Other Times Philosophical Perspectives On Past Present And Future:

Other Times David Cockburn,1997-10-23 An interesting and thought provoking study of issues in the philosophy of time

Time and the Shape of History P. J. Corfield,2007-01-01 In this lively comedy of love and money in sixteenth century Venice Bassanio wants to impress the wealthy heiress Portia but lacks the necessary funds He turns to his merchant friend Antonio who is forced to borrow from Shylock a Jewish moneylender When Antonio s business falters repayment becomes impossible and by the terms of the loan agreement Shylock is able to demand a pound of Antonio s flesh Portia cleverly intervenes and all ends well except of course for Shylock

The Blackwell Companion to Philosophy Nicholas Bunnin,Eric Tsui-James,2003 An introduction to philosophy looks at key issues figures and movements in the field

The Images of Time Robin Le Poidevin,2007-09-27 The Images of Time presents a philosophical investigation of the nature of time and the mind s ways of representing it Robin Le Poidevin examines how we perceive time and change the means by which memory links us with the past the attempt to represent change and movement in art and the nature of fictional time These apparently disparate questions all concern the ways in which we represent aspects of time in thought experience art and fiction They also raise fundamental problems for our philosophical understanding both of mental representation and of the nature of time itself Le Poidevin brings together issues in philosophy psychology aesthetics and literary theory in examining the mechanisms underlying our representation of time in various media and brings these to bear on metaphysical debates over the real nature of time These debates concern which aspects of time are genuinely part of time s intrinsic nature and which in some sense are mind dependent Arguably the most important debate concerns time s passage does time pass in reality or is the division of events into past present and future simply a reflection of our temporal perspective a result of the interaction between a static world and minds capable of representing it Le Poidevin argues that contrary to what perception and memory lead us to suppose time does not really pass and this surprising conclusion can be reconciled with the characteristic features of temporal experience

Oxford Studies in Experimental Philosophy ,2024-07-17 The new field of experimental philosophy has emerged as the methods of psychological science have been brought to bear on traditional philosophical issues Oxford Studies in Experimental Philosophy is the place to go to see outstanding new work in the field It features papers by philosophers papers by psychologists and papers co authored by people in both disciplines The series heralds the emergence of a truly interdisciplinary field in which people from different disciplines are working together to address a shared set of questions This new volume of Oxford Studies in Experimental Philosophy showcases the continuing development of the field The submitted papers go ever more deeply into some of the issues that have long been central topics of experimental philosophy research epistemic intuitions metaethical intuitions intuitions about causation but also venture into new topics that illustrate the broadening the scope of experimental philosophy research slurs experimental economics Socratic questionnaires The volume concludes with three specially commissioned essays reviewing recent work on three central topics causal judgment knowledge ascription and the experimental philosophy of consciousness      The Normative

Status of Time Bias Kristie Miller, 2024-12-10 This book empirically investigates the nature of time biases Many philosophers think that it is rationally permissible to prefer a life that is overall worse to one that is overall better as long as the badness of that life lies in the past rather than the future These philosophers think that it is rationally permissible to be time biased Time biased individuals differently value the wellbeing of their various selves in virtue of where those selves are located in time This book focuses on three key kinds of time bias near present and future bias It presents a rich picture of the conditions under which we display these biases and it outlines several psychological explanations for them It then uses this new empirical research we conducted to inform arguments regarding the normative status of these biases At its heart it considers the question does having time biased preferences of one sort or another make us better off or worse off And it uses the answers to these questions to inform our theorising about whether we have reason either to have or to avoid having such preferences

Memory, Historic Injustice, and Responsibility W. James Booth, 2019-11-05 What is it to do justice to the absent victims of past injustice given the distance that separates us from them Grounded in political theory and guided by the literature on historical justice W James Booth restores the dead to their central place at the heart of our understanding of why and how to deal with past injustice Testimonies and accounts from the race war in the United States the Holocaust post apartheid South Africa Argentina s Dirty War and the conflict in Northern Ireland help advance and defend Booth s claim that caring for the dead is a central part of addressing past injustice Memory Historic Injustice and Responsibility is an insightful and original book on the relationship of past and present in thinking about what it means to do justice A valuable addition to the currently available literature on historical justice the volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of political science philosophy history and law

