Mountains Of The Mediterranean World:

The Mountains of the Mediterranean World J. R. McNeill, 2003-12-18 An environmental history of the mountain areas of Turkey Greece Italy Spain and Morocco Environment and Ecology in the Mediterranean Region Recep Efe, Shahina Ghazanfar, Munir Ozturk, 2012-03-15 The Mediterranean Basin with its mountainous shores high biodiversity and spectacular scenery is located at the intersection of Africa and Eurasia Through the 8000 years of human development in this area there have been tremendous changes in its history and biogeography Approximately 300 million people live here today Although the evergreen maquis vineyards olive plantations and natural woodlands cover the lands all over the basin it is facing severe destruction of habitats due to deforestation intensive grazing fires and in particular a severe coastal degradation due to infrastructure development which is changing the landscape Both the historical heritage and geography of the land is facing a great threat due to urbanisation and fragmentation Time has come for its inhabitants to weigh their impact on its ecogeography in order to save the biodiversity as well as the history of the basin This book synthesises the knowledge from different disciplines so as to increase awareness among the humans in the basin Wealth, Poverty and Politics Thomas Sowell, 2016-09-06 In Wealth Poverty and Politics Thomas Sowell one of the foremost conservative public intellectuals in this country argues that political and ideological struggles have led to dangerous confusion about income inequality in America Pundits and politically motivated economists trumpet ambiguous statistics and sensational theories while ignoring the true determinant of income inequality the production of wealth We cannot properly understand inequality if we focus exclusively on the distribution of wealth and ignore wealth production factors such as geography demography and culture Sowell contends that liberals have a particular interest in misreading the data and chastises them for using income inequality as an argument for the welfare state Refuting Thomas Piketty Paul Krugman and others on the left Sowell draws on accurate empirical data to show that the inequality is not nearly as extreme or sensational as we have been led to believe Transcending partisanship through a careful examination of data Wealth Poverty and Politics reveals the truth about the most explosive political issue of our time The Thomas Sowell Reader Thomas Sowell, 2011-10-04 These selections from the many writings of Thomas Sowell over a period of a half century cover social economic cultural legal educational and political issues The sources range from Dr Sowell's letters books newspaper columns and articles in both scholarly journals and popular magazines The topics range from late talking children to tax cuts for the rich baseball race war the role of judges medical care and the rhetoric of politicians These topics are dealt with by sometimes drawing on history sometimes drawing on economics and sometimes drawing on a sense of humour The City and the Ocean I-Chun Wang, Jonathan White, 2012-01-24 Throughout history cities have been locations of human encounter Equally they have been contexts for the trade of goods and services for the evolution of various forms of urban space and for the production development and enrichment of culture and technology Many cities grew up along shorelines which themselves constitute some of the globe's

most important cultural boundaries For above all else it is water that has separated but also connected different communities races religions and nations down through recorded time With the rapid advance in technologies of communication encounters between cultures have multiplied at a rate that no individual can follow or control The present book constitutes a space of memory in its own right one of its chief reasons d tre being that a group of diverse scholars herein maps certain key encounters between peoples past as well as present and the urgent issues generated in consequence No one person could have traced such diversity and made sense of it whereas a scholarly grouping of persons reporting on phenomena from around the world such as is provided here offers its readers a vision of global change and development With the twentieth and twenty first centuries a new set of mega cities in Asia Africa and Latin America has emerged to challenge the primacy of European and North American metropolitan centres This expanded landscape is here interpreted with special attention as already mentioned to cities located at coastlines hence generally speaking more exposed to globalizing trends Migrants exiles and refugees ethnic and racial minorities as well as alternative or countercultural groupings continue to complicate the ways in which cities articulate their now pluralized identities in terms of and by means of literature history architecture social events and other forms of artistic and cultural production The international scholars whose work is assembled in these pages are well placed to engage with the intersecting themes and issues of the volume Contributors have mapped different examples from Homeric narrative through Renaissance drama and its representation of crossways of culture such as Rhodes and Malta to an earlier time in the development of a New World city such as Boston others look at the twentieth and twenty first centuries complexity of great world cities and of oceanic migration or trade between them Shanghai Singapore London Detroit Shantou Macau and Saigon are some that are dealt with in detail Emphasis falls on both the historical reality of those contexts as well as how they have been culturally represented A Companion to the Environmental History of Byzantium

