the Kampa group of the Arawak family located in the central Peruvian Amazon in the foothills of the Andes mountains While limited grammatical studies of Kampa languages exist this grammar is by far the most comprehensive study of any language of this sub family and is one of only two or three comparable studies of Arawak languages more generally

Research in Afroasiatic Grammar Two Jacqueline Lecarme, 2003 This volume contains 22 of the papers presented at the 5th Conference on Afroasiatic Languages CAL 5 held at Universite Paris VII in June 2000 The authors report their latest research on the syntax morphology and phonology of quite a number of languages Arabic Hebrew Amharic Tigrinya Coptic Egyptian Berber Hausa Beja Somali Gamo The articles discuss new solutions to familiar questions such as the free state construct state alternation of nouns the Semitic template system and the morphosyntax of nominal and verbal plurality Ten of the papers center on morphology especially the relation of phonology to syntax and morphology others address questions at the syntax semantics pragmatics interface two papers also offer comparative and historical perspectives Taken as a whole the papers provide an accurate picture of the state of current research in Afroasiatic linguistics containing important new data and new analyses Given its coverage the book is a valuable resource for anyone interested in Afroasiatic languages and theoretical linguistics

Ute Reference Grammar Talmy Givón, 2011-01-01 Ute is a Uto Aztecan language of the northernmost Numic branch currently spoken on three reservations in western Colorado and eastern Utah Like many other native languages of Northern America Ute is severely endangered This book is part of the effort toward its preservation Typologically Ute offers a cluster of intriguing features best viewed from the perspective of diachronic change and grammaticalization The book presents a comprehensive synchronic description of grammatical structures and their communicative functions as well as a diachronic account of a grammar in the midst of change The book is the first of a 3 volume series which also includes a collection of oral texts and a dictionary Ute speakers and tribal members may find in the present volume a step by step description of how words are combined into meaningful communication Linguists may find a detailed account of one language an account that is unabashedly informed by universals of grammar communication and change

Analysis on the Ideographic Characteristics of Some English Morphemes Hong Yang, Gao-ming Zhang, 2014-11-10 It is commonly accepted that English letters only represent sounds Is this indeed the case If not how can the concepts represented by English letters be revealed Analysis on the Ideographic Characteristics of Some English Morphemes provides the answers to these questions through an investigation of around 900 morphemes The book's point of departure for this investigation is that because English words are composed of letters their definitions may be linked to the concepts implied by th