Persistence through Time in Spinoza Jason Waller, 2012-08-31 This book concerns the nature of time and ordinary cases of persistence in Spinoza The author argues for three major interpretive claims First that Spinoza is committed to an eternalist theory of time whereby all things whether they seem to be past present or future are equally real Second that a mode s conatus or essence is a self maintaining activity not an inertial force or disposition Third that modes persist through time in Spinoza s metaphysics by having temporal parts that is different parts at different times If the author is correct then a significant reinterpretation of Spinoza s modal metaphysics is required The book also puts Spinoza into dialogue with some recent work in analytic metaphysics

Questions of Time and Tense Robin Le Poidevin, 1998 This book brings together new essays on a major focus of debate in contemporary metaphysics does time really pass or is our ordinary experience of time as consisting of past present and future an illusion The international contributors broaden this debate by demonstrating the importance of questions about the nature of time for philosophical issues in ethics aesthetics psychology science religion and language

Temporal Asymmetries in Philosophy and Psychology Christoph Hoerl, Teresa McCormack, Alison Fernandes, 2022 Our attitudes towards an event may vary depending on whether the event has happened or has yet to take place Philosophers and psychologists explore such psychological past future asymmetries to reveal what kinds of asymmetries we exhibit and under what conditions and how they may reflect particular beliefs about time or features of time itself

Saivism in Philosophical Perspective Krishna Sivaraman, 2001 Saivism is one of the pervasive expressions of Indian Religious Culture stretching to the dim past of pre history and surviving as a living force in the thought and life of millions of Hindus especially in Southern India and Northern Ceylon The present work is scholarly reconstruction of Saivism in its characteristic and classical form as Saiva Siddhanta focusing mainly on the philosophical doctrine and presenting a conceptual analysis of its formative notions problems and methods Antecedent the rise of the great systems of Vedanta including that of Sankara Saiva Siddhanta in its fully systematised form as Mystical Theology in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries represents a constructive reaction to the theological ethical and aesthetic aspects of Vedanta as a whole A patient study of this much neglected phase of religio philosophical development of India should prove useful for a more balanced understanding of Indian religiosity providing a corrective to the view entertained not without justification that Indian religious thought does not affirm the values of freedom love and personality This methodical study appended with very exhaustive glossary bibliography and index and two hundred pages of references and foot notes is designed to meet the requirements of serious students of Eastern religious thought

The Routledge Companion to Philosophy of Time Nina Emery, 2025-09-30 The Routledge Companion to Philosophy of Time is a comprehensive and authoritative guide to a growing subfield of philosophical research which spans traditional and contemporary debates about the nature of time as well as a diverse set of historical geographical and cultural contexts This book also highlights the interdisciplinary connections between philosophy of time and nearby fields including history physics psychology cognitive development and more Comprising 50 chapters by a diverse team of contributors from all over the globe the Companion is divided into five parts I History of Philosophy of Time II Contemporary Metaphysics of Time III Time and Physics IV Time and Mind V Further Connections The volume is essential reading for students and researchers of philosophy who are interested in exploring the philosophical issues related to time It is also a valuable resource for philosophers in adjacent subfields including philosophy of mind philosophy of physics and history of philosophy as well as researchers in related fields in the sciences and social sciences

Time: Sense, Space, Structure, 2016-05-09 The essays in this volume explore the nature of time our God given medium of ascent known as Augustine puts it through the ordered study of the liberal disciplines that carry the mind to the divine disciplinae liberales intellectum efferunt ad divina grammar and dialectic for example to promote thinking geometry and astronomy to grasp the dimensions of our reality music an invisible substance like time itself as an exemplary bridge to the unseen substance of thoughts ideas and the nature of God theology This ascending course of study rests on procedure progress and attainment on before following and afterwards whose goal is an ascending erudition that lets us finally contemplate as Augustine says in De ordine our invisible medium time within time itself time is immaterial but experienced as substantial The essays here look at projects that chronicle time from the beginning that clarify ideas of creation in time and simultaneous times and the interrelationships between measured time and eternity including no time Essays also examine time as revealed in social and political contexts as told by clocks as notated in music and embodied in memorializing stone In the final essays of this volume time is understood as the subject and medium of consciousness As Adrian Bardon says time is not so much a what as a how a solution to organizing experience and modeling events Contributors are in order within the volume Jesse W Torgerson Ken A Grant Danielle B Joyner Nancy van Deusen Peter Casarella Aaron Canty Jordan Kirk Vera von der Osten Sacken Gerhard Jaritz Jason Aleksander Sara E Melzer Mark Howard Andrew Eschelbacher Hans J Rindisbacher James F Knapp Peggy A Knapp Raymond Knapp Michael Cole Ike Kamphof and Leonard Michael Koff