,2024-03-04 How did humans and the environment impact each other in the medieval Eastern Mediterranean How did global climatic fluctuations affect the Byzantine Empire over the course of a millennium And how did the transmission of pathogens across long distances affect humans and animals during this period This book tackles these and other questions about the intersection of human and natural history in a systematic way Bringing together analyses of historical archaeological and natural scientific evidence specialists from across these fields have contributed to this volume to outline the new discipline of Byzantine environmental history Contributors are Johan Bakker Henriette Baron Chryssa Bourbou James Crow Michael J Decker Warren J Eastwood Dominik Fleitmann John Haldon Adam Izdebski Eva Kaptijn J rg Luterbacher Henry Maguire Mischa Meier Lee Mordechai Jeroen Poblome Johannes Preiser Kapeller Abigail Sargent Peter Talloen Costas Tsiamis Ralf Vandam Myrto Veikou Sam White and Elena Xoplaki On the Frontiers of the Indian Ocean World Philip

Roller,2018-01-11 Strabo's Geography completed in the early first century AD is the primary source for the history of Greek geography This Guide provides the first English analysis of and commentary on this long and difficult text and serves as a companion to the author's The Geography of Strabo the first English translation of the work in many years It thoroughly analyzes each of the seventeen books and provides perhaps the most thorough bibliography as yet created for Strabo's work Careful attention is paid to the historical and cultural data the thousands of toponyms and the many lost historical sources that are preserved only in the Geography This volume guides readers through the challenges and complexities of the text allowing an enhanced understanding of the numerous topics that Strabo covers from the travels of Alexander and the history of the Mediterranean to science religion and cult

Common Land, Wine and the French Revolution Noelle Plack,2016-05-23 Recent revisionist history has questioned the degree of social and economic change attributable to the French Revolution Some historians have also claimed that the Revolution was primarily an urban affair with little relevance to the rural masses This book tests these ideas by examining the Revolutionary Napoleonic and Restoration attempts to transform the tenure of communal land in one region of southern France the department of the Gard By analysing the results of the legislative attempts to privatize common land this study highlights how the Revolution's agrarian policy profoundly affected French rural society and the economy Not only did some members of the rural community mainly small holding peasants increase their land holdings but certain sectors of agriculture were also transformed these findings shed light on the growth in viticulture in the south of France before the monocultural revolution of the 1850s The privatization of common land alongside the abolition of feudalism and the transformation of judicial institutions were key aspects of the Revolution in the countryside This detailed study demonstrates that the legislative process was not a top down procedure but an interaction between a state and its citizens It is an important contribution to the new social history of the French Revolution and will appeal to economic and social historians as well as historical geographers

The Geographical Guide of Ptolemy of Alexandria Duane

W. Roller, 2023-12-15 This volume offers a detailed study of Ptolemy of Alexandria's Geographical Guide whose eight books contain a wealth of geographical information unavailable elsewhere and represent the culmination of the Greco-Roman discipline of geography. Written near the middle of the second century AD, the Geographical Guide is the most anomalous of the surviving works of ancient geographical scholarship but offers a vivid record of the expansion of geographical knowledge in antiquity. Roller examines this peculiar text which offers unique data about explorations in the far reaches of the inhabited world from Thule and Hibernia in the northwest to Kattigara in the southeast and from Serice in northeastern Asia southwest into central Africa. He positions the Guide within the tradition of ancient geography and gives close attention to the reason why Ptolemy wrote the guide and how it contributes to the genre of geographical scholarship. There is also an emphasis on the topographic and ethnic material within the Guide that is new or unique, especially explorations in sub-Saharan Africa and knowledge of the world beyond India. Because the Guide was written over half a century after the previous extant geographical work, the first books of Pliny's Natural History, the book also assesses how knowledge of geography changed during this period. This work is an essential text for students and scholars of ancient geography and is also of interest to anyone working on the cultural history of the Roman Empire during this period. Mediterranean Mountain Environments Ioannis Vogiatzakis, 2012-09-04 Mediterranean mountains exhibit many similarities in their biotic, ecological, physical, and environmental characteristics. There are also many differences in terms of their human colonization, pattern, historic land uses, and current anthropogenic pressures. This book provides an introduction to these environments of mountainous areas in the Mediterranean and their changes in time and space in relation to both natural and cultural factors. Mediterranean Mountain Environments places its emphasis on physical geography while adopting an integrated approach to the whole subject area. The book draws examples from a wide range of environments demonstrating the interaction between human and physical processes responsible for shaping mountain areas. Risks and conflicts as well as methods and tools for the conservation and management of both the natural and cultural environment are covered in the light of future challenges for the sustainable development of the Mediterranean mountains. Emphasis on both mainland and island mountain ranges. Combines natural and cultural approach in the topic. Integrated approach facing future challenges based on the study and understanding of the historical processes that have shaped the Mediterranean mountains. Key references at the end of each chapter. Mountain Landscapes in Transition Udo Schickhoff, R.B. Singh, Suraj Mal, 2021-11-02 This book compiles available knowledge of the response of mountain ecosystems to recent climate and land use change and intends to bridge the gap between science, policy, and the community concerned. The chapters present key concepts, major drivers, and key processes of mountain response, providing transdisciplinary orientation to mountain studies, incorporating experiences of academics, community leaders, and policy makers from developed and less developed countries. The book chapters are arranged in two sections. The first section concerns the response processes of mountain environments to climate change. This section addresses climate change itself past current and future changes of temperature and precipitation and its impacts on the cryosphere hydrosphere biosphere and human environment systems The second section focuses on the response processes of mountain environments to land use land cover change The case studies address effects of changing agriculture and pastoralism forest water resources management and urbanization processes landscape management and biodiversity conservation The book is designed as an interdisciplinary publication which critically evaluates developments in mountains of the world with contributions from both social and natural sciences

