Mulè,John A. Bailey,B.M. Cooke,A. Logrieco,2012-09-19 Toxigenic Fusarium species and ochratoxigenic fungi are responsible for various plant diseases which have important consequential effects on both human and animal health worldwide The development of rapid robust and sensitive detection methods based on new molecular technologies is urgently needed in order to identify fungal contamination in the field and quantify toxin accumulation in food and animal feed Most of the contributions in this special issue are from results obtained through the EU 5th Framework project QLKI CT 1998 01380 DETOX FUNGI early detection of toxigenic Fusarium species and ochratoxigenic fungi in plant products which has strongly stimulated interaction and co operation between many European scientists

Valuable contributions from other scientists have guaranteed a complete overview of this stimulating and interesting topic This is the third special issue published in the European Journal of Plant Pathology concerning mycotoxigenic fungi under the aegis of COST Action 835 Agriculturally Important Toxigenic Fungi The first two dealt with Mycotoxins in Plant Disease Vol 108 7 2002 and Epidemiology of Mycotoxin Producing Fungi Vol 109 7 2003 The present issue contains contributions which cover aspects of molecular diversity phylogeny and PCR detection of toxigenic Fusarium species and various ochratoxigenic fungi We hope these will prove helpful to researchers involved in similar work and will stimulate the future studies required for the early detection of these fungi which is so essential for overcoming the health risks associated with mycotoxin contaminated food products Phillip Stubbes's Anatomy of the Abuses in England in Shakspeare's Youth,

Pooley, 1996 The different ways in which a language may be pronounced is not only a constant source of fascination for speakers and learners but also a powerful symbol of regional identity Using recordings of spontaneous speech by working class speakers from an urban industrial environment in northern France Tim Pooley traces the development of the urban vernacular of the Lille area often referred to as Chtimi from a traditional patois to a variety of Regional French against the background of the social changes that have occurred in the speakers lifetimes The result is firstly a study in sociolinguistic variation both from the structural and sociolinguistic viewpoints secondly an analysis of language shift in a context where the obsolescent language is closely related to the dominant variety and thirdly a detailed analysis of the key features of the phonology and grammar of northern Regional French It is also one of the first studies concerned with France to show how network factors may influence speakers use of French BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Hearings United States.