Oxford Studies in Ancient Philosophy David Sedley, 2001-11 Oxford Studies in Ancient Philosophy is a volume of original articles on all aspects of ancient philosophy The articles may be of substantial length and include critical notices of major books Contributions in this volume range from Sarah Broadie on Plato's Timaeus to Voula Tsouna on Philodemus Editor David Sedley Laurence Professor of Ancient Philosophy University of Cambridge standard reading among specialists in ancient philosophy Brad Inwood Bryn Mawr Classical Review

Time, Space, and Metaphysics Bede Rundle, 2009-09-24 Bede Rundle presents a philosophical investigation of the nature and reality of time and space by means of analysis of the concepts involved He discusses anti realism time travel temporal parts geometry convention and infinity and more general issues concerning identity objectivity causation facts and verifiability

Handbook of Medieval Studies Albrecht Classen, 2010-11-29 This interdisciplinary handbook provides extensive information about research in medieval studies and its most important results over the last decades The handbook is a reference work which enables the readers to quickly and purposely gain insight into the important research discussions and to inform themselves about the current status of research in the field The handbook consists of four parts The first large section offers articles on all of the main disciplines and discussions of the field The second section presents articles on the key concepts of modern medieval studies and the debates therein The third section is a lexicon of the most important text genres of the Middle Ages The fourth section provides an international bio bibliographical lexicon of the most prominent medievalists in all disciplines A comprehensive bibliography rounds off the compendium The result is a reference work which exhaustively documents the current status of research in medieval studies and brings the disciplines and experts of the field together

The Primacy of Method in Historical Research Jonas Ahlskog, 2020-12-29 How does history relate to the past According to leading historical theorists the relation to the past in history is reducible to evidential psychological practical and retrospective concerns In contrast this volume claims that historical relations to the past are irreducible products of the logical commitments of history as method Ahlskog argues that the method of history shapes and enables relations to the past in historical research by invoking past perspectives of meaning for rendering reality intelligible The book provides a much needed philosophical clarification of key concepts in one of the most fundamental debates within the humanities today      Philosophy and Memory Traces John Sutton, 1998-03-05 Philosophy and Memory Traces defends two theories of autobiographical memory One is a bewildering historical view of memories as dynamic patterns in fleeting animal spirits nervous fluids which rummaged through the pores of brain and body The other is new connectionism in which memories are stored only superpositionally and reconstructed rather than reproduced Both models argues John Sutton depart from static archival metaphors by employing distributed representation which brings interference and confusion between memory traces Both raise urgent issues about control of the personal past and about relations between self and body Sutton demonstrates the role of bizarre body fluids in moral physiology as philosophers from Descartes and Locke to Coleridge struggled to control their own innards and impose cognitive discipline on the phantasmal chaos of association Going on to defend connectionism against Fodor and critics of passive mental representations he shows how problems of the self are implicated in cognitive science      A Companion to the Philosophy of Time Adrian Bardon, Heather Dyke, 2015-11-02 A Companion to the Philosophy of Time presents the broadest treatment of this subject yet 32 specially commissioned articles written by an international line up of experts provide an unparalleled reference work for students and specialists alike in this exciting field The most comprehensive reference work on the philosophy of time currently available The first collection to tackle the historical development of the philosophy of time in addition to covering contemporary work Provides a tripartite approach in its organization covering history of the philosophy of time time as a feature of the physical world and time as a feature of experience Includes contributions from both distinguished well established scholars and rising stars in the field      Futures for the Past Kalle Pihlainen, 2018-10-19 Faced with the challenge of new ideological emphases and subjects of study academic history has undergone significant changes in its contents in the past half century Simultaneously pressures to change have been directed at its form particularly in the shape of calls for more socially engaged and up to date modes of presentation The demand for history in this more existential sense is equally evidenced by the rise of practical and popular uses of the past outside academic history writing Reflecting on these shifts in the broader history culture this collection explores the entanglements and opportunities of history and historians today moving between questions of social and institutional self justification desires relating to identity and self understanding as well as the consumption and entertainment needs of audiences The authors find inspiration in varied traditions and media ranging from ancient philosophy and classic history writing to reality TV and Twitter In doing so they also present exciting futures for where history may yet go This book was originally published as a special issue of Rethinking History