The Life and Death of Ancient Cities Greg Woolf, 2020 The human race is on a 10 000 year urban adventure Our ancestors wandered the planet or lived scattered in villages yet by the end of this century almost all of us will live in cities But that journey has not been a smooth one and urban civilizations have risen and fallen many times in history The ruins of many of them still enchant us This book tells the story of the rise and fall of ancient cities from the end of the Bronze Age to the beginning of the Middle Ages It is a tale of war and politics pestilence and famine triumph and tragedy by turns both fabulous and squalid Its focus is on the ancient Mediterranean Greeks and Romans at the centre but Phoenicians and Etruscans Persians Gauls and Egyptians all play a part The story begins with the Greek discovery of much more ancient urban civilizations in Egypt and the Near East and charts the gradual spread of urbanism to the Atlantic and then the North Sea in the centuries that followed The ancient Mediterranean where our story begins was a harsh environment for urbanism So how were cities first created and then sustained for so long in these apparently unpromising surroundings How did they feed themselves where did they find water and building materials and what did they do with their waste and their dead Why in the end did their rulers give up on them And what it was like to inhabit urban worlds so unlike our own cities plunged into darkness every night cities dominated by the temples of the gods cities of farmers cities of slaves cities of soldiers Ultimately the chief characters in the story are the cities themselves Athens and Sparta Persepolis and Carthage Rome and Alexandria cities that formed great families Their story encompasses the history of the generations of people who built and inhabited them whose short lives left behind monuments that have inspired city builders ever since and whose ruins stand as stark reminders to the 21st century of the perils as well as the potential rewards of an urban existence

As a multi-disciplinary, multi-sectoral, holistic, and systemic industry, tourism is also uniquely placed to address the concerns of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). While the relationships between tourism sustainability and sustainable development are the subjects of deep study, the direct positive effects of tourism on SDGs remain underdiscussed. The Handbook of Research on the Role of Tourism in Achieving Sustainable Development Goals is a collection of innovative research that explores sustainable practices within the tourism industry. While highlighting a broad range of topics including economic growth, education, and production patterns, this book is ideally designed for engineers, entrepreneurs, policymakers, executives, advocates, researchers, academicians, and students.

The New Dimensions of the European Landscapes R.H.G. Jongman, 2005-05-09. The European Landscape is under stress of changing land use and a changing attitude of its users. Globalization, the disappearance of the iron curtain, and the recent EU enlargement to 25 countries have changed the economic and environmental dimensions of Europe. Europe is changing its face from a western and eastern part to one European Union, and to fast connections between its centres of activity. The rural and cultural heritage of Europe has to be adapted to cope with this change. However, its landscape is worth to be conserved as well because it represents the European history in the same way as castles and churches. It even more represents the history of the common people because it has been the tradition of the rural population that made these landscapes. It cannot be prevented that Europe is changing, and it is good that Europe adapts to the new dimensions of the world. We in Europe have to define what we think is important and what must be conserved, what can be adapted to be used for new functions, and what can be abolished because it has no value. These decisions will determine the new dimensions of the European landscapes. The Frontis Workshop on the New Dimensions of the European Landscape was held on 10-12 June 2002. Wageningen University and Research Centre organized this workshop, aiming to develop visions on the landscape in Europe, its development and design in the future, and to strengthen the international network in landscape planning.
